Field Leaders May Ask More Cleanup Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today "several thousand" U.S. troops have already been withdrawn from Cambodia, more would come out by the end of the week and major operations against Communist sanctuaries would be completed by June 15.

The secretary told the Senate Armed Sevices Committee that while the operations "have exceeded our expectations" and all U.S. forces will be out of Cambodia by June 30, the Nixon administraion remains opposed to a proposed limit on U.S. forces in Cambodia approved Monday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Interference Seen

Such a limit, Laird said, might interfere with President Nixon's ability to protect American troops.

The secretary also held out the possibility that future drives will be needed into Cambodia but said that the South Vietnamese would be able to handle these.

"The South Vietnamese will be in a position by the time the rain season ends to handle any such operations should they be necessary in the future, Laird said, adding that such renewed efforts would likely not be needed until next November at the earliest.

Praises South Vietnamese

He said that "The South Vietnamese have performed very well in this entire operation."

Laird said the Nixon administration has "lived up to the limits of Congress" which barred U.S. combat ground forces in Laos and Thailand. But he noted that the proposed restrictions for Cambodia would go beyond those.

President Nixon is now so firmly committed to a June 30 deadline for withdrawal of American forces from Cambodia officials doubt he could prolong the operation even if he found it militarily advisable to do so.

Despite this commitment, Nixon may yet be faced with pressure from field commanders for more time to complete the destruction of North Vietnam's Cambodian bases.

More Time Needed?

Some already are reported to believe they cannot do the whole job within the two months Nixon has specified.

The June 30 deadline applies to all support units and advisers attached to the South Vietnamese as well as to strictly American outfits engaged in the Cambodian operation, Nixon said at his news conference.

He stated the deadline without qualification as to any unforeseen development, officials say, because he wanted to stress that

Israeli Tanks Enter Lebanon

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli tanks supported by war planes swept into southeast Lebanon and attacked Arab guerrilla positions today, the military command in Tel Aviv reported. A spokesman said it was the biggest Israeli attack ever on Lebanon.

A military communique in Beirut said the Lebanese army was fighting the Israelis.

An Israeli spokesman gave the location of the battle only as east of the Hasbani River on the southwestern slopes of Mt. Hermon. But Lebanese military reports indicated the Israelis crossed the border from the occupied Golan Heights of Syria and drove through rugged mountain terrain in an attack on the Arkoub region.

A military spokesman said the raid was the deepest penetration so far into Lebanon.

The Lebanese army reported its positions throughout the region were being pounded by heavy artillery and Israeli jets.

Romney Asking Overall Support

NEW YORK (AP) —George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, has urged Americans to support President Nixon's Cambodia policy.

Speaking to a luncheon meeting of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks Monday, Romney called the introduction of troops into Cambodia "simply a tactical aspect of Vietnamizing the conflict to provide for the eventual withdrawal of American troops."

He added, "It would be the worst mistake, in terms of national conscience, just to pull out without preparing them (the South Vietnamese) to take over."

Milliken Proclaims Walter Ruether Day

By The Associated Press

Expressions of regret in the death of Walter P. Reuther and praise of his accomplishments as president of the United Auto Workers Union continued to pour in during this week of mourning proclaimed by the UAW leadership.

In addition, Gov. William Milliken proclaimed Friday as Walter P. Reuther Day. Funeral services for Reuther and his wife, May, will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at Ford Auditorium in downtown Detroit.

Reuther and his wife were among six persons killed in a plane crash Saturday.

The auto companies will shut down their operations for three minutes at that hour as the auto workers observe a period of silence.

The Michigan House voted to fly its flag at half-staff until midnight Friday.

"Few men in this country have left such a legacy of accomplishment and service," Milliken said.

"Walter P. Reuther, a man whose death Michigan now mourns, was a man of awareness, concern and movement," the governor said in a proclamation. "His life and the way he lived it affected for better the lives of countless thousands."

Joseph A. Bierne, president of the Communications Workers of America, said "At various times we had disagreements with Walter Reuther on specific issues.

"But on the great objectives which he articulated so well and acted upon so brilliantly, We in CWA have only admiration, and a continuing sense of loss at his death.

"American democracy can well be proud that in the years of crisis, it produced a great spokesman and a man of action and idealism for the workers of our nation," he said.

The Rev. Malcolm Carron, president of the University of Detroit, sent a telegram to the Reuther's daughters, Linda and Lisa, saying "your father's life gave clear example to all young men and women that dramatic improvement of institutions and social conditions is possible in our society if men of integrity and vision are willing to dedicate their lives to those ends."

The Catholic Bishops of Michigan said in a joint statement that Reuther "set an example of dedication to a moral cause, social justice, that would be rare in any period of history."

Expressions of sorrow at Reuther's death were not limited to the United States or even the West.

The Central Council of Soviet Trade Unions issued a statement Monday extending "deep condolences" to the Reuther family, friends and the UAW.

Soviet radio and television broadcasts announced the death to the Soviet people, calling it "a great loss to the U.S. labor movement."

Colleges Open But Very Few In Classrooms

By The Associated Press

A student strike against the Indochina war continues to have widespread impact despite the official reopening of many colleges. However, student efforts to build a general workers strike have had little effect.

A survey showed 129 colleges and universities in 43 states and the District of Columbia officially reopened Monday, some with classes virtually empty due to continuing boycotts.

Meanwhile, strikes of indefinite duration were still in effect at 192 educational institutions, according to a partially complete survey by the student strike information center at Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass.

Although most of the nation's 1,500 campuses were calm, Gov. Robert McNair declared a state of emergency at the University of South Carolina in Columbia after rampaging students ransacked the first floor of the administration building and clashed with state troopers and National Guardsmen.

The troopers and guardsmen used nightsticks and tear gas to clear the campus of a rock-throwing crowd of 1,000 to 3,000 students who were protesting the arrest off 41 persons last Thursday during a campus demonstration against the war.

In Denver, about 1,000 National Guardsmen were placed on alert as authorities prepared a second attempt to dismantle "Woodstock Nation," a commune on the University of Denver campus which the university chancellor, Maurice Mitchell, described as a "doggy bag, didy-wash, squatters' camp."

Police battled some 1,000 young people and arrested 30 Monday when they moved in to dismantle the commune. However, the shantytown of tents and shacks was rebuilt larger than before after police withdrew.

The response to student calls for a general workers strike has been small and scattered.

DETROIT (AP) — "That tells quite a story," says Emil Mazey, pointing to a picture of a turtle on his office wall. "The point is, you never make any progress unless, like a turtle, you're willing to stick your neck out."

Mazey has made a career of sticking his neck out and it has led him at 57 to temporary leadership of 1.6 million United Auto Workers.

Walter P. Reuther, his wife and four others died Saturday night in a plane crash near Pellston, Mich. As UAW secretary-treasurer, Mazey temporarily succeeded him.

The union's constitution provides that 26-member international executive board eventually shall select a president to serve until the next union convention, which will be 1972.

Mazey may bid for the job when he and the other executive board members gather to name the new president, but most speculation now centers on selection of one of the seven vice presidents, with Douglas Frazer, 54, the favorite.

DETROIT (AP) — Federal investigators planned tests today to find out if the two engines were running before a private jet plane crashed in northern Lower Michigan, killing United Auto Workers Union President Walter P. Reuther, his wife and four other persons.

The 300-lb engines were taken Monday from the crash site 1½ miles southwest of the airport at Pellston, Mich., to an airport building, reported Russell J. Abbott, air safety investigator with the National Transportation Safety Board.

Cause Unknown

No cause for the crash has has been found.

Abbott said evidence indicated the plane first brushed tall trees three-fourths of a mile west of where it crashed and exploded Saturday night.

Funeral services have been scheduled for Reuther, 62; his wife, May, 59, at 10 a.m. Friday at Ford Auditorium in downtown Detroit. Invitations were being sent out for the funeral.

The Reuthers' bodies will lie in state at the Veterans Memorial Building in Detroit from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. on both Wednesday and Thursday. After the services, the bodies will be cremated.

Production Halted

The auto, agricultural implements and aerospace plants throughout the United States and Canada will halt production for three minutes of silence Friday morning in honor of Reuther.

Gov. William Milliken proclaimed Friday "Walter Reuther Day" in Michigan in honor of the leader of the 1.6 million-member union. Flags flew at half-mast at Detroit and at auto plants.

Senate Group Approves War Fund Cutoff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, reacting swiftly to last week's widespread antiwar sentiment, has approved legislation to cut off funds for all American action in Cambodia.

The bill also would prohibit the Pentagon from authorizing military construction for Cambodia or conducting any air combat activity in support of Cambodian ground troops.

"The way out of Vietnam does not lead through Cambodia," said Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine. "The time has come to substitute new policies for old policies in Southeast Asia."

The amendment, sponsored by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., also bars the use in Cambodia of South Vietnamese troops that are supported by U.S. funds.

The committee approved the measure 9 to 4 Monday as Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., said he had received pledges of support from 31 senators for an amendment to cut off all funds for U.S. operations in Southeast Asia except for what is needed to bring home the troops.

And President Nixon repeated his pledge to 43 of the nation's governors that U.S. troops would be withdrawn from Cambodia by June 30.

The Foreign Relations Committee also approved an amendment to repeal the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution used by former President Lyndon B. Johnson as the legal basis for sending a massive troop increase to Vietnam.

Chairman William J. Fulbright, D-Ark., said the vote on the latter was unanimous.

Racial Violence Leaves Five Dead

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — An outbreak of racial violence triggered by the beating to death of a teen-age Negro jail inmate has left five persons dead, more than 60 injured and widespread property damage in this east Georgia city.

Firemen, escorted by National Guardsmen and state troopers ordered into the city by Gov. Lester Maddox, gradually brought under control more than 50 fires set Monday night by roving bands of Negroes.

Authorities said the situation was calming early today and that sporadic sniper fire was dying out.

Maddox, at the request of Mayor Millard Beckum, ordered more than 200 guardsmen and 40 state troopers into the city after the violence broke out Monday afternoon. Beckum also ordered a citywide curfew into effect from midnight until 8 a.m.

The troopers and guardsmen sealed off a mainly Negro area covering about 130 square blocks on the fringe of the downtown business section. They set up barricades on major thoroughfares into the area and stopped autos to search for firearms, arresting anyone who possessed a weapon.

Authorities declined to speculate on whether the five persons killed, all Negro males, were hit by police or sniper fire.

The two hospitals in the city, Talmadge Memorial and University, said they had treated more than 63 persons for various wounds, including gunshots, cuts and bruises.

Officers said the number of arrests could easily go into the hundreds. "We've got 'em stacked up all over the place," a jailer said.

Blame Lieutenant In Kent U. Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the wave of an arm, an Ohio National Guard lieutenant gave the order to fire that resulted in the deaths of four Kent State University students last week, Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, said Monday.

Young declined to identify the lieutenant, but said he should be charged with second degree murder.

"The lieutenant in charge of that platoon held his arm aloft and pulled it down and immediately a volley was fired from the guardsmen," Young told the Senate.

"The officer who ordered the guardsmen to fire point blank into the students was guilty of murder in the second degree," he added.

Young said he received his information during interviews with Kent State students. He added that he was sending an affidavit from one witness to the U.S. attorney.

Young made his statement as Life magazine published a copyrighted photograph showing one guardsman, apparently an officer, aiming a pistol toward a group of students.

An Ohio National Guard official in Columbus said there was no indication that any .45 caliber pistols were fired during the incident. The spokesman added that only officers carried .45 caliber pistols at Kent State.

Two Associated Press reporters examining the scene of the shooting shortly after the incident reported finding a spent bullet that appeared to be larger than the .30 caliber slugs fired from M1 rifles.

Its exact diameter could not immediately be determined, partly because the bullet had mushroomed on impact. The slug was turned over to a guard officer who pocketed it without comment.

Meanwhile, Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard, the government's chief civil rights enforcer, assumed command of an expanded investigation into the fatal shootings.

Leonard sent two civil rights division lawyers to Ohio to talk with FBI agents and U.S. Atty. Robert B. Krupansky of Cleveland.

Leonard added that no decision had yet been made on whether to convene a federal grand jury to seek indictments in connection with the incident.

Rock-Throwing Disorder Noted

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Scattered incidents of rock throwing have occurred for the third consecutive night in a predominantly Negro section of Grand Rapids.

Police arrested three persons Monday night after about six scattered incidents of rock throwing. No injuries were reported.

Firemen said three fires in the same general area were caused by arson. The blazes in a garage, a vacant house, and a vacnt building did a total of $14,000 damage, firemen reported.

200 Attend Rites For Tennis Coach

TROY, Mich. (AP) — Some two hundred mourners, representing the business elite, tennis champions and young tennis students, turned out Monday to pay last respects to internationally known tennis coach Jean Hoxie.

The six members of her Northwood Institute tennis team served as pallbearers at the services at White Chapel Cemetery in the Detroit suburb of Troy.

Mrs. Hoxie died last Wednesday in a freak accident. Doctors said she suffered a circulatory spell, fell from her car and was run over. Mrs. Hoxie was 71.

Born in Gladwin, Mrs. Hoxie was the surviving member of the famed tennis teaching team of Jean and Gerry Hoxie. Her husband, a former amateur champion, died in 1967.

Young said he received his information during interviews with Kent State students. He added that he was sending an affidavit from one witness to the U.S. attorney.

Young made his statement as Life magazine published a copyrighted photograph showing one guardsman, apparently an officer, aiming a pistol toward a group of students.

An Ohio National Guard official in Columbus said there was no indication that any .45 caliber pistols were fired during the incident. The spokesman added that only officers carried .45 caliber pistols at Kent State.

Two Associated Press reporters examining the scene of the shooting shortly after the incident reported finding a spent bullet that appeared to be larger than the .30 caliber slugs fired from M1 rifles.

Its exact diameter could not immediately be determined, partly because the bullet had mushroomed on impact. The slug was turned over to a guard officer who pocketed it without comment.

Meanwhile, Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard, the government's chief civil rights enforcer, assumed command of an expanded investigation into the fatal shootings.

Leonard sent two civil rights division lawyers to Ohio to talk with FBI agents and U.S. Atty. Robert B. Krupansky of Cleveland.

Leonard added that no decision had yet been made on whether to convene a federal grand jury to seek indictments in connection with the incident.

Rock-Throwing Disorder Noted

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Scattered incidents of rock throwing have occurred for the third consecutive night in a predominantly Negro section of Grand Rapids.

Police arrested three persons Monday night after about six scattered incidents of rock throwing. No injuries were reported.

Firemen said three fires in the same general area were caused by arson. The blazes in a garage, a vacant house, and a vacnt building did a total of $14,000 damage, firemen reported.

200 Attend Rites For Tennis Coach

TROY, Mich. (AP) — Some two hundred mourners, representing the business elite, tennis champions and young tennis students, turned out Monday to pay last respects to internationally known tennis coach Jean Hoxie.

The six members of her Northwood Institute tennis team served as pallbearers at the services at White Chapel Cemetery in the Detroit suburb of Troy.

Mrs. Hoxie died last Wednesday in a freak accident. Doctors said she suffered a circulatory spell, fell from her car and was run over. Mrs. Hoxie was 71.

Born in Gladwin, Mrs. Hoxie was the surviving member of the famed tennis teaching team of Jean and Gerry Hoxie. Her husband, a former amateur champion, died in 1967.

Six Seek Two Seats On Holy Name Board

Two seats on the Holy Name High School Board of Education are to be filled by elections which will be held May 16-17.

One of the vacancies must be filled by a member from one of the four Escanaba Catholic parishes; the other must be filled by a member from one of the six Catholic parishes outside the city. The ballots will be mailed to eligible registered parishioners, or made available to them in their churches next weekend. All ballots must be returned to the Office of the Superintendent, Holy Name High School, by 4 p.m. Monday, May 18.

Candidates for the three-year term from the Escanaba parishes are: Incumbent President Earl G. Delforge, Fred Juetten, and Mrs. Stanley (Elaine) Peterson. The candidates for the three-year term from the parishes outside the city are: Incumbent Secretary Kenneth Gartland, of Rte. 1, Gladstone, Henry C. Hughes of Flatrock, and Mrs. Phillip (Delores) Viau of Schaffer.

Earl G. Delforge, 1714 Grand Ave., Escanaba, a native of Green Bay, graduated from St. Francis Xavier elementary school and attended Catholic high school for two years. He graduated from Green Bay East High School.

He is a plumber, completed apprenticeship courses at the Wisconsin Industrial Commission and Vocational School at Green Bay, has been employed the last 23 years by Morley-Murphy, and is presently manager of the Plumbing and Heating Department in Escanaba.

Delforge and his wife, Florence, have six children. Richard and David are graduates of Holy Name and Nancy will graduate this year, and Gus is a sophomore.

Delforge is a member of the Kiwanis Club, the United Commercial Travelers, the Knights of Columbus, the St. Anne Parish Choir and is president of the Holy Name Society at St. Anne Parish. He has served three years on the Holy Name High School Board of Education, and is presently its president.

Fred Juetten, 2108 S. 21st St., Escanaba, is a salesman for the Universal Paper Co., Appleton. He received a diploma from the Escanaba Senior High School, and studied law through LaSalle. He has been manager of the National Tea Stores in DePere and Rhinelander, Wis., and was a salesman for General Foods before taking his present position.

Juetten is a member of St. Joseph Parish, the Holy Name Booster Club and Parents Club and is a member of and has held office in the Escanaba Elk's Club.

He is married and has five children, Joseph, Mary Jean, Susan, James and Stephen. Three are graduates of Holy Name. Jim will graduate this year, and Stephen is presently a junior.

Mrs. Stanley (Elaine) Peterson, 331 N. 16th St., Escanaba, is a member of St. Patrick Parish, who has had a long acquaintance with Holy Name. Three of her children are graduates, and she has a son as a freshman now. Mrs. Peterson has had a child as a student at Holy Name its first 10 years of existence.

She has graduated from high school herself, and has had courses in religious education, aimed at teaching high school religion. She is a member of the Holy Name Booster Club, the Parents Club, the Better Speech and Hearing Society, the Recreational Association for Handicapped Children, and the St. Patrick Parish Guild.

Her husband, Stanley, works at Eaton, Yale and Towne in Gladstone. They have five children, four of whom are married, and nine grandchildren.

Candidates from outside the city of Escanaba are:

Kenneth Gartland, Rte. 1, Gladstone, is a partner in Delta Home Improvement Lumber Co. He is an adviser for Junior Achievement of Escanaba and a member of the Elks. He is a member of St. Anthony Parish, Wells, and is finishing his first term as a member of the Holy Name Board of Education of which he is at present also secretary.

Gartland graduated from Holy Name High School in 1959. He is married to the former Patricia Grenier, and they have five sons. He is a life-long resident of the Escanaba area.

Henry C. Hughes, Rte. 1, Gladstone, is a member of Holy Family Parish, Flat Rock. He graduated from St. Joseph High School of Escanaba in 1941. He has been associated with and dealer for the Surge Dairy Equipment and Water Conditioners Co. for 19 years, and is employed by the Flat Rock Public Schols as transportation supervisor and garage mechanic.

Hughes was supervisor for Escanaba Township for six years, president of the Delta County Farm Bureau for two terms, and president of the Holy Family Parish Holy, Name Society.

He is married to the former Ileen Neuens, and they have 10 children, three of which are attending college after graduating from Holy Name, and two attending Holy Name at the present.

Mrs. Phillip (Dolores) Viau lives in Schaffer. She graduated from Niagara, Wis., High School in 1949 after having spent most of her early life in Schaffer.

Her husband, Phillip, in his work as construction superintendent, travelled with the family throughout many states. They have lived in Schaffer the past five years and because the oldest three of their seven childrn are in Holy Name, her interest in the school has caused her to seek a seat on the Board of Education.

Mrs. Viau is an active member of Sacred Heart Parish, Schaffer, in the Sacred Heart Altar Society, and was Treasurer of the St. Anne Society for three years. She has been active in the Bark River Parents-Teachers Association as her other four children attend the Bark River-Harris Elementary School, and she has worked as a 4-H leader for two years.

All registered members of the ten parishes which participate in Holy Name High School over 18 years of age are eligible to vote in the election. All may vote for one candidate from the Escanaba parishes and one candidate from the parishes outside the city.

Show Closes

NEW YORK (AP) — The John Fernald Company's production of "The Cherry Orchard," weak at the box office after generally adverse reviews, closed over the weekend at New York's ANTA Theater after five performances.

The company, based at Oakland University in Rochester, Mich., had trouble from the outset. It was forced to open last Wednesday without scenery, shelved after two craft unions complained that the sets were not union made and thus violated industry regulations.

Highway Program:

Ruppe Questions Interstate Plan

Northern Michigan citizens may have to decide if improvement of existing roads and highways should have priority over recommended interstate highways through the Upper Peninsula.

In a letter to Upper Peninsula State legislators, Congressman Philip E. Ruppe expressed deep concern over a provision in the Michigan Public Acts which expresses the intent of the legislature to match federal funds for an interstate through the Upper Peninsula.

Ruppe sounded his warning after receiving a recent letter from State Senator Joseph Mack and several State Representatives which said in part, "It is the intent of the Michigan Legislature to act upon this project as soon as it is approved by the Federal Bureau of Roads."

"In the first place," Ruppe responded, "the Federal Government does not dictate specific interstate expansions. Rather, the State Government makes a formal request to the Federal Highway Administration for a specific extension of the interstate system. I am not aware of a specific route request from the Michigan Department of State Highways. Ruppe pointed out that an interstate highway weuld cost a minimum of $350 million and could not be completed before 1985.

"The alternative to an interstate highway," Ruppe continued, "is improvement of our present road system and converting such highways as U.S. 2, M-28, and U.S. 41 into major truck lines.

"In these times of tight budgeting, there is not sufficient money at either the state or federal level to build a high-speed limited-access interstate highway and simultaneously upgrade our existing network of roads and highways. Thus we have a clear choice of whether we wish to put 'our eggs in the interstate basket' or whether we wish to use all available resources to improve present roads and develop existing highways into non-interstate multi-lane highways that run through the population centers of the Upper Peninsula."

"I hope," Ruppe concluded his letter, "that the action of the state legislature expressing intent to extend funds for an east-west interstate highway does not commit the State of Michigan to a position that in the long run may not be in the best interests of the Upper Peninsula."

Death Claims J. Landwehr

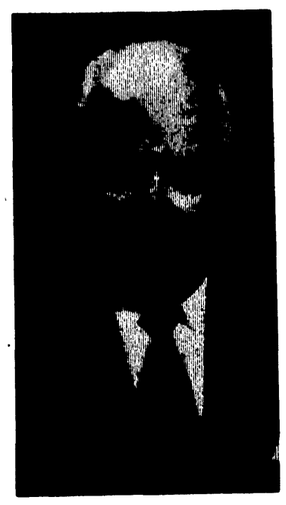
MANISTIQUE — Joseph Landwehr, 75, of Rte. 1, Manistique, died at 4:15 a. m., at Leila Hospital in Battle Creek.

He was born June 4, 1885 in Manistique and had spent most of his life there. Mr. Landwehr was a member of St. Francis de Sales Church.

He is survived by one brother, Louis of Manistique; one sister, Mrs. Nick (Anna) Robinich of Manitowoc, Wis., and several nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the Messier-Broullire Funeral Home after 4 p. m., Thursday and liturgical prayers will be recited at 8 p. m., Thursday. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m., Friday at St. Francis de Sales Church with burial in Fairview Cemetery.

U-M Extension Asst. Director Follo To Retire



Charles Follo

Charles Follo, assistant director of the U-M Extension Service for the Upper Peninsula will begin retirement furlough as of July 1.

His eligibility for retirement at age 65 coincides with the phasing out of the U-M's office in Escanaba. He will have completed 23 years of service as the representative of The University of Michigan in the Upper Peninsula.

As an extension supervisor, Follo opened the office in Escanaba in 1947, its purpose being to serve as a center for University programs and services for the entire Peninsula.

In pursuing his duties, he annually drove thousands of miles, covering the educational needs of the area and to devise ways in which the U-M could help in meeting them.

Non-credit courses and lecture series were developed in such varied fields as creative writing, world affairs, real estate, parent education, nature study, and music appreciation. Concert series were presented by members of the School of Music faculty.

Follo, who was appointed assistant director of the Extension Service for the Upper Peninsula in 1957, has been active in so many educational, cultural, and civic organizations at the local, state, and national level that it would be impossible to name them all.

He served on the Escanaba Library Board of Trustees (president in 1952-53), the Civil Service Commission of Escanaba, the Escanaba Board of Education, and the Bay De Noc Community College Board of Trustees, being elected president of that board in 1969.

He helped organize the Upper Peninsula Crafts Council and has served as its chairman, vice-president, and president. He has been an active member of the Upper Peninsula Educational Planning Council, the U. P. Child Guidance Center Committee, and more recently, has served as chairman of the Human Resources Committee of the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress (UPCAP).

Follo has long been a leader in the development of plans for institutional collaboration among the colleges and universities of the Upper Peninsula.

Always interested in Michigan history, Follo has been a member of the Delta County Historical Society, serving as its president for two terms; of the Historical Society of Michigan, serving on its Board of Trustees and as its president; and of the American Association for State and National History, from which he received a citation in 1962 for unusual contributions to state and local history.

As the Delegate from Delta County, Follo served in the Michigan Constitutional Convention from October 3, 1961, to May 22, 1962.

He is a member of the Escanaba Rotary Club. As a member of St. Stephens Episcopal Church (Escanaba), he has served as a member of its vestry at various times, and in 1969 was elected to the Diocesan Council of the Upper Peninsula Diocese of the Episcopal Church.

A gradute of Western Michigan University, Follo also holds an M. A. degree from the University of Chicago, and is an honorary alumnus of The University of Michigan.

He is listed in Who's Who in the Midwest and in Who's Who in American Education.

Six Seek Two Seats On Holy Name Board

Two seats on the Holy Name High School Board of Education are to be filled by elections which will be held May 16-17.

One of the vacancies must be filled by a member from one of the four Escanaba Catholic parishes; the other must be filled by a member from one of the six Catholic parishes outside the city. The ballots will be mailed to eligible registered parishioners, or made available to them in their churches next weekend. All ballots must be returned to the Office of the Superintendent, Holy Name High School, by 4 p.m. Monday, May 18.

Candidates for the three-year term from the Escanaba parishes are: Incumbent President Earl G. Delforge, Fred Juetten, and Mrs. Stanley (Elaine) Peterson. The candidates for the three-year term from the parishes outside the city are: Incumbent Secretary Kenneth Gartland, of Rte. 1, Gladstone, Henry C. Hughes of Flatrock, and Mrs. Phillip (Delores) Viau of Schaffer.

Earl G. Delforge, 1714 Grand Ave., Escanaba, a native of Green Bay, graduated from St. Francis Xavier elementary school and attended Catholic high school for two years. He graduated from Green Bay East High School.

He is a plumber, completed apprenticeship courses at the Wisconsin Industrial Commission and Vocational School at Green Bay, has been employed the last 23 years by Morley-Murphy, and is presently manager of the Plumbing and Heating Department in Escanaba.

Delforge and his wife, Florence, have six children. Richard and David are graduates of Holy Name and Nancy will graduate this year, and Gus is a sophomore.

Delforge is a member of the Kiwanis Club, the United Commercial Travelers, the Knights of Columbus, the St. Anne Parish Choir and is president of the Holy Name Society at St. Anne Parish. He has served three years on the Holy Name High School Board of Education, and is presently its president.

Fred Juetten, 2108 S. 21st St., Escanaba, is a salesman for the Universal Paper Co., Appleton. He received a diploma from the Escanaba Senior High School, and studied law through LaSalle. He has been manager of the National Tea Stores in DePere and Rhinelander, Wis., and was a salesman for General Foods before taking his present position.

Juetten is a member of St. Joseph Parish, the Holy Name Booster Club and Parents Club and is a member of and has held office in the Escanaba Elk's Club.

He is married and has five children, Joseph, Mary Jean, Susan, James and Stephen. Three are graduates of Holy Name, Jim will graduate this year, and Stephen is presently a junior.

Mrs. Stanley (Elaine) Peterson, 331 N. 16th St., Escanaba, is a member of St. Patrick Parish, who has had a long acquaintance with Holy Name. Three of her children are graduates, and she has a son as a freshman now. Mrs. Peterson has had a child as a student at Holy Name its first 10 years of existence.

She has graduated from high school herself, and has had courses in religious education, aimed at teaching high school religion. She is a member of the Holy Name Booster Club, the Parents Club, the Better Speech and Hearing Society, the Recreational Association for Handicapped Children, and the St. Patrick Parish Guild.

Her husband, Stanley, works at Eaton, Yale and Towne in Gladstone. They have five children, four of whom are married, and nine grandchildren.

Candidates from outside the city of Escanaba are:

Kenneth Gartland, Rte. 1, Gladstone, is a partner in Delta Home Improvement Lumber Co. He is an adviser for Junior Achievement of Escanaba and a member of the Elks. He is a member of St. Anthony Parish, Wells, and is finishing his first term as a member of the Holy Name Board of Education of which he is at present also secretary.

U-M Extension Asst. Director Follo To Retire

Charles Follo

Charles Follo, assistant director of the U-M Extension Service for the Upper Peninsula will begin retirement furlough as of July 1.

His eligibility for retirement at age 65 coincides with the phasing out of the U-M's office in Escanaba. He will have completed 23 years of service as the representative of The University of Michigan in the Upper Peninsula.

As an extension supervisor, Follo opened the office in Escanaba in 1947, its purpose being to serve as a center for University programs and services for the entire Peninsula.

He has been an active member of the Upper Peninsula Educational Planning Council, the U. P. Child Guidance Center Committee, and more recently, has served as chairman of the Human Resources Committee of the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress (UPCAP).

Follo has long been a leader in the development of plans for institutional collaboration among the colleges and universities of the Upper Peninsula.

Always interested in Michigan history, Follo has been a member of the Delta County Historical Society, serving as its president for two terms; of the Historical Society of Michigan, serving on its Board of Trustees and as its president; and of the American Association for State and National History, from which he received a citation in 1962 for unusual contributions to state and local history.

As the Delegate from Delta County, Follo served in the Michigan Constitutional Convention from October 3, 1961, to May 22, 1962.

He is a member of the Escanaba Rotary Club. As a member of St. Stephens Episcopal Church (Escanaba), he has served as a member of its vestry at various times, and in 1969 was elected to the Diocesan Council of the Upper Peninsula Diocese of the Episcopal Church.

A gradute of Western Michigan University, Follo also holds an M. A. degree from the University of Chicago, and is an honorary alumnus of The University of Michigan.

He is listed in Who's Who in the Midwest and in Who's Who in American Education.

2 From Michigan Killed In Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Michigan men were among the latest 76 American servicemen killed in action at the war in Southeast Asia, the Defense Department reported.

They were Army S. Sgt. Everett L. Brocks, husband of Mrs. Barbara J. Brocks of Detroit, and Army Sgt. Charles R. West, husband of Mrs. Linda L. West of Detroit.

April Wholesale Prices Hold Firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices did not decline in April as indicated in a preliminary report, but the final figures issued today nevertheless cheered the administration: they failed to rise for the first time in 18 months.

Only farm and food prices declined in the wholesale index, however.

Industrial raw materials rose three-tenths of one per cent, but this too was a hopeful indicator, because it represented a 3.6 per cent annual rise instead of the 4 per cent rate of increase at the start of the year.

The index stood at 116.6 per cent of the 1957-59 average in April. That compared with 111.9 per cent a year earlier.

This meant that it cost $116.60 in March and April, on the average, to buy the same assortment of wholesale goods which would have cost $100 in 1957-59.

For all commodities represented in the index, the price average was 4.2 per cent above a year ago, down from a 4.8 per cent rate of annual rise in January.

An even better showing had been hoped for when the tentative index figures were released on April 29. They showed a decline of one-tenth of one per cent in the wholesale index, the first drop in 20 months.

However, the final figures showed that farm products, despite a 2.4 per cent dip in the month, did not decline quite as far as had been estimated in the earlier report.

The farm and food sector of the wholesale index is less valuable than the industrial commodities sector because it is more susceptible to wide fluctuations owing to market conditions and weather.

The increase in industrial raw materials was broad: there were increases for almost all the commodities except rubber and plastic products, textiles and apparel, and transportation equipment.

Milliken Says Sensible Units Greatest Hope

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken says a "militarily optimistic" President Nixon told the nation's governor's repeatedly Monday that he expected U. S. troops would be out of Cambodia by the end of June.

An aide said Milliken reported also that the President "sought no support" for the Cambodian action at the session with governors in Washington. "This was an informational meeting," the aide said, and the President apparently "didn't want to put anyone in a position where he would be compelled to make a comment one way or another."

Milliken has said he holds "very deep reservations" about U.S. involvement in Cambodia.

The aide reported, however, that other governors' reports of campus violence had a "very sobering" effect on Milliken.

A number of governors reported that if campuses in some states had been untouched by violence, it may be because "organized groups just haven't gotten around to them," the president said.

Milliken, he added, "came back convinced more than ever that the greatest hope for peaceful dissent is the sensible majority, those who disavow violence."

Nixon called the session with governors to discuss the war and campus violence after the deaths last week of four Kent State University students in an antiwar demonstration.

Republican governors cancelled a planned weekend conference because of outbreaks of violence on campuses.

United Approach

State Rep. George F. Montgomery, a 36-year-old Detroiter who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, made a suggestion when in Escanaba the other day.

Montgomery proposed that the State of Michigan coordinate its environmental control efforts in a single agency — an Environmental Safety agency — to eliminate the present situation where seven or eight state organizations are involved in one way or another.

The Department of Natural Resources, which was reorganized on Jan. 1, 1966, and given its present name on Nov. 15, 1968, is charged with protecting and conserving the natural resources of the state. The Water Resources Commission, a part of the DNR, among its responsibilities is concerned with abatement and prevention of pollution of surface, underground and Great Lakes waters; establishing water quality standards for lakes and streams, and carrying on comprehensive water resource planning, including pollution control.

The Water Resources Commission also is working to control and prevent damage from floods and erosion, or natural resource conservation effort which overlaps the prevention of soil erosion responsibilities of the State Soil Conservation Committee under the Dept. of Agriculture. The Dept. of Agriculture also has responsibilities in areas of pesticides, which contribute to the pollution problem.

Then, there is the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission, another anti-pollution agency. The commission is part of the Michigan Department of Public Health, an agency which works in other areas of pollution control and abatement, like municipal wastewater systems and solid waste disposal.

Montgomery's idea is to combine all the environmental units in the state into a single, coordinated agency working under one of the major departments. It makes sense.

Take the recent application by Mead Corp. to the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission for a permit to build a $63.9 million kraft pulp mill at the Escanaba Paper Co., for example. The company had to go to the Water Resources Commission for approval of its program to abate water pollution from the expanded paper and pulp mill facilities. Then when it came to air pollution, the Air Pollution Control Commission took over.

Similarly, the City of Escanaba was cited by the Air Pollution Control Commission for its asphalt plant, yet is working with the State Health Dept. on improving wastewater treatment.

Protecting the environment involves more than just air pollution or water pollution or waste disposal or preservation of natural resources. There are suspicions that the world isn't aware of how complex the problem may be, despite all of the current emphasis.

Combining all of the individuals and agencies now working on the problems and dealing in the scientific minds at work at colleges and universities in the state, however, could give Michigan the resources to make the best possible effort at defining and solving the problems.

Peninsula Potpourri

Police work can often be fraught with frustrations, as Bessemer Police Chief Clayton Rund and Gogebic County Sheriff Chester Prebish found out. Investigating a report on what appeared to be a fresh grave in the Memory Lane Park north of U. S. 2 on Bessemer's east side. Rund found a neat mound of fresh dirt with a rock placed at one end uncomfortably resembling a headstone. The dirt mound was outlined by sticks. Rund rolled up his sleeves, spit on his hands and began the grisly task of uncovering the plot of ground. Prebish, noticing the squad car and stopping to see if his assistance was needed, was quickly drafted to help in the dirty work. Two hours later and four feet deeper, the law enforcement duo struck something solid and, digging further, found only a large rock which had been buried there by the park's caretaker last year. A thorough search of the pit revealed no trace of wrong-doing, so the chagrined officers reburied the rock and left the park. The identity of the perpetrator of the macabre joke is unknown, but police would prefer to drop the matter.

After 36 years and an estimated 75,000 miles of walking Russell (Rab) Robare hung up his bag and retired from his job as city mail carrier at the Munising Post Office.

Iron Mountain police, with the cooperation of alert sales clerks in a downtown store, have cracked a shoplifting ring. A 44-year-old woman, 19-year-old girl and 19-year-old boy from the Pembine, Wis., area were arrested and are to be arraigned before District Judge Russell Bradley. They also were questioned in connection with shoplifting offenses in the Wisconsin village of Niagara.

★ ★ ★

Herbert Corey was elected to his first official term as mayor of Stephenson and two incumbent councilmen, Kenneth Rickaby and Carmen Anderson, were reelected to their seats. Harold Phillippi also gained a position on the six-member city council.

Dognaping! Yes, the Iron Mountain police department is busy investigating a case of dognaping. Robert Bandt of 1236 Kimberly avenue informed police this morning that his three-year-old silver gray poodle was taken off its leash. Police Chief A. J. Schupp has called in "Canine Corps" specialists to aid in the hunt for the stolen dog.

★ ★ ★

Malicious destruction to the Al Quaal Recreation Area was reported by Ishpeming Police Chief Frank Sarvello. Sarvello said that a building overlooking the south slope and used to store benches was broken into sometime this week. Officers discovered the incident during a routine check. The vandals forced open a door, which was secured with a hasp and "U" bolt. Eight windows, covered on the outside with sheet metal, also were broken.

VERY TOUCHING

Letters To The Press

TAKING ISSUE

In times of increasing social turbulence such as ours, when reports of violent battles, riots and assassinations assault our ears with nerve-deadening regularity; in times when the frequency of man's brutality to man tends to condone its occurrence; in times when force becomes, even for a peace-loving people, the accepted panacea for most social ills: a cry of alarm against mounting hysteria — a call for rationality in the midst of a hurricane of ill will — strikes one as being, paradoxically, both redundant and irrelevant, inasmuch as the voice of the peacemaker (shouted, it seems, from every pulpit, campus center, and urban streetcorner) appears to be finding fewer listeners.

Yet we the undersigned, believing that silence connotes consent, feel impelled to take issue with the remarks of Mr. Richard Ketcik, which appeared in the "Letters to the Press" of Saturday, May 9, because we believe that his attitude is typical of the growing majority backlash that portends danger for the United States.

Mr. Ketcik's letter, written specifically to vindicate the National Guard in its responsibility for the deaths of four students during the recent disturbances at Kent State University, contained a number of fallacies indicative of the repressive attitudes which are daily growing more common among those who have lost touch with our youth, particularly our students.

First, he asserts that the Guard was justified in gunning down the students, notwithstanding the fact that the troops, who have never fired openly on an American crowd before, are specifically instructed not to aim to kill (Daily Press, May 5, page 1), and that the fatal shots appear, to witnesses, to have been deliberate and unprovoked (Daily Press, May 5, page 5). Even Vice President Agnew, certainly no bleeding-heart liberal, feels that the killing of the four students (characterized by their acquaintances as clean-cut, studious types) may constitute murder (Daily Press, May 8, page 1). In fact, no responsible authority is now condoning these senseless deaths.

Yet Mr. Ketcik justifies them by rationalizing that "the fact that the students were there (at the scene of the demonstration, presumably) shows they were in support of unlawful demonstrations and destruction which had been taking place, and wouldn't have been shot if they hadn't taken such action." This statement is false. Almost everyone from an urban area has witnessed demonstrations without becoming involved in them. To say that every hanger-on and gawker in the vicinity of a riot is, ipso facto, a rioter worthy to be shot, is tantamout to saying that everyone who follows a fire truck to a burning building is an arsonist.

Such a position, it is evident, is dangerous. We, as members of the faculty of Bay de Noc Community College (we are writing as individuals, not as college representatives), reject as abhorrent such indiscriminate military maneuvers on our campuses. The notion of an "open season" on college students is anathema to us.

Second, and even more indictative of backlash mentality, is Mr. Ketcik's assertion that student desecraters of the American flag ". . . most assuredly should be shot." This statement is not only inflammatory and irresponsible, but it betrays an appalling lack of knowledge concerning American justice. For those who would allow their patriotic zeal to bind their vision of legality, let us posit a gentle reminder that we are a government of laws, not of men; that flag burning, while insulting to most of us, is not a capital crime; and that the act of shooting these demonstrators would violate the letter and spirit of a quaint old American document, the Constitution, which guarantees to us (and even to student lawbreakers) the right of due process (Article VI) and the right of protection against "cruel and unusual punishments." (Article VIII). It seems strange that you, Mr. Ketcik, would villify students because they ". . . don't know how to behave as law-abiding citizens."

Last, Mr. Ketcik proceeds to point the finger of blame — at college presidents (who, we would imagine, should "get tough"), "students who think it is fun to destroy" (a majority, no doubt), and other violent persons. The purport of this mandate is clear — order, above all, must come first. If handled expediently, Mr. Ketcik's dreams of order could be easily realized. Hitler achieved order among his ranks. Russia recently re-established order in Czechoslovakia. Order is necessary, of course, but without justice it spells repression and despotism.

The way out of our national dilemma will not be easy, but it will certainly not be accomplished by taking potshots at rock - throwing demonstrators and other young people unfortunate enough to be on a college campus at the wrong moment. We will be more likely to find our solution through cooperation and understanding, as President Nixon stated in his Inaugural Address: "America has suffered from a rhetoric . . . that fans discontents into hatreds . . . We cannot learn from one another until we stop shouting at one another . . . For its part, government will listen." Such an idealistic request is not as elusive a dream as it sounds. Last weekend the President did listen to the students at the Lincoln Memorial, and they responded politely and nonviolently — simply because he listened.

Finally, regarding understanding, we must remember — if we ever knew — that students are unique individuals. When we put aside our stereotypes we realize that Latin's aren't always lovers, that the Irish aren't always policemen, that women aren't always fickle. Yet when our students (some of whom are violent, some of whom aren't) are shot at before they are talked to, when they are fired upon en masse — the guilty and innocent alike — the ultimate act of dehumanization has occurred.

To some this may mean little, but the implications are clear — we cannot destroy, or ignore, our student population and still expect America to survive. We have the power to shoot flagburners and rock throwers, but do we have the depth and maturity to ask them why they burn flags and throw rocks? Granted, it's easier to mouth slogans like "America: Love It or Leave It;" on the other hand, to expect adults to not only endure but to listen to the criticism of our young is to ask all that we have. But realistically we have no choice. It has been said that a nation that hates its youth has no future. The handwriting is on the wall, and our task is obvious — not to scribble the wall with insults, but to read, and read carefully.

RATIONAL PROCESSES

I regret that I did not follow my first impulse last Wednesday and commend you immediately for your editorial analysis of the death by shooting of the four Kent State students.

I was impressed by the evidence in that editorial of a rationality, sanity, tolerance and compassion that epitomizes the qualities in my country and my countrymen upon which are based my deep feelings of patriotism and love of my country, but which seem increasingly to be giving way to violent dissent on the one hand and hysterical over-reactions on the other.

Saturday's paper carried a letter condemning you for that editorial so I am writing belatedly to let you know that at least one person is grateful for your advocacy of an adherence to rational processes as a means of resolving the very grave problems that are dividing the people of our country today. Thank you and "may your tribe increase."

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
3 ♠	4 ♥	4 ♠	Dble

Opening lead—king of hearts.

The bidding will often tell declarer a great deal about the distribution of the unseen cards.

Here is a typical case where declarer gauged the situation perfectly and brought home a contract that would have failed had he taken a less perspicacious view of the matter at hand.

West led the king of hearts and South quickly realized that for East to have a sound double of four spades he practically had to have all four of the missing trumps.

To avoid a trump loser seemed next to impossible—since South could take only one finesse through East's queen — but he nevertheless found a way of bringing the hand to a happy conclusion.

He won the heart lead with the ace and promptly made the key play of ruffing a heart. He then finessed dummy's queen of clubs and ruffed another heart, after which he crossed to the ace of clubs and ruffed dummy's last heart.

By this time South was down to the K-J-10-7 of spades and J-10-3 of diamonds, and all that there remained for him to do was to score four trump tricks.

This task did not prove too formidable when he led a spade to the ace, continued with a spade to the ten, and next exited with the jack of diamonds.

The best the defenders could now do was to cash their three diamond tricks, but South was then bound to win the last two tricks with his K-J of trumps sitting over East's Q-9.

Declarer would have found himself unable to make the contract had he not deliberately ruffed three times in his hand for the purpose of cutting his trump length down to the same size as East's. It took some doing, but South dood it!

Long-Haired Kids Clogging Up Sink

Dear Ann Landers: I agree with the mother who wishes you would quit saying "hair is not important." Hair is very important at our house. We have three long-haired sons and a daughter whose hair is down to her waist.

The boys wash their hair four times a week. With the girl, it's a daily ritual. This means 19 towels in the wash every Monday morning. We buy shampoo by the case. And now they are asking for creme rinse which costs nearly as much as shampoo. We have two hair dryers in the house which are in constant use. The electricity bill is out of this world.

Nothing clogs up the sink like hair. It's easier to get a doctor to come out than a plumber. (And cheaper, too.) The last time a plumber came he greeted me with, "More hair, huh." So please, Ann Landers, don't tell me hair is not important because I know better. — Mrs. G. W. W. of Chattanooga

Dear Chat: Once again experience triumphs over theory! You win, Lady.

Dear Ann Landers: This will probably come as a shock to you, but I am in love with my husband. Don't ask me why. He snores, looks at too much TV, rubbernecks when a cute dish struts by in a mini-skirt, forgets to throw his shorts and sox in the hamper and he leaves wet towels on the bathroom floor. I could go on and on — but aren't these things that make a man a man?

My husband has provided me with everything a woman could ask for — plus love. I sometimes wonder if I have done as much for him. Please print my letter, Ann. It might be a welcome relief from the daily recital of wifely complaints. Sign me — No Newlywed

Dear N.N.: Here's your letter and my thanks for writing it. It is indeed a welcome relief. I don't agree, however, that the faults you listed "make a man a man." A woman might love a man in spite of them, but not because of them.

Dear Ann Landers: Sometimes grandma's home remedies are better than all the scientific discoveries put together. The letter from the sleepwalker who was reluctant to take a trip for fear she'd show up in hotel lobby at 3:00 a.m. wearing her nightgown (or less) reminded me of a problem in our own family.

Uncle Earle used to walk in his sleep. It worried Grandma to death the way Uncle Earle unbolted the door, let himself out of his room and walked all over the neighborhood — sound asleep.

One day Grandma hit on a bright idea. She had Grandpa build a small trough — like they used for slopping the hogs, only lower. She filled the trough with cold water and put it alongside Uncle Earle's bed. He had to step in it to stand up. The cold water awakened him at once and that put an end to his sleepwalking. Please print this if you think it will help somebody. — A Friend

Dear Friend: Grandma's solution makes sense. Other readers suggested cornflakes or popcorn strewn beside the bed where the sleepwalker would step on it. Any of the suggestions are worth a try.

Admiral, 104, Says Sailing, Girls Both Good Health Aids

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — "You've just got to get to sea once in awhile, keep up with what's going on and maybe chase a few girls to keep healthy these days," says the nation's oldest admiral, Richard H. Jackson, offering advice on his 104th birthday.

More than 200 persons visited him recently at his home.

Wearing a bright red sport coat and black bow tie, Jackson told Miss Alabama, Ann Fowler, "Ill have none of that dang ritual," when she wished him a happy birthday and bent over to kiss him.

Then he pulled the brunette into his lap and planted two busses on her cheek before going off to cut his birthday cake, swap some sea stories with old shipmates and plans for celebrating his 105th birthday with a visit to Las Vegas, Nev.

Nation Has Returned To Problems Of '30s

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

I grew up, sociologically speaking, in the New York City of the 1930s.

It was a yeasty time, and the blandishments of the Left were compelling up to a point. As a daily book columnist for the New York Times I knew numerous radicals in the publishing business, many of whom had gone all the way into the Communist Party. Some of them were cynics in addition to being revolutionaries. They talked quite openly about "innocent fronts" and "transmission belts," meaning, of course, the liberal organizations that could be counted on to spread the Communist line without knowing what they were doing.

Later, as a member of the Newspaper Guild at Time, Inc., I learned a good deal more from Whittaker Chambers about the operations of the Left.

As a veteran who has lived through one period of the innocent front and transmission belt sort of thing I hoped I would never have to do it again. Alas! The history of the Thirties is being repeated. When 37 college presidents can come up on the same page in the newspapers with a statement about the foreign policy of their country that is practically indistinguishable in tone from a speech in an adjoining column by Premier Kosygin of the Soviet Union, I know we are in the presence of one of the most influential innocent fronts of them all.

Well, I, for one, object to being subjected to the indignity of having to live in a nation of patsies.

We have only one President, and he will be in office, Heaven protect him, until 1973. Despite the collective opinion of those 37 college presidents, the fact is incontestable that you cannot fight a war, even a war of successful extrication, if you are to deny your self the right to flank your enemy when he is successfully preparing to outflank you.

The situation in Southeast Asia was drastically changed when the new Cambodian government of Premier Lon Nol was endangered by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops who were threatening to surround the capital of Phnom Penh. A Cambodia controlled by the Communists would complete the investment of South Vietnam on the north and on the west, making it impossible for any process of "Vietnamization" of the war to succeed.

If 37 college presidents are unable to grasp such an elementary point of strategic thinking, it speaks volumes. How, with such innocents running our educational system, is it possible for anyone to teach the inexorable facts of war?

It won't do for the college presidents to say that we should not be in a war in Vietnam. The fact is that we are. Nixon is doing his best to get us out of it without provoking a tragedy that will only lead to further conflict under more disadvantageous situations. He deserves a fighting chance to carry through with his policies, which have been supported by a majority of the people.

The poor fellow may not get away with it after the weakening processes that have been at work in America for the last five years. Last week, at Yale, I talked with students on the right and in the center and even left of center who kept saying, "Don't bring my name into it." They knew they couldn't afford themselves the luxury of free speech or attempted argument. Some of them said they had been threatened.

At one university in central Massachusetts a conservative group had to cancel an invitation to hear a prominent authority on the state of affairs in Castro's Cuba. My colleague Bill Buckley was supposed to be a temporary fellow-in-residence at one of the Yale colleges during the week that would have culminated in Law Day if the Law Day observances had not been canceled. But the college master who had invited Bill decided that it would be safer if his distinguished guest postponed his visit until next fall.

This is America in 1970. Young Americans for Freedom can't attempt to raise an American flag without being subjected to threats of bodily injury. The 1930s were bad enough. But the Seventies promise to be infinitely worse.

Why are we reduced to such a state? It is because the Left understands the principles of social jujitsu. It knows the dynamics of trapping our innocents into motions that end with the innocents knocking themselves out.

United Approach

State Rep. George F. Montgomery, a 36-year-old Detroiter who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, made a suggestion when in Escanaba the other day.

Montgomery proposed that the State of Michigan coordinate its environmental control efforts in a single agency — an Environmental Safety agency — to eliminate the present situation where seven or eight state organizations are involved in one way or another.

The Department of Natural Resources, which was reorganized on Jan. 1, 1966, and given its present name on Nov. 15, 1968, is charged with protecting and conserving the natural resources of the state. The Water Resources Commission, a part of the DNR, among its responsibilities is concerned with abatement and prevention of pollution of surface, underground and Great Lakes waters; establishing water quality standards for lakes and streams, and carrying on comprehensive water resource planning, including pollution control.

The Water Resources Commission also is working to control and prevent damage from floods and erosion, or natural resource conservation effort which overlaps the prevention of soil erosion responsibilities of the State Soil Conservation Committee under the Dept. of Agriculture. The Dept. of Agriculture also has responsibilities in areas of pesticides, which contribute to the pollution problem.

Then, there is the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission, another anti-pollution agency. The commission is part of the Michigan Department of Public Health, an agency which works in other areas of pollution control and abatement, like municipal wastewater systems and solid waste disposal.

Montgomery's idea is to combine all the environmental units in the state into a single, coordinated agency working under one of the major departments. It makes sense.

Take the recent application by Mead Corp. to the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission for a permit to build a $63.9 million kraft pulp mill at the Escanaba Paper Co., for example. The company had to go to the Water Resources Commission for approval of its program to abate water pollution from the expanded paper and pulp mill facilities. Then when it came to air pollution, the Air Pollution Control Commission took over.

Similarly, the City of Escanaba was cited by the Air Pollution Control Commission for its asphalt plant, yet is working with the State Health Dept. on improving wastewater treatment.

Protecting the environment involves more than just air pollution or water pollution or waste disposal or preservation of natural resources. There are suspicions that the world isn't aware of how complex the problem may be, despite all of the current emphasis.

Combining all of the individuals and agencies now working on the problems and dealing in the scientific minds at work at colleges and universities in the state, however, could give Michigan the resources to make the best possible effort at defining and solving the problems.

Police work can often be fraught with frustrations, as Bessemer Police Chief Clayton Rund and Gogebic County Sheriff Chester Prebish found out. Investigating a report on what appeared to be a fresh grave in the Memory Lane Park north of U. S. 2 on Bessemer's east side. Rund found a neat mound of fresh dirt with a rock placed at one end uncomfortably resembling a headstone. The dirt mound was outlined by sticks. Rund rolled up his sleeves, spit on his hands and began the grisly task of uncovering the plot of ground. Prebish, noticing the squad car and stopping to see if his assistance was needed, was quickly drafted to help in the dirty work. Two hours later and four feet deeper, the law enforcement duo struck something solid and, digging further, found only a large rock which had been buried there by the park's caretaker last year. A thorough search of the pit revealed no trace of wrong-doing, so the chagrined officers reburied the rock and left the park. The identity of the perpetrator of the macabre joke is unknown, but police would prefer to drop the matter.

VERY TOUCHING

Letters To The Press

TAKING ISSUE

In times of increasing social turbulence such as ours, when reports of violent battles, riots and assassinations assault our ears with nerve-deadening regularity; in times when the frequency of man's brutality to man tends to condone its occurrence; in times when force becomes, even for a peace-loving people, the accepted panacea for most social ills: a cry of alarm against mounting hysteria — a call for rationality in the midst of a hurricane of ill will — strikes one as being, paradoxically, both redundant and irrelevant, inasmuch as the voice of the peacemaker (shouted, it seems, from every pulpit, campus center, and urban streetcorner) appears to be finding fewer listeners.

Yet we the undersigned, believing that silence connotes consent, feel impelled to take issue with the remarks of Mr. Richard Ketcik, which appeared in the "Letters to the Press" of Saturday, May 9, because we believe that his attitude is typical of the growing majority backlash that portends danger for the United States.

Mr. Ketcik's letter, written specifically to vindicate the National Guard in its responsibility for the deaths of four students during the recent disturbances at Kent State University, contained a number of fallacies indicative of the repressive attitudes which are daily growing more common among those who have lost touch with our youth, particularly our students.

First, he asserts that the Guard was justified in gunning down the students, notwithstanding the fact that the troops, who have never fired openly on an American crowd before, are specifically instructed not to aim to kill (Daily Press, May 5, page 1), and that the fatal shots appear, to witnesses, to have been deliberate and unprovoked (Daily Press, May 5, page 5). Even Vice President Agnew, certainly no bleeding-heart liberal, feels that the killing of the four students (characterized by their acquaintances as clean-cut, studious types) may constitute murder (Daily Press, May 8, page 1). In fact, no responsible authority is now condoning these senseless deaths.

Yet Mr. Ketcik justifies them by rationalizing that "the fact that the students were there (at the scene of the demonstration, presumably) shows they were in support of unlawful demonstrations and destruction which had been taking place, and wouldn't have been shot if they hadn't taken such action." This statement is false. Almost everyone from an urban area has witnessed demonstrations without becoming involved in them. To say that every hanger-on and gawker in the vicinity of a riot is, ipso facto, a rioter worthy to be shot, is tantamout to saying that everyone who follows a fire truck to a burning building is an arsonist.

Such a position, it is evident, is dangerous. To avoid a trump loser seemed next to impossible—since South could take only one finesse through East's queen — but he nevertheless found a way of bringing the hand to a happy conclusion.

He won the heart lead with the ace and promptly made the key play of ruffing a heart. He then finessed dummy's queen of clubs and ruffed another heart, after which he crossed to the ace of clubs and ruffed dummy's last heart.

By this time South was down to the K-J-10-7 of spades and J-10-3 of diamonds, and all that there remained for him to do was to score four trump tricks.

This task did not prove too formidable when he led a spade to the ace, continued with a spade to the ten, and next exited with the jack of diamonds.

The best the defenders could now do was to cash their three diamond tricks, but South was then bound to win the last two tricks with his K-J of trumps sitting over East's Q-9.

Declarer would have found himself unable to make the contract had he not deliberately ruffed three times in his hand for the purpose of cutting his trump length down to the same size as East's. It took some doing, but South dood it!

REQUIRED READING

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rock music finally has become an accepted art form. Ralph Gleason's book, "Jefferson Airplane and the San Francisco Sound," is listed as required reading for the San Francisco Institute of Art's class on mass media and communications.

Ann Landers

Long-Haired Kids Clogging Up Sink

Dear Ann Landers: I agree with the mother who wishes you would quit saying "hair is not important." Hair is very important at our house. We have three long-haired sons and a daughter whose hair is down to her waist.

The boys wash their hair four times a week. With the girl, it's a daily ritual. This means 19 towels in the wash every Monday morning. We buy shampoo by the case. And now they are asking for creme rinse which costs nearly as much as shampoo. We have two hair dryers in the house which are in constant use. The electricity bill is out of this world.

Nothing clogs up the sink like hair. It's easier to get a doctor to come out than a plumber. (And cheaper, too.) The last time a plumber came he greeted me with, "More hair, huh." So please, Ann Landers, don't tell me hair is not important because I know better. — Mrs. G. W. W. of Chattanooga

Dear Chat: Once again experience triumphs over theory! You win, Lady.

Dear Ann Landers: This will probably come as a shock to you, but I am in love with my husband. Don't ask me why. He snores, looks at too much TV, rubbernecks when a cute dish struts by in a mini-skirt, forgets to throw his shorts and sox in the hamper and he leaves wet towels on the bathroom floor. I could go on and on — but aren't these things that make a man a man?

My husband has provided me with everything a woman could ask for — plus love. I sometimes wonder if I have done as much for him. Please print my letter, Ann. It might be a welcome relief from the daily recital of wifely complaints. Sign me — No Newlywed

Dear N.N.: Here's your letter and my thanks for writing it. It is indeed a welcome relief. I don't agree, however, that the faults you listed "make a man a man." A woman might love a man in spite of them, but not because of them.

Dear Ann Landers: Sometimes grandma's home remedies are better than all the scientific discoveries put together. The letter from the sleepwalker who was reluctant to take a trip for fear she'd show up in hotel lobby at 3:00 a.m. wearing her nightgown (or less) reminded me of a problem in our own family.

Uncle Earle used to walk in his sleep. It worried Grandma to death the way Uncle Earle unbolted the door, let himself out of his room and walked all over the neighborhood — sound asleep.

One day Grandma hit on a bright idea. She had Grandpa build a small trough — like they used for slopping the hogs, only lower. She filled the trough with cold water and put it alongside Uncle Earle's bed. He had to step in it to stand up. The cold water awakened him at once and that put an end to his sleepwalking. Please print this if you think it will help somebody. — A Friend

Dear Friend: Grandma's solution makes sense. Other readers suggested cornflakes or popcorn strewn beside the bed where the sleepwalker would step on it. Any of the suggestions are worth a try.

The advanced class in printing in the manual training department of the high school demonstrated that the students really have learned "to print." Due to the resignation of Chancey E. Barns, instructor, there was no supervisor for the class work. The class continued its work, however, and turned out two sets of posters and a large quantity of other school printing. Barns left last night for St. Paul.

Admiral, 104, Says Sailing, Girls Both Good Health Aids

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — "You've just got to get to sea once in awhile, keep up with what's going on and maybe chase a few girls to keep healthy these days," says the nation's oldest admiral, Richard H. Jackson, offering advice on his 104th birthday.

More than 200 persons visited him recently at his home.

Wearing a bright red sport coat and black bow tie, Jackson told Miss Alabama, Ann Fowler, "Ill have none of that dang ritual," when she wished him a happy birthday and bent over to kiss him.

Then he pulled the brunette into his lap and planted two busses on her cheek before going off to cut his birthday cake, swap some sea stories with old shipmates and plans for celebrating his 105th birthday with a visit to Las Vegas, Nev.

Singing Used To Beat Sunday Laws

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Under Utah's new Sunday closing law, you couldn't legally buy a Mother's Day card Sunday.

But a quartet of high school students observed the event in their own way.

The four presented singing Mother's Day greetings to 45 mothers of classmates.

They sang from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. to get all their visits in.

Nation Has Returned To Problems Of '30s

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

I grew up, sociologically speaking, in the New York City of the 1930s.

It was a yeasty time, and the blandishments of the Left were compelling up to a point. As a daily book columnist for the New York Times I knew numerous radicals in the publishing business, many of whom had gone all the way into the Communist Party. Some of them were cynics in addition to being revolutionaries. They talked quite openly about "innocent fronts" and "transmission belts," meaning, of course, the liberal organizations that could be counted on to spread the Communist line without knowing what they were doing.

Later, as a member of the Newspaper Guild at Time, Inc., I learned a good deal more from Whittaker Chambers about the operations of the Left.

As a veteran who has lived through one period of the innocent front and transmission belt sort of thing I hoped I would never have to do it again. Alas! The history of the Thirties is being repeated. When 37 college presidents can come up on the same page in the newspapers with a statement about the foreign policy of their country that is practically indistinguishable in tone from a speech in an adjoining column by Premier Kosygin of the Soviet Union, I know we are in the presence of one of the most influential innocent fronts of them all.

Well, I, for one, object to being subjected to the indignity of having to live in a nation of patsies.

We have only one President, and he will be in office, Heaven protect him, until 1973. Despite the collective opinion of those 37 college presidents, the fact is incontestable that you cannot fight a war, even a war of successful extrication, if you are to deny your self the right to flank your enemy when he is successfully preparing to outflank you.

The situation in Southeast Asia was drastically changed when the new Cambodian government of Premier Lon Nol was endangered by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops who were threatening to surround the capital of Phnom Penh. A Cambodia controlled by the Communists would complete the investment of South Vietnam on the north and on the west, making it impossible for any process of "Vietnamization" of the war to succeed.

If 37 college presidents are unable to grasp such an elementary point of strategic thinking, it speaks volumes. How, with such innocents running our educational system, is it possible for anyone to teach the inexorable facts of war?

It won't do for the college presidents to say that we should not be in a war in Vietnam. The fact is that we are. Nixon is doing his best to get us out of it without provoking a tragedy that will only lead to further conflict under more disadvantageous situations. He deserves a fighting chance to carry through with his policies, which have been supported by a majority of the people.

The poor fellow may not get away with it after the weakening processes that have been at work in America for the last five years. Last week, at Yale, I talked with students on the right and in the center and even left of center who kept saying, "Don't bring my name into it." They knew they couldn't afford themselves the luxury of free speech or attempted argument. Some of them said they had been threatened.

At one university in central Massachusetts a conservative group had to cancel an invitation to hear a prominent authority on the state of affairs in Castro's Cuba. My colleague Bill Buckley was supposed to be a temporary fellow-in-residence at one of the Yale colleges during the week that would have culminated in Law Day if the Law Day observances had not been canceled. But the college master who had invited Bill decided that it would be safer if his distinguished guest postponed his visit until next fall.

This is America in 1970. Young Americans for Freedom can't attempt to raise an American flag without being subjected to threats of bodily injury. The 1930s were bad enough. But the Seventies promise to be infinitely worse.

Why are we reduced to such a state? It is because the Left understands the principles of social jujitsu. It knows the dynamics of trapping our innocents into motions that end with the innocents knocking themselves out.

Mich-Con Cites Losses Because Of Rate Ruling

The Michigan Public Service Commission opened hearings in the Delta County courthouse today on complaints seeking to force Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. to extend service to four Michigan communities.

The complaints were filed by the City of Manistique, Newberry State Hospital, and the townships of Watersmeet and Marenisco.

Alfred R. Glancy III, treasurer of the company, said plans to serve 12 communities in the Upper and Northern Lower Peninsula had to be abandoned when rising costs and an inadequate rate order from the Michigan Public Service Commission rendered the projects uneconomic. The Commission last year granted the company a rate increase of only 1½ per cent. The company contended its costs had gone up 10 per cent.

Glancy said the company does not agree that the MPSC has power, under Michigan law, to force the utility to invest in expansions which it considers would result in losses.

"We were forced to cancel plans to serve these communities," Glancy said, "because of skyrocketing costs which the Public Service Commission failed to consider in setting our rates. Our interest costs have roughly doubled, and construction costs have gone up about 50 per cent.

"The total investment required would be about $2.7 million, of which $1.6 million would have to be borrowed, and the balance of $1.1 million would be put up by stockholders.

"Our surveys indicate our revenues in the first five years would fall more than $200,000 short of meeting interest costs on borrowed money, and stockholders would get nothing.

"After the fifth year when the market would presumably be fully developed, the Company would continue to lose money.

"Obviously no business can stay in business if it builds new facilities on which it is going to lose money. We do not believe the Commission has the power to force us to do so.

"Indeed, the Commission has always required us, in the past, to show that proposed expansions are economic, before granting us authority to lay new lines. This is for the protection of existing customers, who otherwise would be subsidizing, in their rates, uneconomic expansion projects."

Glancy said the company will show, during the hearing, that the Newberry, Marenisco, Watersmeet and Manistique projects would not pay their way, under existing economic conditions and the company's existing rate structure.

Hearings are being conducted before Alfred Sullivan, hearing examiner for the MPSC.

Huge Numbers Ring Raided

DETROIT (AP)— A five-hour sweep by over 200 FBI agents Monday evening resulted in what Atty. Gen. John Mitchell called the biggest gambling raid by federal agents in the nation's history.

Agents raided 58 locations in Detroit and its suburbs and in Flint, Mich., and arrested 58 persons. Nine others were being sought. Federal officials said the raid broke up a numbers ring which had been grossing a quarter of a million dollars daily.

All those arrested made appearances Monday night before U.S. Commissioner Warren Kraypohl. All were released on $1,000 bond on charges of conspiracy to violate provisions of the Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering Law.

The charge carries a maximum sentence of five years in prison, a $10,000 fine or both.

An FBI spokesman said that in addition to making the arrests, agents seized cash, numbers slips, tally sheets, files, adding machines and firearms.

Few details of the raid were immediately released. U.S. Atty. James Brickley brushed aside newspen's questions, saying no information would be released until a news conference at 9 a. m., today.

Lesser Bills In Legislature On Action List

LANSING (AP) — Postponing action on major controversial issues, the Michigan Legislature plunged Monday into a mass of lesser bills and problems reflecting a wide range of personal and political interests.

Abortion reform, a $1-billion school aid and tax conundrum, major appropriations bills and education reform gave way to talk of legalizing bingo and church raffles, licensing campgrounds, "taxing" doctors and putting rear - view mirrors on motorcyclists' helmets.

There was a bill to limit bills —10 to a legislator, under a proposal being pushed by Rep. Aldred Sheridan, D-Taylor. It was advanced to a final vote without comment Monday, but a similar measure was defeated in the House last June.

In the Senate, where two bills won final passage, the issue of the day was the summer deadline schedule. Majority Republicans have proposed numerous versions of meeting dates that attempt to finish legislative chores while leaving time for re-election campaigning.

But opposition Democrats, who control the House, have refused to go along with any definite timetable. The House has far more bills to deal with and a deadline represents a threat to many of them.

"You can't bargain with the speaker," one senator said of Rep. William A. Ryan, the Detroit Democrat who presides over the House. "Ryan believes in a 50-50 compromise—50 peanuts for you, 50 elephants for him."

In action on bills, the Senate gave final approval to a bill raising the State Housing Development Authority's bonding power from $50 million to $300 million. The measure, requested by Gov. William G. Milliken, is intended to allow development of up to $1 billion worth of middle- and low-income housing units within the decade.

The Senate also agreed to join with the House in setting an Aug. 1 effective date for a bill that would fine or jail persons who refuse to leave a college campus when ordered off.

Carpenter's Local 1832 will meet May 27 instead of May 13.

Bay de Noc Encampment, 174, will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Odd Fellows Hall.

The Golden Age Club will meet at the Bonifas Civic Center Wednesday at 7 p.m. Cards and dancing will be part of the program. All members are asked to be present.

The Escanaba Board of Appeals will meet Wednesday at 4:45 p.m. to consider requests for exceptions to the city zoning regulations. Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., planning the construction of a service center addition at 330 N. 10th St., wants to line up the front of the addition with the existing structure. The area is zoned heavy manufacturing and requires a front lawn setback. James P. Stasewich also seeks an exception to the yard requirements under the heavy manufacturing district regulation.

Foreign Bank Accounts New Tax Return Item

MIAMI (AP) — Americans will be required to report their foreign bank accounts on their tax returns for 1970, the director of the Internal Revenue Service announced today.

Randolph W. Thrower, the IRS head, told the University of Miami Tax Conference: "Taxpayers will be required to disclose the existence of foreign bank accounts on 1970 tax returns."

Thrower said the IRS now is considering the manner in which the bank accounts will be reported.

"The law does not provide our agents with all of the tools they need to cope with the illegal use of foreign banks," Thrower said. He said a Treasury Department task force is working on the problem and will develop recommendations.

Describing secret foreign bank accounts as a "matter of growing concern," the IRS chief said the anonymity they offer has been used to conceal income from such things as narcotics smuggling, black market currency operations in Southeast Asia and illegal trading in gold.

"There are a significant number of foreign accounts opened primarily to facilitate tax evasion by people who otherwise appear respectable and law abiding," Thrower said.

Safer Car Interiors Aim Of Safety Group

MILFORD, Mich. (AP)—Auto makers and government officials from many parts of the Free World Monday tackled the problem of making car interiors safer.

The unique two-day conference, sponsored by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, marked the first full scale international sharing of auto safety techniques.

John A. Volpe, U.S. secretary of transportation, told the meeting "The dissemination of life-saving techniques should not be restricted to national boundaries.

"By sharing with the world's automobile industry the latest technology in occupant restrain systems, we bring closer the day when American motorists will have the most complete crash protection possible."

The conference centered on passive restrains, primarily the air bag safety device which is under study by U.S. and foreign auto firms. They differ from active restraints, such as seat belts and shoulder harness which requires cooperation from the car occupants in putting them on.

In contrast, the air safety bag —once installed—works without any help from the driver or passengers, inflating itself in crash situations.

Volpe told the conferees meeting at General Motors' proving grounds here, "Passive restraints are systems whose time has come. I know they work; I have seen them work. Our motto should be to get the bugs out of the bags or whatever device works best and get our citizens protected at the earliest possible moment."

The U.S. highway safety head continued, "Our goal is to transform the auto from a vehicle causing injury and death in the event of a crash into a protective shield which guards against injury and death when crashes occur."

Volpe added, "We are pushing with the utmost feasible speed the installation of passive restraining devices in all motor vehicles. We are prepared to turn over our passive restraint technology to all participants in this conference."

Edward N. Cole, General Motors president, cautioned that there "still are some serious technical problems to be resolved" before air bags can be ready for mass transportation.

He said it would "unrealistic to assume the air cushion restraint system is now ready for mass production" and added that at GM "we cannot say when our air cushion restraint system will be ready for volume production."

Cole sai d the air restraint bag system, which would replace seat belts and harnesses involved almost innumerable problems ranging from the different sizes of autos to the variance in severity of impact in collisions.

The air bag systems devised thus far pop open in a split second in the event of a collision and form a protective covering around the car occupants to minimize the impact.

Volpe said, "These air bag passive restraint systems have shown a potential for saving thousands of lives." He pointed out that his department is pushing to make the bags mandatory in 1973 cars sold in the United States.

Representatives of 11 foreign countries attended the conference along with officials of auto companies including Ford, General Motors, Chrysler, American Motors, Volkswagen, Fiat, Toyota, British Leland Motors Corp., Peugeot, Rolls Royce, Mercedes-Benz, Saab and other auto firms.

GM, American Motors, Ford, Chrysler and Fiat presented the opening day's program before more than 150 delegates including Gunnar Randers, Assistant Secretary General for Scientific Affairs of NATO.

Several of the speakers cautioned that the air bag would not be a cureall for auto injuries. David Martin of GM's research laboratories said, "Any notion that air cushions in passenger cars will protect occupants so completely they will walk away from every crash, no matter how severe, is untrue."

Brazil's Money System Baffling

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil is organizing its disorganized currency system, which has infuriated and bewildered Brazilians and foreign visitors.

The government Friday will abolish the new cruzeiro and resurrect the cruzeiro, which used to be its currency unit. But this cruzeiro will not be the same as cruzeiro, which is still in circulation along with the new cruzeiro. This is why Brazil's monetary system needs the change.

Tourists, who presently gaze uncomprehendingly at bills worth anywhere from "10" to "10,000" will know how much they're spending. And Brazilians, who carefully paste and glue tattered bills together, should be pleased with the crisp new bills.

The innovation does not mean a change in Brazil's chronically unstable exchange rate. One new cruzeiro, today worth 22 cents, will become one cruzeiro, worth the same.

Brazil adopted the cruzeiro which means "cross" in Portuguese— in the mid-1940s, abandoning the mil reis, which had become almost valueless because of inflation.

But the cruzeiro plummeted in value too—by 1967 it took 2,700 cruzeiros to make a dollar.

Then came the new cruzeiro, worth 1,000 cruzeiros, but instead of calling in the crueiros in circulation, the Central Bank simply stamped them with their new worth. But not all the bills were stamped, opening foreigners to the depredations of hucksters.

Hence today's confusion, which will end when the old bills will be replaced.

Character Told By Handwriting

Learning character through handwriting was the topic of a talk by Sister Mary Vianney Elmer, of the Franciscan Order of the Sisters of Charity, to the Escanaba Kiwanis Club on Monday.

Sister Vianney is a teacher at Holy Name High School in the business administration department, and she comes by her information on handwriting, having received a certificate as a graphic analyst.

There is a total person to be found in a graphic analysis, Sister Vianney stated, as handwriting is a reflection as to what is in the mind. There is nothing mysterious about it, and it is sexless, Sister Vianney explained. You cannot tell whether the writer is male or female, because a person of one sex may have characteristics of the other, and this can appear in the handwriting.

Even persons who have had a hand cut off, and have become proficient with an artifical device can be analyzed. A graphic analyst does not judge people, but rather studies the traits and comes up with the total picture of a person's character.

The slants and strokes of a person's writing are the basis of grapho analysis. Sister Vianney than asked all the Kiwanians to write two sentences on a card, and with the aid of an opaque projecter helped the men to analyze their own handwriting.

Sister Vianney also stated that grapho analysis is now being used by some psychiatrists. It is also useful in selecting from job applicants, as well as in credit work, counseling and guidance.

City Charter

ST. CLAIR (AP)—A proposed new city charter for St. Clair has lost for the second time in six months on a tie vote.

The proposal — which would have instituted the city manager form of government for the town of 4,500—lost in December on a vote of 322-322. On Monday, 1,000 voters turned out and split 500-500. A simple majority was needed for passage.

Brazil's Money System Baffling

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil is organizing its disorganized currency system, which has infuriated and bewildered Brazilians and foreign visitors.

The government Friday will abolish the new cruzeiro and resurrect the cruzeiro, which used to be its currency unit. But this cruzeiro will not be the same as cruzeiro, which is still in circulation along with the new cruzeiro. This is why Brazil's monetary system needs the change.

Tourists, who presently gaze uncomprehendingly at bills worth anywhere from "10" to "10,000" will know how much they're spending. And Brazilians, who carefully paste and glue tattered bills together, should be pleased with the crisp new bills.

The innovation does not mean a change in Brazil's chronically unstable exchange rate. One new cruzeiro, today worth 22 cents, will become one cruzeiro, worth the same.

Brazil adopted the cruzeiro which means "cross" in Portuguese— in the mid-1940s, abandoning the mil reis, which had become almost valueless because of inflation.

But the cruzeiro plummeted in value too—by 1967 it took 2,700 cruzeiros to make a dollar.

Then came the new cruzeiro, worth 1,000 cruzeiros, but instead of calling in the crueiros in circulation, the Central Bank simply stamped them with their new worth. But not all the bills were stamped, opening foreigners to the depredations of hucksters.

Hence today's confusion, which will end when the old bills will be replaced.

Character Told By Handwriting

Learning character through handwriting was the topic of a talk by Sister Mary Vianney Elmer, of the Franciscan Order of the Sisters of Charity, to the Escanaba Kiwanis Club on Monday.

Sister Vianney is a teacher at Holy Name High School in the business administration department, and she comes by her information on handwriting, having received a certificate as a graphic analyst.

There is a total person to be found in a graphic analysis, Sister Vianney stated, as handwriting is a reflection as to what is in the mind. There is nothing mysterious about it, and it is sexless, Sister Vianney explained. You cannot tell whether the writer is male or female, because a person of one sex may have characteristics of the other, and this can appear in the handwriting.

Even persons who have had a hand cut off, and have become proficient with an artifical device can be analyzed. A graphic analyst does not judge people, but rather studies the traits and comes up with the total picture of a person's character.

The slants and strokes of a person's writing are the basis of grapho analysis. Sister Vianney than asked all the Kiwanians to write two sentences on a card, and with the aid of an opaque projecter helped the men to analyze their own handwriting.

Sister Vianney also stated that grapho analysis is now being used by some psychiatrists. It is also useful in selecting from job applicants, as well as in credit work, counseling and guidance.

City Charter

ST. CLAIR (AP)—A proposed new city charter for St. Clair has lost for the second time in six months on a tie vote.

The proposal — which would have instituted the city manager form of government for the town of 4,500—lost in December on a vote of 322 - 322. On Monday, 1,000 voters turned out and split 500-500. A simple majority was needed for passage.

Collecting DDT Seen Harming Youngsters

By JACQUELINE KORONA

LANSING (AP) — Grade schoolers who collect DDT may think they're helping fight pollution.

But they could be putting themselves in deadly danger.

With more and more being said and written about pollution, the public is mobilizing against dangers to the environment. And many people think of DDT, the persistent pesticide in effect banned in Michigan last year by the State Agriculture Department.

People figure: why not collect all the DDT in neighbors' closets and dispose of it?

The Agriculture Department and other agencies reply: "Because such a collection could be dangerous."

"While I sympathize with the organizers of pesticide collection drives," says Agriculture Director B. Dale Ball, "I have a deep concern that serious accidents may result through mass collection."

"We're talking about a lot of little cans and bottles that would be collected," explains Deputy Director John Calkins. "People don't read the fine print on the labels. Many just think in terms of pesticides or chemicals and would reach into their closets and pull out the bottle.

"Where DDT is a pretty harmless substance around human beings, it's possible to have a much more potent poison in a similar bottle — items that could be deadly.

"With school children — or adults — collecting the pesticides, there could be spillage of unknown materials, like Parathion and Guthion," he says.

If those pesticides are used "carefully and judiciously on plants or roses or whatever they're recommended for, there's very little chance for them to persist in the environment. But if you are not very careful, you could make yourself seriously ill and possibly even kill yourself."

Calkins says there are some cases on record in which those pesticides were used to murder.

So, instead of encouraging the mass collecting of DDT for disposal, the department and officials from public health, natural resources and Michigan State University have put together a list of suggestions on how individuals should dispose of DDT.

The guidelines tell homeowners that in most cases DDT products such as aerosol bombs, liquid sprays, powders and dusts should be buried away from trees and shrubs, and at least 50 feet from any well or surface water.

Holes should be deep enough so that at least three feet of dirt would cover the DDT products.

Aerosol cans should not be punctured, nor should bags and boxes be opened. Glass and metal containers, however, should be opened and put in the hole tilted down to allow drainage.

Those who had used DDT for agricultural or commercial purposes and have a larger supply on hand also should bury it.

Extra large lots, such as 30- and 55-gallon drums, should be disposed of through the State Natural Resources Department.

Zanzibar recently levied a $7,200 tax on anyone who marries an island woman and tries to take her away. The measure is designed to prevent women from leaving, as the island's last census showed more men than women.

Snoring Riddle Still Baffling

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Marcus H. Boulware of Florida State University spent more than 1,000 hours on research for a book "The Riddle of Snoring." His conclusion: about one person in eight snores, and not much can be done about it.

Boulware said 186 antisnoring devices have been registered with the U.S. Patent Office. They include a chin strap to prevent mouth breathing and ball sewn into a nightshirt to keep the subject from sleeping on his back.

But snoring still goes on. Boulware said more men tend to snore than women.

Mercury Contamination Not Restricted, Expert Claims

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. (AP)—A federal expert reported he is certain mercury contamination will be found in waters other than those of the Great Lakes basin.

Francis Mayo, midwest regional director of the Federal Water Quality Administration, told a U.S. Senate subcommittee on Effcts of Mercury on Man and the Environment that "such contamination already has been found in one feeder river of the Mississippi."

Suspect Wisconsin River

He named the Wisconsin River in central Wisconsin as the stream involved where mercury has been found.

Grat Lakes mercury contamnation has resulted in a U.S and Canadian ban on commercial fishing in lakes Erie and St. Clair and on the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers, the committee was told at its one-day hearing.

The ban resulted from mercury levels higher than .5 per million parts being found in fish caught in these waters.

Not Restricted

Mayo told the subcommittee headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., the FWQA now is testing streams and lakes nationwide for mercury and "other toxic materials from industries that could be just as dangerous as mercury."

It was in answer to a question by Hart regarding the agency's study that Mayo said: "We'll find. I'm certain, the probem is not to be restricted to the Great Lakes basin."

He told newsmen the Wisconsin River was the only one he knows of so far which had shown mercury contamination and that was downriver from a chemical plant but added he was certain it would be found elsewhere.

Chemical plants have been blamd primarily for the lake pollution but spokesmen for Dow Chemical Co. of Canada and Wyandotte Chemical Co. of Detroit testified that such pollution had been cut off from thir plants.

Pesticides Investigated

Pesticides are being investigated as a possible contributor to mercury pollution, Mayo said.

Frank Ditri, who identified himself as an assistant chemistry professor at Michigan State University, suggested there was a danger of mercury contamination in grains and vegetables as well as water. Ditri said that in some foreign countries mercury had been found in such crops as tomatos and cereal grains. His theory is that seed sterlized with mercury transfer mercury up the plant to its fruit.

Asks Pre-Marketing Test

R. W. Purdy, deputy director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, suggested pre-marketing testing of all new products—whether for use in industry or the home.

Purdy said he viewed this as an urgent need and also urged the committee to stablish a national clearing house for information, coordination of activities and alerting pollution control officials to potential problems.

Mayo said the Federal Water Quality Administration currently is taking samples for possible mercury contamination in the central basins of Lake Erie, southern Lake Huron and Saginaw Bay and from the southeastern section of Green Bay.

Mayo also told the subcommittee the highest conentration of mercury found on stream bottoms thus far had been 170 parts per million in a disharge ditch leading to Lake Erie from the Detrex Chemial plant in Ashtabula, Ohio, and 430 parts per million below the Tittabawassee outfall of the General Electric Co. plant at Edmore, Mich.

While he said chemical plants apparently were the worst offenders, he listed these as other potential soures of mercury contamination: vinyl chloride manufacturers, paper mills using mercury slimicides, felt manufacturers and mercury producers.

Other Runoffs Noted

Also implicated in merury contamination, he said, is the runoff of agricultural merury-based pesticides, antifouling paint formulations, and mercury-containing products for home use.

J.J. Lankhorst, assistant general counsel for the Army Chief of Engineers, told the committee the so-called "refuse act" of 1899 contained a section under which the Corps of Engineers could regulate not only discharges into navigable waters but the placing of material on the banks where it would be subject to washing into the water.

The Dow Chemical Co. has offered to pay for the dredging of the St. Clair River if it would help eliminate the mercury that has made fish caught in the lake unfit to eat.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

Jobs For All Veterans Aim Of GOP: Laird

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the Pentagon will soon launch a new program "to locate a job for every veteran."

Laird told the Economic Club of Detroit that the Defense Department needs help from all sectors of the country in finding what he called worthwhile jobs for many of the two million men and women who will be leaving the armed services in the next two years.

"In the weeks and months ahead, we will be calling on American business and labor leaders, state and local governments, and citizens in all walks of life to help us solve this problem," the defense chief said in a prepared speech.

Laird gave no details, saying these would be announced soon. In Washington, his aides indicated a major thrust will be aimed at encouraging service men to return to school

Laird's speech, devoted mostly to economic and related questions, touched only briefly on the Vietnam war.

In underscoring administration arguments for its new initiatives into Cambodia, Laird said:

"This action will shorten the war; it will bring American troops home faster; it will reduce our casualties."

The Laird speech was the kickoff of Armed Forces Week observances in Detroit.

At the luncheon, the city of Detroit was given a citation by the Congressional Medal of Honor Society for the city's annual Armed Forces Week.

'Instant Everything' Today's Way Of Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "People really loathe success," said producer Ross Hunter. "The hardest thing for a successful person to understand is why other people immediately start knocking—simply because he is a success.

"Yet ironically, in this period of instant everything, everyone wants to be an instant success. Nobody wants to be a starlet. They all want to be a star."

Hunter, still boyish-looking in his late 40's and one of Hollywood's most eligible bachelors, has had both kinds of success in his roller coaster career—easy and hard-won.

An ex-English teacher who in his youth became a $1,000-a-week teen-age idol as an actor, Ross was sidelined a year by an attack of penicillin poisoning. He started again as a $60 studio underling and worked his way to the top as a producer.

Among his big hits have been "Magnificent Obession," "Imitation of Life," "Pillow Talk," "Madame X," and "Thoroughly Modern Millie." His most recent venture, "Airport," based on the best-selling novel, has received pot shots from critics but is doing well at the box office.

Hunter, now embarked on a $75-million production schedule for Universal studios, is proud of his financial record.

"Of the 45 films I have made," he remarked, "none has lost money with the possible exception of two. But I believe television sales enabled them to recover their investment."

One of his biggest bonanzas, "Thoroughly Modern Millie," starring Julie Andrews and Carol Channing, cost about $5 million and so far has brought in $52 million.

Like his own hero, the late Irving Thalberg, Ross believes the chief function of the film industry is to provide people with entertainment and, an escape from the humdrum problems of life.

"The screens are being flooded by sexploitation films," he said. "That is why the mass audiences of yesterday are staying at home now watching old movies on television.

"It is not the sex movie, the movie that drags nudity in by the heels, that attracts a mass family audience.

"People want to be moved emotionally. The only excitement of sex is mystery. Sex made too explicit becomes sexless.

"Most people don't care to see movies that make them feel like Peeping Toms.

"The most glorious producer of sex was David Selznick, and he got his effects through close-ups of faces and the eyes. He rarely got below the neck."

Heads Post

LANSING (AP) — Colin McGregor, who joined the State Purchasing Division 16 years ago, has been named assistant chief of purchasing for the State of Michigan.

The announcement was made by George Washington, director of the Department of Administration.

Blue Collar Unit Demands Ouster Of Mayor Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 2,000 blue collar workers returned Monday to the scene of a violent confrontation with antiwar students and marched around City Hall shouting USA all the way!"

They also shouted "Lindsay must go!" and handed out leaflets demanding the resignation of, Sid Davidoff, an aide to Mayor John V. Lindsay who was involved in the bloody melee on Friday.

During Friday's confrontation, a number of students at nearby Pace College were beaten by construction workers who marched from the Wall Street area to City Hall in a demonstration against peace rallies.

57 Hell-Bent Kids Cross Finish Line In Unusual Race

ADRIAN, Mich. (AP) — Out of 148 Hell - bent Adrian High School seniors, only 57 made it.

And it was a Swedish exchange student, Bjorn Cederwall, who got to Hell first.

The occasion was the annual "March to Hell," which was started eight years ago by Adrian High School seniors who wanted to demonstrate their physical fitness to the late President John F. Kennedy.

The first year, 18 seniors started out on the 44 - mile march from here to Hell, a tiny Lenawee County community reached by following M 52 in southeastern Lower Michigan.

Only about three finished the inaugural "March to Hell" and it lasted from 5 a.m. until 8:30 p.m.

The Swedish winner made it Saturday in 8¾ hours by alternately walking and running every five miles.

One youngster who beat everybody was disqualified because he roller - skated the whole distance.

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the Pentagon will soon launch a new program "to locate a job for every veteran."

Laird told the Economic Club of Detroit that the Defense Department needs help from all sectors of the country in finding what he called worthwhile jobs for many of the two million men and women who will be leaving the armed services in the next two years.

"In the weeks and months ahead, we will be calling on American business and labor leaders, state and local governments, and citizens in all walks of life to help us solve this problem," the defense chief said in a prepared speech.

Laird gave no details, saying these would be announced soon. In Washington, his aides indicated a major thrust will be aimed at encouraging service men to return to school

Laird's speech, devoted mostly to economic and related questions, touched only briefly on the Vietnam war.

In underscoring administration arguments for its new initiatives into Cambodia, Laird said:

"This action will shorten the war; it will bring American troops home faster; it will reduce our casualties."

The Laird speech was the kickoff of Armed Forces Week observances in Detroit.

At the luncheon, the city of Detroit was given a citation by the Congressional Medal of Honor Society for the city's annual Armed Forces Week.

'Instant Everything' Today's Way Of Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "People really loathe success," said producer Ross Hunter. "The hardest thing for a successful person to understand is why other people immediately start knocking—simply because he is a success.

"Yet ironically, in this period of instant everything, everyone wants to be an instant success. Nobody wants to be a starlet. They all want to be a star."

Hunter, still boyish-looking in his late 40's and one of Hollywood's most eligible bachelors, has had both kinds of success in his roller coaster career—easy and hard-won.

An ex-English teacher who in his youth became a $1,000-a-week teen-age idol as an actor, Ross was sidelined a year by an attack of penicillin poisoning. He started again as a $60 studio underling and worked his way to the top as a producer.

Among his big hits have been "Magnificent Obession," "Imitation of Life," "Pillow Talk," "Madame X," and "Thoroughly Modern Millie." His most recent venture, "Airport," based on the best-selling novel, has received pot shots from critics but is doing well at the box office.

Hunter, now embarked on a $75-million production schedule for Universal studios, is proud of his financial record.

"Of the 45 films I have made," he remarked, "none has lost money with the possible exception of two. But I believe television sales enabled them to recover their investment."

One of his biggest bonanzas, "Thoroughly Modern Millie," starring Julie Andrews and Carol Channing, cost about $5 million and so far has brought in $52 million.

Like his own hero, the late Irving Thalberg, Ross believes the chief function of the film industry is to provide people with entertainment and, an escape from the humdrum problems of life.

"The screens are being flooded by sexploitation films," he said. "That is why the mass audiences of yesterday are staying at home now watching old movies on television.

"It is not the sex movie, the movie that drags nudity in by the heels, that attracts a mass family audience.

"People want to be moved emotionally. The only excitement of sex is mystery. Sex made too explicit becomes sexless.

"Most people don't care to see movies that make them feel like Peeping Toms.

"The most glorious producer of sex was David Selznick, and he got his effects through close-ups of faces and the eyes. He rarely got below the neck."

Heads Post

LANSING (AP) — Colin McGregor, who joined the State Purchasing Division 16 years ago, has been named assistant chief of purchasing for the State of Michigan.

The announcement was made by George Washington, director of the Department of Administration.

Blue Collar Unit Demands Ouster Of Mayor Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 2,000 blue collar workers returned Monday to the scene of a violent confrontation with antiwar students and marched around City Hall shouting USA all the way!"

They also shouted "Lindsay must go!" and handed out leaflets demanding the resignation of, Sid Davidoff, an aide to Mayor John V. Lindsay who was involved in the bloody melee on Friday.

During Friday's confrontation, a number of students at nearby Pace College were beaten by construction workers who marched from the Wall Street area to City Hall in a demonstration against peace rallies.

57 Hell-Bent Kids Cross Finish Line In Unusual Race

ADRIAN, Mich. (AP) — Out of 148 Hell - bent Adrian High School seniors, only 57 made it.

And it was a Swedish exchange student, Bjorn Cederwall. who got to Hell first.

The occasion was the annual "March to Hell," which was started eight years ago by Adrian High School seniors who wanted to demonstrate their physical fitness to the late President John F. Kennedy.

The first year, 18 seniors started out on the 44 - mile march from here to Hell, a tiny Lenawee County community reached by following M 52 in southeastern Lower Michigan.

Only about three finished the inaugural "March to Hell" and it lasted from 5 a.m. until 8:30 p.m.

The Swedish winner made it Saturday in 8¾ hours by alternately walking and running every five miles.

One youngster who beat everybody was disqualified because he roller - skated the whole distance.

Tech Planning 'Protest' Park

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — The college antiwar movement has taken what its backers feel is a responsive, constructive turn at Michigan Tech University. The protesters are building a park.

The park is shaping up adjacent to the Catholic chapel on the edge of the campus and is planned as a symbolic protest by some Tech students to the expanded American role in the war in Indochina and the killing of four Kent State students last week.

University President Raymond L. Smith and 300 cadets in the Reserve Officer Training Corp. (ROTC) program were to turn out today to continue clearing the one - acre wooded site. Some 1,000 students began the work Monday.

"We'd rather have them (ROTC cadets) working with us instead of a few of us marching on ROTC headquarters to protest," said Neil Kaiser, president of the student government.

"We wanted to do something constructive," said Kaiser, a senior from Melvindale. "All the publicity in the last few weeks has been negative."

The desire to be constructive led to the park idea. It will be dedicated later this spring after picnic tables and grills are installed. A plaque explaining the students' work will be installed.

"We wanted to impress on the public that there are young people who are against the war, but not burning down buildings," said Jerry Blackburn, a junior from Dearborn.

Isabella

Abortion Reform Backers Foresee Possible Victory

LANSING (AP) — Backers of abortion reform legislation, defeated last week in the Michigan Senate, made a last - ditch attempt today to round up the needed votes to pass the bill.

After huddling late Monday night with a representative of Gov. William Milliken, who endorsed the bill, major proponents remained undecided about when to try for the reconsideration that had been slated for today.

"There are some votes we're not sure of," explained Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, sponsor of the bill that would allow any woman resident to obtain a legal abortion during the first 90 days of pregnancy.

The measure was defeated last Wednesday by a 17-19 vote, three short of the 20 votes needed for passage.

Briefly Told

Bay de Noc Encampment No. 174 will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 13.

The senior citizens will meet at the civic center Wednesday night at 7 p.m. for a card social. Lunch will be served.

The monthly dinner meeting for Escanaba Area Jaycees will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Dells. Election of officers will be held and all members are to attend.

The Class of 1950 reunion planning committee will hold a meeting at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Barbara Douglas, 1632 S. 16th St. Any classmates living in the area are urged to attend.

Soo Hill PTA will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 at the school gym. A Science and Hobby Fair will be presented and a brief discussion will be held on the school picnic, which will be held June 7 at Pioneer Trail Park. Lunch will be served by the kindergarten room mothers, Mrs. Ed Terras and Mrs. Kenneth Couchene.

Guests in attendance at the Bay de Noc Toastmaster Club Monday evening at the Sherman Hotel were Dr. N. J. Theisen of Escanaba and Bernard Grenier, Garden. Both participated in Table Topics directed by Richard Barron. Fred Fisher gave invocation and served as master evaluator for the formal speaking program. Speeches were given by Jim Jahnke, who was evaluated by Walt Peterson. Arthur Brien was evaluated by William L. Miller and Tom DcDermott by Al Piquette. The grammarian was Ray Chase. Dick Powell served as toastmaster.

The following officers were omitted from the article published in Monday's Press: Mrs. Ray (Erna) DeLoughary, junior vice commander and Mrs. Vern (Doris) Rasmusson, chaplain.

Ted Broeders, 209 N. 5th St., Wells, reported that sometime during the past three days a dark green, two man pup tent, valued at $30, was taken from his unlocked garage, according to State Police. Officers are investigating.

The Gladstone Golf Club, women's league, will play open golf Thursday, followed by dinner at the clubhouse. Reservations should be made at the club by Wednesday. The committee in charge includes: Grace Vanderhoff, Millie Stenlund and Florence Burke.

Canada Is Having Inflation Problems

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Canada, too, is having its problems with inflation, which suggests that the persistence of this malady in the United States Economy may not be solely the result of an improper approach to the problem.

Canada, however, is attacking the problem a bit more directly. Unlike the United states, where the defeat of inflation is expected to be a natural result of an economic slowdown, Canada is considering direct credit controls.

Voluntary Restraints

Moreover, the Canadian government already has developed a program of voluntary restraints on prices and wages that has met with some success during the past few months, although the exact amount cannot be measured.

Here is a comparison of results in the battle against inflation:

Consumer Price Increases: In Canada, nearly 5 per cent, in the United States close to 6 per cent.

Unemployment: In Canada, slightly more than 5 per cent on an annual basis. In the United States, 4.8 per cent in April and rising swiftly.

Output Advances

Industrial Output: In Canada, continuing at a slow pace but showing signs of perking up. In the United States, at a standstill or even falling back some.

Budget: Canada's is in surplus, meaning that the government is restricting economic activity. The U.S. budget also calls for a surplus, but many doubts are arising about the feasbility of this in either fiscal 1970 or 1971.

Perhaps the biggest difference is in the interpretation of economists. Many economists believe the United States is in the midst of a mild recession, based on declines in production. Canada's economy is still expanding.

Similar Problems

The two economies are suffering from such similar problems, however, that the approach to the future in one country may have lessons for the other.

In Canada, the government is considering measures that would restrain the economy even more. Higher taxes are an outside possibility for later this year if prices and wages continue to rise.

That possibility becomes less remote when the wage situation is reviewed. New wage contracts have averaged 9 per cent higher this year, threatening to put inflationary pressures beneath prices. Contract negotiations involve twice as many workers this year as last.

The biggest difference between the United States and Canadian approaches is in the attitude toward credit. The government of Prime Minister Trudeau has proposed consumer credit controls and legislation is planned for June.

Do you wish you had more faith in God?

Industry Did 'Its Thing' In Political Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industry has been allowed to veto prospective members of at least two major government scientific advisory committees in the past five years, Secretary Robert H. Finch of Health, Education and Welfare has acknowledged.

Involved were vetoes over positions on the surgeon general's committee on smoking and health and the surgeon general's committee on behavioral effects of television violence, Finch said.

"In each case, members of the affected industries were given a long list of potential candidates for the committee and were invited to indicate any doubts they might have concerning the scientific impartiality of any of the individuals on that list," Finch said in a letter to Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont.

"When the surgeon general selected members for service on these advisory committees, he did not select individuals to whom there were objections raised by members of the industry," he wrote. "The government was looking for individuals without a previous commitment to one side of the controversy or another."

Finch said the broadcasting industry objected to seven of 40 candidates for the television-violence committee. No indication was given of the number of smoking and health panelists vetoed by cigarette manufacturers.

Antismoking forces and critics of television violence were not given similar veto powers, HEW sources said. Furthermore, Finch's April 22 letter was the first public acknowledgement of the veto practice.

"As a general rule, HEW does not provide industry with an opportunity to review nominations for membership to an advisory committee affecting that industry," Finch wrote. "Nevertheless, there have been exceptions to the general policy when it is in the public interest."

The secretary said vetoes were provided "to protect the government from the charge of establishing a biased committee."

"It was probable in each case that the report of the advisory committee would contain substantial criticism of the industry," he said.

"In addition, since protection of the First Amendment rights of the television industry is so important, it was considered essential that the government be protected from any possible charge that it was intimidating the broadcasting industry," Finch wrote.

The smoking panel reviewed some 11,000 research reports and concluded in 1964 there was a causal link between cigarettes and lung cancer. The violence committee has yet to report.

Members of the 12-man television panel include Thomas Coffin, a vice president of the National Broadcasting Co., and Joseph Klapper, a special research director for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Voters To Make Senator Choice In Two States

By The Associated Press

Voters in Nebraska and West Virginia ballot today to choose candidates for the U.S. Senate. In Newark, N.J., six candidates vie in a mayoral election that appears headed for a runoff.

Incumbent Sens. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, a Democrat, and Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, a Republican, were considered strong favorites for renominations.

Byrd, seeking a third term, was opposed by John J. McOwen, a Huntington lawyer whose only previous political try was an unsuccessful campaign in the 1950s.

There was no GOP candidate for Byrd's post. But the vacancy can be filled by action of the Republican executive committee in time for the general election.

West Virginia's five incumbent representatives—all Democrats—were seeking renomination. All but Rep. Harley O. Staggers, chairman of the House Commerce Committee, faced opposition.

In Nebraska, Hruska faced only token opposition in the GOP primary. In the Democratic race, former Gov. Frank B. Morrison faced lively competition from Wallace C. Peterson, University of Nebraska Economics Department chairman.

DOWN 320 POUNDS — Donald Kornblith, 40, Chicago, shows how his bathrobe fit him before he reduced his weight from 560 to 240 pounds. It involved a risky intestinal bypass operation plus surgical removal of 40 pounds of fat. Food now passes by only a few inches of intestinal wall so he receives little caloric effect from eating.

Mills Sticking With Liberal Trade Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A long-time supporter of the U.S. policy of seeking freer trade says mounting imports have put Congress in a mood to drastically revise that approach.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said the feeling is growing that U.S. trading partners are dragging their heels on voluntary negotiations and will be moved only by passage of quota legislation.

He spoke out as the committee opened hearings Monday on foreign trade.

Chief trade negotiator Carl J. Gilbert said the Nixon administration prefers voluntary solutions and "we believe we are making headway."

But Mills asked him if he were aware that 299 of the 430 House members have introduced quota bills of one kind or another, including 20 of the 25 Ways and Means members. Co-sponsors of one textile and footwear quota bill introduced by Mills himself number 184, he said.

"I haven't changed my mind one iota about the desirability of retaining a liberal trade policy, but there is a growing feeling that our present system is not working," Mills said.

Disagreeing with Gilbert's estimate that additional relief provisions for import-harmed industries sought by the administration would calm the situation, Mills said:

"The irritations are driving us in a direction I don't like to see us go—toward protectionism, nationalism in trade."

He asked Gilbert whether there was enough in the administration measure—which would ease the standards for affording special tariff relief to hard-hit industries—to check the growth of protectionist feeling.

"I think there is enough in the bill if it is aggressively enough pursued by the administration," Gilbert said. "I think this gives the administration all the power it needs to do a good job."

Veteran Dies

LANSING (AP) — Phoebe Electa Hamilton, one of Michigan's few remaining Civil War Widows, died Monday at a nursing home in the Clare County community of Farwell. She was 94.

She was once married to William Lawrence, a Union soldier who fought in the battle of Shiloh. He died in 1920.

Isabella

4-H Club

The Isabella 4-H Club organized May 2 will include children from east to Garden Corners on U.S. 2; south on the Nahma Road to the golf course; west to the west section line of Section 1-T40N-R20W; and north to county road 440.

4-H leaders for various groups are Mrs. Ron Fenby, Mrs. Wallace Nelson, Mrs. Marty Olson, Mrs. Harvey Sundin, Mrs. Dale Watchorn, Mrs. Lyle Nedeau, Ron Fenby, Ted Nelson, Mrs. Henry Legault.

Projects include fishing trips, motor repair, cookouts, and sewing. The club will hold monthly meetings on the first Tuesday of every month at the Isabella hall.

Birthday Party

Helen and Patty Jo Olson celebrated their birthdays recently at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Olson. A birthday cake centered the dinner table. Present were Kevin, Lorna, Janis and Russ Guertin, their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Olson, and brothers, Eddie, Rickey and Scotty.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Clausen of Milwaukee, Wis. spent the Mother's Dal weekend with her parents, the Raymond Nedeaus.

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Canada, too, is having its problems with inflation, which suggests that the persistence of this malady in the United States Economy may not be solely the result of an improper approach to the problem.

Canada, however, is attacking the problem a bit more directly. Unlike the United states, where the defeat of inflation is expected to be a natural result of an economic slowdown, Canada is considering direct credit controls.

Voluntary Restraints

Moreover, the Canadian government already has developed a program of voluntary restraints on prices and wages that has met with some success during the past few months, although the exact amount cannot be measured.

Here is a comparison of results in the battle against inflation:

Consumer Price Increases: In Canada, nearly 5 per cent, in the United States close to 6 per cent.

Unemployment: In Canada, slightly more than 5 per cent on an annual basis. In the United States, 4.8 per cent in April and rising swiftly.

Output Advances

Industrial Output: In Canada, continuing at a slow pace but showing signs of perking up. In the United States, at a standstill or even falling back some.

Budget: Canada's is in surplus, meaning that the government is restricting economic activity. The U.S. budget also calls for a surplus, but many doubts are arising about the feasbility of this in either fiscal 1970 or 1971.

Perhaps the biggest difference is in the interpretation of economists. Many economists believe the United States is in the midst of a mild recession, based on declines in production. Canada's economy is still expanding.

Similar Problems

The two economies are suffering from such similar problems, however, that the approach to the future in one country may have lessons for the other.

In Canada, the government is considering measures that would restrain the economy even more. Higher taxes are an outside possibility for later this year if prices and wages continue to rise.

That possibility becomes less remote when the wage situation is reviewed. New wage contracts have averaged 9 per cent higher this year, threatening to put inflationary pressures beneath prices. Contract negotiations involve twice as many workers this year as last.

The biggest difference between the United States and Canadian approaches is in the attitude toward credit. The government of Prime Minister Trudeau has proposed consumer credit controls and legislation is planned for June.

Lucille Cholger was installed as president of Hiawatha Post 2998 VFW Monday evening by Past President Margaret Doucette.

Other Auxiliary officers installed included: Ethel Monson, Senior Vice President; Erva Deloughary, Junior Vice President; Lillian Anderson, Chaplain; Cecil Buckholtz, Conductress; Olga Matthews, Secretary; Margaret Doucette, Treasurer; Mary Stoykovich, Patriotics instructor; Helen Herbeck, Guard; Catherine Woolford, Banner Bearer; Elaine Banbeau, Flag Bearer; Dorothy Beauchamp, Florence Gill, Ethel Raffaelli and Stella Brazeau, Color Bearers; Junie Green, Trustee; Rose Olson, musician.

Applications for membership were received from Elenore Petaja and Patricia Amerhamson. Marcella Richer and Dorothy Beauchamp were re-instated into the auxiliary at the session.

A Past President's pin was awarded to outgoing president, Norma Lou Thibodeau.

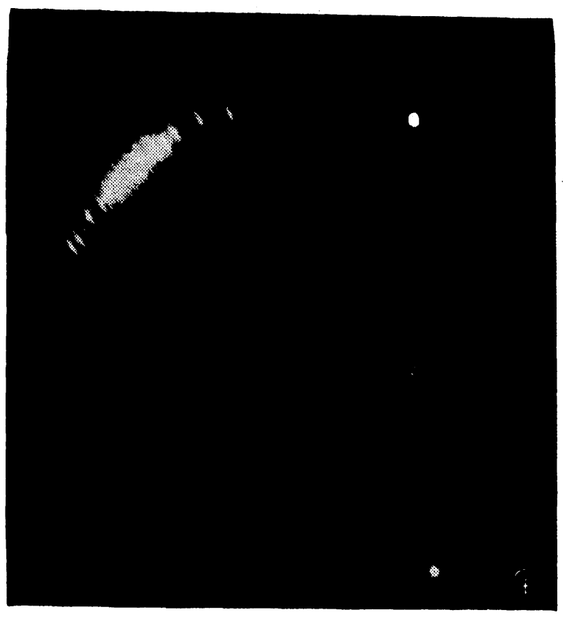
Former Pupil In Quandery Over Deeds In School

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — The La Crosse school system's library is the beneficiary of two $20 bills that accompany an unsigned letter in which the author related some misbehavior years ago.

"Many years ago, in the fourth or fifth grade, I took some school things—mostly like a box of thumbtacks, a box of paints," School Supt. Edsel Vergin was told in the letter.

"Also, I did take some money from the teacher's desk and some story books," it said. "I am so sorry now. You are short of money to buy things. Please buy more library books."



OKLAHOMA SHOOK UP — This is the "UFO thing" released at Washington University, St. Louis, that shook up Oklahomans produced a rash of telephone calls asking about a UFO. At 121,000 feet it eluded a 75,000-foot radar ceiling, so authorities got shook up a bit, too. It is a silver balloon used in research, with 15,000 pounds of instrumentation. It measures 150 yards by 500 yards.

New Law Covers Motorcyclists

Any Michigan licensed driver who operates a motorcycle will have to qualify for a special license endorsement when he gets his driver license on or after this June. 1

"This does not mean that everyone who operates a motorcycle must rush right down on June 1 or shortly thereafter to get their endorsement," cautions Secretary of State James M. Hare. "They get it at the time their licenses come up for renewal or when they get their first licenses."

Motorcycle operators who obtain regular operator driver licenses between now and June 1 may legally operate motorcycles without the endorsement for nearly three years before they must qualify under Michigan's new law.

As an example, a driver renewing his regular operator's license in late May, 1970, has until the license comes up for renewal in May of 1973 before he has to obtain a cycle endorsement.

The new laws involving cycles are designed to make sure persons are capable of operating them safely, that they know the rules of the road pertaining to cycles, and that the cycles presented for qualifying are in good operating condition with the necessary equipment.

Hare said he wasn't "absolutely sure" how many motorcycle operators there were in Michigan.

Cycle registrations are up around 150,000. Estimates on the number of motorcycle operators range from 250,000 to 400,000.

Fees under the new law are $3 for the first endorsement and $1.50 for renewals.

According to Hare, there is no provision in the law for a motorcycle learner's permit. In the case of an applicant obtaining his first license, he must make arrangements to get his cycle to the tests area for the riding test. He may not drive it there himself.

Hare further reminded cycle owners of the state helmet law, already in effect.

"Every person on a moving cycle must wear a helmet... on his head" said Hare." This may sound like I'm trying to be funny, but we heve heard of persons wearing approved helmets on their knees, elbows, or having them dangling on other parts of their bodies."

Cycle equipment which will be checked under the new law must meet certain standards. Checked will be brakes, head and tail lamps, stop lamps, mufflers, horns, rear-view mirrors and seats. Cycle owners are warned not to alter or remove any item of required equipment.

School Official, Family Victims Of Poisoning

OKEMOS, Mich. (AP) — The executive director of the Michigan Association of School Boards, his wife, who headed the federal Head Start program in Michigan, and three of their four children were found dead Monday in their home in Okemos, a prosperous Lansing suburb.

Authorities said the deaths apparently were due to accidental carbon monoxide poisoning.

Killed were Donald Tatroe, 41; his wife, Marianne, 41; and their children Donald Jr., 14; Phillip, 10, and Thomas, 9. Their 19-year-old daughter Deborah, a student at Michigan State University in nearby East Lansing, was not at home.

Ingham County deputies said the deaths apparently were caused by furnace fumes which were forced into the house by bricks which had been piled on a furnace flue. Authorities said the backup of fumes aparently began when the family fired up a swimming pool heater.

Students Eye Antiwar Test For Politicians

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of college students, schooled in legislative lobby techniques, are popping into Capitol Hill offices and hinting at a failing grade at the polls for congressmen flunking their antiwar test.

Encouraged and sometimes accompanied by sympathetic university and college administrators and faculty, students have come from campuses across the nation to talk about America's role in Southeast Asia with friends and foes in the Senate and House.

"We may be able to make some converts," Charles I. Schottland, acting president of Brandeis University, told more than 500 young men and women from Eastern schools who jammed into a House hearing room Monday. He said they represented 35 states.

Rep. Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., told the students to ask congressmen "what they are doing in terms of closing out this war now—and tell them if they continue to support the war you are going to oppose them in their districts" when they seek re-election. That drew a burst of applause.

At other meeting rooms scattered across Capitol Hill, groups gathered from such campuses as Yale, California, Virginia and Minnesota universities, plus a host of smaller schools.

Switching from street demonstrations to lobbying in the halls of Congress, the students sought out home-state senators and representatives for face-to-face discussions—some of them private, most of them public.

Many students had done their homework. They were prepared with voting records and home-district strengths and weaknesses of their congressmen; they had background information on key resolutions.

They also were boning up on the language of parliamentary procedure to keep track of measures moving through the legislative process.

Most students concentrated on congressmen publicly uncommitted on such proposals as halting funds for U.S. operations in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia except for the withdrawal of American forces.

They received an information kit that contained helpful hints on how to get around on Capitol Hill—including instructions on eating and tourist facilities.

Yale President Kingman Brewster, among the administrators attending the meetings with congressmen, said he was pleased by the reception. But, he added, "the test will be action—not the cosmetics of hospitality."

Policeman Helps Others, Loses Own Way At Meeting

MUSKEGON (AP) — A sense of direction should be part of any traffic policeman's life, but Muskegon Sgt. William Hicks must be wondering about his own.

Hicks presided at a recent meeting of women school crossing guards in the basement of Muskegon's City Hall. He expressed considerable concern about whether the women would be able to find the rather obscure meeting site.

The women had no trouble.

"If any of you ladies have any trouble finding your way out," he announced, "just use one of these telephones, dial zero, and we'll have an officer come down and help you out."

Hicks then opened the door and walked into a closet.

Former Pupil In Quandery Over Deeds In School

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — The La Crosse school system's library is the beneficiary of two $20 bills that accompany an unsigned letter in which the author related some misbehavior years ago.

"Many years ago, in the fourth or fifth grade, I took some school things—mostly like a box of thumbtacks, a box of paints," School Supt. Edsel Vergin was told in the letter.

"Also, I did take some money from the teacher's desk and some story books," it said. "I am so sorry now. You are short of money to buy things. Please buy more library books."

At 121,000 feet it eluded a 75,000-foot radar ceiling, so authorities got shook up a bit, too. It is a silver balloon used in research, with 15,000 pounds of instrumentation. It measures 150 yards by 500 yards.

New Law Covers Motorcyclists

Any Michigan licensed driver who operates a motorcycle will have to qualify for a special license endorsement when he gets his driver license on or after this June. 1

"This does not mean that everyone who operates a motorcycle must rush right down on June 1 or shortly thereafter to get their endorsement." cautions Secretary of State James M. Hare. "They get it at the time their licenses come up for renewal or when they get their first licenses."

Motorcycle operators who obtain regular operator driver licenses between now and June 1 may legally operate motorcycles without the endorsement for nearly three years before they must qualify under Michigan's new law.

As an example, a driver renewing his regular operator's license in late May, 1970, has until the license comes up for renewal in May of 1973 before he has to obtain a cycle endorsement.

Women Seek Charter To Operate Bank

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Nine women who say their sex for too long has gone untrained in matters of finance are seeking a state charter to establish and operate a bank.

The First Women's Bank of Florida would be near the retirment center on the southern end of Miami Beach.

"We hope our bank would be used as a proving ground to train women to take care of their financial matters," says Mrs. Mal Englander, a 45-year-old grandmother and chairman of the board for the proposed facility.

"We realize that all women would like to predecease their husbands but the facts of life are that we don't. And whether women handle any of the financial matters or not, we would like for them to be able to face it calmly and with knowledge.

"Many women fear just the word 'bank.' We would like to make bank a household word."

In Tallahassee, state Banking Commissioner Fred O. Dickinson Jr. said the application for a charter listed capitalization of $1 million. He said the women's request would be handled routinely, with a decision later this year.

"If this application is approved," Dickinson said, "it would be to my knowledge the first such bank in the country."

Mrs. Englander, wife of a former Miami Beach city councilman, and eight other women were listed as directors.

"We've had limited banking experience," Mrs. Englander said, "but I believe you will find that most men who establish banks also did not have prior banking experience."

The directors range in age from the late 20s to the early 50s.

"We have lined up women with intensive backgrounds who will be in charge of the bank itself. All the top officers will be women," she said.

Men also will be employed by the bank, and their accounts would be welcomed, Mrs. Englander said.

Director Phyllis Cole, 32 and a divorcee, is vice president of the Florida Consumers Association, Inc.

Mrs. Cole noted that much of the wealth in the Miami Beach area is controlled by widows but she added: "Men build it up and a lot of women are bilked out of it because they find themselves in a muddle."

Never beat egg whites so long that they lose their glossiness; overbeaten egg whites become dry and begin to lose volume.

Mrs. Paul M. Woolford (Paul Blewett Photo)

Sandra Smith Bride Of Paul M. Woolford

Officiating at the nuptials was the Rev. Norbert Freiburger. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of 914 Sheridan Road and Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Woolford, 210 N. 13th St.

Honor attendants for the couple were Sharon Smith and Tom Woolford, both of Escanaba. Miss Smith was attired in an empire styled mint green chiffon over taffeta gown with a matching veil and she carried a bouquet of daisies and baby mums with green trim.

Lace, Sheer

A Chantilly lace petal headpiece centered with rosettes held her nylon illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of daisies, baby green mums and baby's breath. During the ceremony, the bride placed a single red rose at the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Mother's Attire

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Smith selected a mint green dress with white accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a three piece dark camel and natural knit suit with matching accessories. Both mothers were presented corsages to complete their attire.

The reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents. After a wedding trip to Wisconsin, the couple will reside at 118 S. 5th St., Wells.

The bride is a graduate of Escanaba Area High School and is presently employed at Town and Country Motors. Mr. Woolford is a graduate of Holy Name High School and is employed by the Harnischfeger Corp.

Women Seek Charter To Operate Bank

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Nine women who say their sex for too long has gone untrained in matters of finance are seeking a state charter to establish and operate a bank.

The First Women's Bank of Florida would be near the retirment center on the southern end of Miami Beach.

"We hope our bank would be used as a proving ground to train women to take care of their financial matters," says Mrs. Mal Englander, a 45-year-old grandmother and chairman of the board for the proposed facility.

"We realize that all women would like to predecease their husbands but the facts of life are that we don't. And whether women handle any of the financial matters or not, we would like for them to be able to face it calmly and with knowledge.

"Many women fear just the word 'bank.' We would like to make bank a household word."

In Tallahassee, state Banking Commissioner Fred O. Dickinson Jr. said the application for a charter listed capitalization of $1 million. He said the women's request would be handled routinely, with a decision later this year.

"If this application is approved," Dickinson said, "it would be to my knowledge the first such bank in the country."

Mrs. Englander, wife of a former Miami Beach city councilman, and eight other women were listed as directors.

"We've had limited banking experience," Mrs. Englander said, "but I believe you will find that most men who establish banks also did not have prior banking experience."

The directors range in age from the late 20s to the early 50s.

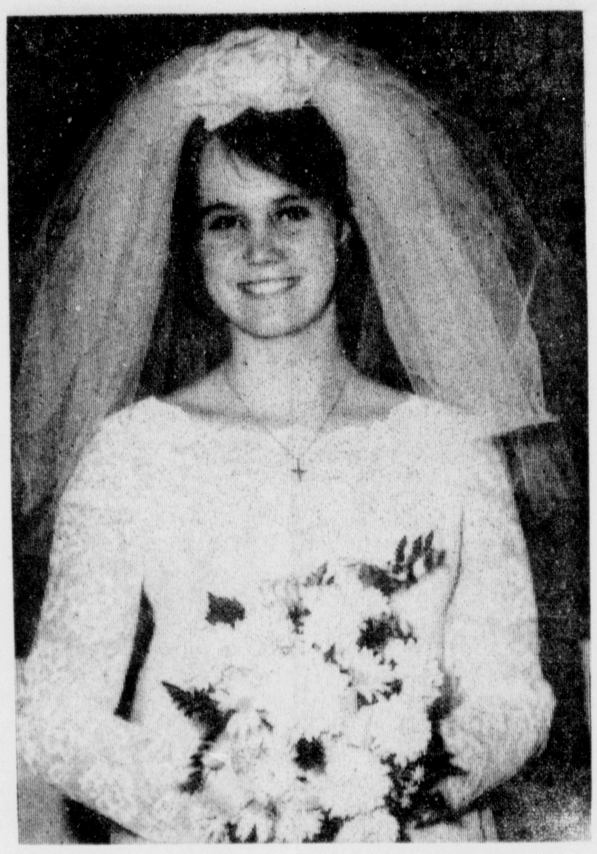
"We have lined up women with intensive backgrounds who will be in charge of the bank itself. All the top officers will be women," she said.

Men also will be employed by the bank, and their accounts would be welcomed, Mrs. Englander said.

Director Phyllis Cole, 32 and a divorcee, is vice president of the Florida Consumers Association, Inc.

Mrs. Cole noted that much of the wealth in the Miami Beach area is controlled by widows but she added: "Men build it up and a lot of women are bilked out of it because they find themselves in a muddle."

Never beat egg whites so long that they lose their glossiness; overbeaten egg whites become dry and begin to lose volume.



Mrs. Paul M. Woolford (Paul Blewett Photo)

Sandra Smith Bride Of Paul M. Woolford

Officiating at the nuptials was the Rev. Norbert Freiburger. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of 914 Sheridan Road and Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Woolford, 210 N. 13th St.

Honor attendants for the couple were Sharon Smith and Tom Woolford, both of Escanaba. Miss Smith was attired in an empire styled mint green chiffon over taffeta gown with a matching veil and she carried a bouquet of daisies and baby mums with green trim.

Lace, Sheer

A Chantilly lace petal headpiece centered with rosettes held her nylon illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of daisies, baby green mums and baby's breath. During the ceremony, the bride placed a single red rose at the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Mother's Attire

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Smith selected a mint green dress with white accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a three piece dark camel and natural knit suit with matching accessories. Both mothers were presented corsages to complete their attire.

The reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents. After a wedding trip to Wisconsin, the couple will reside at 118 S. 5th St., Wells.

The bride is a graduate of Escanaba Area High School and is presently employed at Town and Country Motors. Mr. Woolford is a graduate of Holy Name High School and is employed by the Harnischfeger Corp.

Guests Attend Isabella Circle Meet On Monday

Trinity Circle 362, Daughters of Isabella met last evening at the Teamster's Hall with 58 members in attendance.

The Rev. Theodore Brodeur, new chaplain for the Circle, was also present at the meeting and was given the short from of initiation.

Other special guests included: Mrs. Grace Elliot, regent of the Iron Mountain circle, who personally extended an invitation to the Escanaba members to attend the state convention to be held in Iron Mountain June 16-19.

Other officers attending from the Iron Mountain Circle were Ceil Beaudry, Anna L. Webb, Ruby Delaware and Evelyn Furno.

Following the meeting cards of the player's choice were played with individual table awards and guest awards presented. Mrs. Louis Dufour and her committee were hostesses for the evening.

A "beau" like Brummell, in the first stare of Regency England fashion, eagerly replaced his low tricorne with the completely new, top hat. It was called sugar loaf, not in any connection with sweet taste, but because it was tall and flat-topped like the sugar of the nineteenth century. Comparison however, stopped with price. The hat was high, but in this so-called "Age of Elegance" the cost of sugar was a low 5 to 5½ pence per pound.

A "beau" like Brummell, in the first stare of Regency England fashion, eagerly replaced his low tricorne with the completely new, top hat. It was called sugar loaf, not in any connection with sweet taste, but because it was tall and flat-topped like the sugar of the nineteenth century. Comparison however, stopped with price. The hat was high, but in this so-called "Age of Elegance" the cost of sugar was a low 5 to 5½ pence per pound.

Fisherman Goes On Trial; Many Witnesses Called

Jury trial continued today in District Court before Judge Dean Shipman in the case of Emil D. Vetter, 35, Fairport commercial fisherman charged with operating without a proper license.

As of 11:30 this morning, Delta County Prosecuting Attorney John Beauchamp had brought five witnesses to the stand for testimony, including Leland Anderson, fish biologist at Newberry for the Department of Natural Resources; Thomas Peterson of Fayette, a fisherman; Royal Tallman of Munising, a fisherman; Jason Groll of Fayette, a logger; and Roger Tallman of Munising, a fisherman, who was excused as a witness because of a pending case in which he is charged with failing to exhibit a commercial fishing license on demand of officers and violation of commercial fishing license provisions.

Seven other witnesses were also excused by Judge Shipman when court convened this morning.

The trial stems from an incident which occurred on Tuesday, March 31, when Department of Natural Resources officers allegedly were obstructed in the performance of their duties at the commercial fish dock in Fairport.

Vetter pleaded innocent to the charge in District Court on Friday, April 3, and was released on $100 personal recognizance bond to appear for trial.

Beauchamp had 11 witnesses testify on behalf of the prosecution Monday after a jury of four women and two men had been selected in the morning session.

Beauchamp called Ned Vogel, who is from the commercial fish division of the Department of Natural Resources, and John Snyder, the piolt of the plane that surveyed the area on the day of the incident, in the morning.

After the trial reconvened Monday afternoon, Beauchamp brought to the stand Albert Livington, the regional firs chief for the Department of Natural Resources who was a passenger in the plan flown by Snyder, Michael DeVet, Hector Peterson, Wayne Season, Roland Gauthier, William Ward, Pat Casey, Norman Casey and Leslie DeVet, all commercial fisherman from Fairport.

John Berish, Jack Beecher, Evelyn Savard, Elaine Pepin, Lois Berg and Agnes Baribeau were selected to the jury for the trial.

Fishermen Pay For Violations

Officers of the Department of Natural Resources report the arrest of seven persons for violation of Michigan fish laws and one person for a boating violation.

Robert W. Merhalski and Phillip R. Gehlhoff, both of Florence Wis., were arrested in Delta County on April 24 for taking of fish without a license, Both plead guilty at their arraignment on May 5 in District Court, and were each ordered by Judge Dean Shipman, to pay fines of $5 and $9 court costs.

Phillip I Hiney, 307 1st Ave. S., Escanaba, Thomas C. Blesch, Sturgis, Mich., and Albert Laaksonen Kalamazoo, Mich., were arrested in Alger County on May 1 for taking, or aiding and abetting in the taking, of rainbow trout by use of a hand landing net, from the Mosquito River.

They were arraigned before Magistrate Cliff Liberty in Munising, and each paid fines of $25, court costs of $16, and $15 for liquidating damages.

David J. Brock, and Richard R. Burke, both of Munising, were arrested in Alger County on May 9 for attempting to take fish by use of a spear, from waters closed to spearing.

They were arraigned before Magistrate Cliff Liberty in Munising and both paid fines of $25 and court costs of $13.

George A. Johnson, 820½ Delta Ave., Gladstone, was arrested in Delta County on April 28, for operating an unregistered motor boat.

He was arraigned before Judge Dean Shipman on May 1 and ordered to pay $6 court costs.

Alf Johnson Taken By Death

Alf Johnson, 48, of 15558 Dixie, Detroit died May 9 at the Veteran's Hospital in Allen Park.

He was born Nov. 25, 1921 in Ogama, Wis., and was employed as a machine operator for the Ford Motor Co. He was a member of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church of Detroit and was a veteran of World War II..

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. John V. Johnson; two sisters, Mrs. Leander (Ingrid) Johnson of Livonia and Mrs. Arvid (Mildred) Johnson; two nieces, four nephews and two grandnephews.

Friends may call at the Anderson-Johns Funeral Home from 4 to 9 p.m. Friday and funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the funeral home chapel with the Rev. Reuben Carlson officiating. Burial will be in Fernwood Cemetery.

MSEA Dinner Well Attended

Approximately 70 persons turned out to hear John Visser, state president of the Michigan State Employes Association, speak at the MSEA's Chapter 58 dinner held Monday evening at the Dells Supper Club.

Other honored guests at the dinner were John Doyle, executive secretary of MSEA; Richard Maki, regional director and Keith White, regional director Richard Harris is the Chapter 58 president.

Visser began the annual presidential tour of the Upper Peninsula with his visit to Escanaba Monday night. He spoke on the growing restlessness on the part of public employes and that all problems can be solved by "bzrain power" instead of "brute power."

Visser defined "brain power" as "where one can, through sheer intellectual compelence, move strategically to remove the inequities in civil service to affect the changes needed and wanted."

He also told those attending that they must always act responsibily. "Strong and vigorous, yes, but always responsibly."

Doyle brought out that when MSEA started approximately 20 years ago it had nothing, but now it is the prodominant force among the employes of the State of Michigan.

Hospital Clinic Program Set For Escanaba May 19

Upper Peninsula physicians with patients facing special problems in obstetrics, gynecology, internal medicine, and surgery will have the advice of four medical school professors at six hospital clinic programs May 18-19-20.

The clinics, arranged by the Michigan State Medical Society and the component medical societies in the Upper Peninsula, will be held at Escanaba, Houghton, Iron Mountain, Ironwood, Menominee and Sault Ste. Marie. Discussions are underway already for a possible series of fall clinics to include Marquette adn other possible communities.

"Two teams of medical school professors will crisscross the Upper Peninsula to help physicians to better serve their patients," reports Harry A. Towsley, M.D., chairman of the medical society continuing medical education committee. Sault Ste. Marie, Escanaba and Menominee will have one set of clinics; and Houghton, Ironwood, and Iron Mountain will have another.

Coming to Sault St. Marie May 18, Escanaba May 19 and Menominee May 20 will be physicians specializing in obstetrics and gynecology and in drug abuse. The professors — Edwin P. Peterson, M.D., and Henry H. Swain, M.D., both of the University of Michigan — will confer in the afternoon at hospital clinics with physicians on their specialities.

Local physicians will prepare special reports about problem cases they have, will show X-rays and lab reports, and likely will introduce their patients with the patients' permission. The symptoms and treatment will be discussed and advice given by the visiting experts.

In the six Upper Peninsula communities, the visiting medical school professors will stay on after the afternoon hospital clinics to present short lectures at the evening meetings of the six county and district medical societies.

Coordinating this continuing medical education program for the Michigan State Medical Society are J. Robert Franck, M.D., Wakefield; William A. LeMire, M.D., Escanaba, and John R. Heidenreich, M.D., Daggett.

Attain $15,000 For Rest Center

The $15,000 goal set by the City of Escanaba for the downtown rest facility has been reached, Manager Walter Lewke told members of the Board of Directors of the Escanaba Area Chamber of Commerce Monday at the Chamber building.

The City is asking those merchants who have not contributed to do so because of unforeseen expenses which have arisen and the cost estimates will exceed the $15,000 projected, Lewke added.

The Board recommended that the Chamber follow up on the suspected pollution of Little Bay de Noc by cargo vessels and pleasure craft. The Board further recommended that contacts be made with shippers to see what precautions are being used to prevent water pollution.

The Board of Directors approved memberships in the Chamber for American Cyanamid Company, assigned to Charles Burke, manager; Delona Restaurant, assigned to Frank Muse; and Dr. N. J. Theisen.

The Board heard a report of promotions scheduled by the Retail Division of the Chamber, Mrs. Angeline Hakes, chairman. A Lucky Number promotion is being advertised today for Wednesday shoppers; a Flea Circus chairmaned by Robert Shrader and Nicky Traverse for June and the annual Sidewalk Day scheduled for July.

The Tourism Committee, Fred Sayklly, chairman, will meet Tuesday, May 19 at the Chamber building to discuss the program of park activities such as log rolling, an archery tournament, etc.

The Board commended the committee in charge of Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up activities May 3—9 and for its diligence in calling the attention of the public to the desirability of cleaning up premises prior to the tourist season. They also expressed their appreciation to Boy Scouts who distributed plastic garbage bags to households in Escanaba. Gordon Anderson is chairman of the committee.

Co-Chairmen Dick Marenger and George Bathke reported that there would be a Garden Peninsula tour of a cattle operation and a new type bean growing process on Saturday, August 1, and extended an invitation to Board members as well as all members of the Chamber to join the tour. A dutch treat luncheon will be served by the Fayette 4-H group at noon, and if time permits, a tour will be conducted of the newest renovations at the Fayette State Park.

Bathke and Marenger also reported that the businessmen-farmers picnic will be held Sunday, August 9 from 1-4 p.m. at the youth building in the U. P. State Fair Grounds. President Thomas Straebel recommended that Board members and their wives, and the general membership of the Chamber attend the picnic with their wives, citing this as an excellent opportunity to become better acquainted with the rural community.

The Delta County Agricultural Booster Association has awarded two full scholarships to Christine Lancour, R. 1, Gladstone, graduating from Holy Name High School, and to Richard Lester, Garden, graduating from Big Bay de Noc High School, Bathke and Marenger, co-chairmen, also reported.

Schedule Armory Groundbreaking

Ground breaking ceremony for a new National Guard armory building at Gladstone is scheduled to be held 2 p.m. Thursday at the site south of the Athletic Field overlooking the bay.

Capt. Stephen Fraddo, commanding officer of Company C, 107th Engineers, today announced plans for the event that will mark start of construction of the armory.

Present for the ceremony will be Gen. Carson Niefert, Lansing, head of the Department of Military Affairs, and Col. Arthur Phillips of the engineering department of the Department of Military Affairs. Members of the Board of Military Affairs are also to be in attendance.

Representatives of Battalion Headquarters, 107th Engineers, Ishpeming, will be present, as will members of the Gladstone Armory Committee and members of the Gladstone City Commission.

The public is invited to join in the ceremonies that will mark culmination of years of planning and effort to bring the armory project to realization.

Field Leaders May Ask More Cleanup Time

Counter Action Feared

What worries some authorities here, however, is the possibility that North Vietnam may yet undertake some kind of counter action such as a political-military offensive against the present Cambodian government or a counterattack on allied forces.

This would confront Nixon and his military chiefs with a new situation—for which he already has closed his apparent options.

But officials also say the storm of opposition stirred up by his decision to send troops into Cambodia in the first place made it impossible for him to speak ambiguously about the limit of the assault.

Limitation Noted

Officials say that distance from the South Vietnamese border was picked because intelligence reports showed no important enemy bases beyond that line.

But one significant target is now said to be beyond the 21.7-mile limit, according to reports reaching Washington—the mobile command headquarters for the enemy military forces in South Vietnam.

Known as the Central Office for South Vietnam, or COSVN, this command unit is said by Washington authorities to consist of a fleet of radio communication trucks and jeeps, and command and staff transport rather than a fixed installation with buildings and bunkers.

Headquarters Target

When President Nixon announced April 30 that U.S. and South Vietnam forces were going after the sanctuaries, he said they "will attack the headquarters for the entire Communist military operation in South Vietnam"—wording suggesting a strongly held strategic center of critical importance.

Now, however, informants report that COSVN with its high level offices and communications equipment fled before the advancing allies. Furthermore, according to the best information available here, its transmitters have not been heard by U.S. monitoring stations since May 1.

Plan Downgraded

One assumption is the enemy command went into radio silence to prevent the allies from getting a position fix.

At the same time, its importance as a target for attack has been downgraded privately by officials.

Probe Continues In Reuther Crash

copilot, Joseph Karaffa, 41, both of Columbua, Ohio.

The UAW chartered the Lear Jet to fly from Detroit to Pellston, near where the union is constructing a family education center.

Contacted at Pellston, Abbott said the tests on the engines were being made as part of standard procedures. However, airport manager Clarence Tatro said it appeared to be the major activity being studied by investigators.

Outer Shell Burned

Tatro said the outer shell of the engines were burned, but the "rest of the engines were in pretty good shape."

Abbott said small parts of colored plexiglass from a plane's position lights and broken branches were found in the heavily forested area three-fourth of a mile from the crash.

However, airmen from Kincheloe Air Force base near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., scoured the area Monday between the apparent initial contact with the trees and the crash site without finding any additional objects.

To Plot Projected Path

A Coast Guard helicopter will be used today to plot the projected path of the plane.

Abbott said the pilot last made radio contact with the flight service at Pellston, at 9:25 p.m., when he was given the weather report, which included light rain. It crashed seven minutes later.

The plane was circling the airport for an approach to land from the northeast when it plummeted to the ground and exploded.

DNR Schedules State Hearing

LANSING (AP) — The Department of Natural Resources will conduct a public hearing Friday in Petoskey to hear testimony on its policy regarding leasing of state oil and gas rights.

The hearing will be in the junior high school auditorium, which seats about 1,000 persons.

The Legislature called on the department in March to postpone further sales of oil and gas lease rights until a public hearing could be held. The department then postponed a March 18 auction at which it had planned to sell rights on more than 79,000 acres.

Seven other witnesses were also excused by Judge Shipman when court convened this morning.

The trial stems from an incident which occurred on Tuesday, March 31, when Department of Natural Resources officers allegedly were obstructed in the performance of their duties at the commercial fish dock in Fairport.

Vetter pleaded innocent to the charge in District Court on Friday, April 3, and was released on $100 personal recognizance bond to appear for trial.

Beauchamp had 11 witnesses testify on behalf of the prosecution Monday after a jury of four women and two men had been selected in the morning session.

Beauchamp called Ned Vogel, who is from the commercial fish division of the Department of Natural Resources, and John Snyder, the piolt of the plane that surveyed the area on the day of the incident, in the morning.

After the trial reconvened Monday afternoon, Beauchamp brought to the stand Albert Livington, the regional firs chief for the Department of Natural Resources who was a passenger in the plan flown by Snyder, Michael DeVet, Hector Peterson, Wayne Season, Roland Gauthier, William Ward, Pat Casey, Norman Casey and Leslie DeVet, all commercial fisherman from Fairport.

John Bertsh, Jack Beecher, Evelyn Savard, Elaine Pepin, Lois Berg and Agnes Baribeau were selected to the jury for the trial.

Fishermen Pay For Violations

Officers of the Department of Natural Resources report the arrest of seven persons for violation of Michigan fish laws and one person for a boating violation.

Robert W. Merhalski and Phillip R. Gehlhoff, both of Florence Wis., were arrested in Delta County on April 24 for taking of fish without a license, Both plead guilty at their arraignment on May 5 in District Court, and were each ordered by Judge Dean Shipman, to pay fines of $5 and $9 court costs.

Phillip I Hiney, 307 1st Ave. S., Escanaba, Thomas C. Blesch, Sturgis, Mich., and Albert Laaksonen Kalamazoo, Mich., were arrested in Alger County on May 1 for taking, or aiding and abetting in the taking, of rainbow trout by use of a hand landing net, from the Mosquito River.

They were arraigned before Magistrate Cliff Liberty in Munising, and each paid fines of $25, court costs of $16, and $15 for liquidating damages.

David J. Brock, and Richard R. Burke, both of Munising, were arrested in Alger County on May 9 for attempting to take fish by use of a spear, from waters closed to spearing.

They were arraigned before Magistrate Cliff Liberty in Munising and both paid fines of $25 and court costs of $13.

George A. Johnson, 820½ Delta Ave., Gladstone, was arrested in Delta County on April 28, for operating an unregistered motor boat.

He was arraigned before Judge Dean Shipman on May 1 and ordered to pay $6 court costs.

MSEA Dinner Well Attended

Approximately 70 persons turned out to hear John Visser, state president of the Michigan State Employes Association, speak at the MSEA's Chapter 58 dinner held Monday evening at the Dells Supper Club.

Other honored guests at the dinner were John Doyle, executive secretary of MSEA; Richard Maki, regional director and Keith White, regional director Richard Harris is the Chapter 58 president.

Visser began the annual presidential tour of the Upper Peninsula with his visit to Escanaba Monday night. He spoke on the growing restlessness on the part of public employes and that all problems can be solved by "bzrain power" instead of "brute power."

Visser defined "brain power" as "where one can, through sheer intellectual compelence, move strategically to remove the inequities in civil service to affect the changes needed and wanted."

He also told those attending that they must always act responsibily. "Strong and vigorous, yes, but always responsibly."

Doyle brought out that when MSEA started approximately 20 years ago it had nothing, but now it is the prodominant force among the employes of the State of Michigan.

Hospital Clinic Program Set For Escanaba May 19

Upper Peninsula physicians with patients facing special problems in obstetrics, gynecology, internal medicine, and surgery will have the advice of four medical school professors at six hospital clinic programs May 18-19-20.

The clinics, arranged by the Michigan State Medical Society and the component medical societies in the Upper Peninsula, will be held at Escanaba, Houghton, Iron Mountain, Ironwood, Menominee and Sault Ste. Marie. Discussions are underway already for a possible series of fall clinics to include Marquette adn other possible communities.

"Two teams of medical school professors will crisscross the Upper Peninsula to help physicians to better serve their patients," reports Harry A. Towsley, M.D., chairman of the medical society continuing medical education committee. Sault Ste. Marie, Escanaba and Menominee will have one set of clinics; and Houghton, Ironwood, and Iron Mountain will have another.

Coming to Sault St. Marie May 18, Escanaba May 19 and Menominee May 20 will be physicians specializing in obstetrics and gynecology and in drug abuse. The professors — Edwin P. Peterson, M.D., and Henry H. Swain, M.D., both of the University of Michigan — will confer in the afternoon at hospital clinics with physicians on their specialties.

Local physicians will prepare special reports about problem cases they have, will show X-rays and lab reports, and likely will introduce their patients with the patients' permission. The symptoms and treatment will be discussed and advice given by the visiting experts.

In the six Upper Peninsula communities, the visiting medical school professors will stay on after the afternoon hospital clinics to present short lectures at the evening meetings of the six county and district medical societies.

Coordinating this continuing medical education program for the Michigan State Medical Society are J. Robert Franck, M.D., Wakefield; William A. LeMire, M.D., Escanaba, and John R. Heidenreich, M.D., Daggett.

Attain $15,000 For Rest Center

The $15,000 goal set by the City of Escanaba for the downtown rest facility has been reached, Manager Walter Lewke told members of the Board of Directors of the Escanaba Area Chamber of Commerce Monday at the Chamber building.

The City is asking those merchants who have not contributed to do so because of unforeseen expenses which have arisen and the cost estimates will exceed the $15,000 projected, Lewke added.

The Board recommended that the Chamber follow up on the suspected pollution of Little Bay de Noc by cargo vessels and pleasure craft. The Board further recommended that contacts be made with shippers to see what precautions are being used to prevent water pollution.

The Board of Directors approved memberships in the Chamber for American Cyanamid Company, assigned to Charles Burke, manager; Delona Restaurant, assigned to Frank Muse; and Dr. N. J. Theisen.

The Board heard a report of promotions scheduled by the Retail Division of the Chamber, Mrs. Angeline Hakes, chairman. A Lucky Number promotion is being advertised today for Wednesday shoppers; a Flea Circus chairmaned by Robert Shrader and Nicky Traverse for June and the annual Sidewalk Day scheduled for July.

The Tourism Committee, Fred Saykly, chairman, will meet Tuesday, May 19 at the Chamber building to discuss the program of park activities such as log rolling, an archery tournament, etc.

The Board commended the committee in charge of Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up activities May 3—9 and for its diligence in calling the attention of the public to the desirability of cleaning up premises prior to the tourist season. They also expressed their appreciation to Boy Scouts who distributed plastic garbage bags to households in Escanaba. Gordon Anderson is chairman of the committee.

Co-Chairmen Dick Marenger and George Bathke reported that there would be a Garden Peninsula tour of a cattle operation and a new type bean growing process on Saturday, August 1, and extended an invitation to Board members as well as all members of the Chamber to join the tour. A dutch treat luncheon will be served by the Fayette 4-H group at noon, and if time permits, a tour will be conducted of the newest renovations at the Fayette State Park.

Bathke and Marenger also reported that the businessmen-farmers picnic will be held Sunday, August 9 from 1-4 p.m. at the youth building in the U. P. State Fair Grounds. President Thomas Straebel recommended that Board members and their wives, and the general membership of the Chamber attend the picnic with their wives, citing this as an excellent opportunity to become better acquainted with the rural community.

The Delta County Agricultural Booster Association has awarded two full scholarships to Christine Lancour, R. 1, Gladstone, graduating from Holy Name High School, and to Richard Lester, Garden, graduating from Big Bay de Noc High School, Bathke and Marenger, co-chairmen, also reported.

Schedule Armory Groundbreaking

Ground breaking ceremony for a new National Guard armory building at Gladstone is scheduled to be held 2 p.m. Thursday at the site south of the Athletic Field overlooking the bay.

Capt. Stephen Fraddo, commanding officer of Company C, 107th Engineers, today announced plans for the event that will mark start of construction of the armory.

Present for the ceremony will be Gen. Carson Niefert, Lansing, head of the Department of Military Affairs, and Col. Arthur Phillips of the engineering department of the Department of Military Affairs. Members of the Board of Military Affairs are also to be in attendance.

Representatives of Battalion Headquarters, 107th Engineers, Ishpeming, will be present, as will members of the Gladstone Armory Committee and members of the Gladstone City Commission.

The public is invited to join in the ceremonies that will mark culmination of years of planning and effort to bring the armory project to realization.

Field Leaders May Ask More Cleanup Time

Counter Action Feared

What worries some authorities here, however, is the possibility that North Vietnam may yet undertake some kind of counter action such as a political-military offensive against the present Cambodian government or a counterattack on allied forces.

This would confront Nixon and his military chiefs with a new situation—for which he already has closed his apparent options.

But officials also say the storm of opposition stirred up by his decision to send troops into Cambodia in the first place made it impossible for him to speak ambiguously about the limit of the assault.

Limitation Noted

Officials say that distance from the South Vietnamese border was picked because intelligence reports showed no important enemy bases beyond that line.

But one significant target is now said to be beyond the 21.7-mile limit, according to reports reaching Washington—the mobile command headquarters for the enemy military forces in South Vietnam.

Known as the Central Office for South Vietnam, or COSVN, this command unit is said by Washington authorities to consist of a fleet of radio communication trucks and jeeps, and command and staff transport rather than a fixed installation with buildings and bunkers.

Headquarters Target

When President Nixon announced April 30 that U.S. and South Vietnam forces were going after the sanctuaries, he said they "will attack the headquarters for the entire Communist military operation in South Vietnam"—wording suggesting a strongly held strategic center of critical importance.

Now, however, informants report that COSVN with its high level offices and communications equipment fled before the advancing allies. Furthermore, according to the best information available here, its transmitters have not been heard by U.S. monitoring stations since May 1.

Plan Downgraded

One assumption is the enemy command went into radio silence to prevent the allies from getting a position fix.

At the same time, its importance as a target for attack has been downgraded privately by officials.

Probe Continues In Reuther Crash

copilot, Joseph Karaffa, 41, both of Columbua, Ohio.

The UAW chartered the Lear Jet to fly from Detroit to Pellston, near where the union is constructing a family education center.

Contacted at Pellston, Abbott said the tests on the engines were being made as part of standard procedures. However, airport manager Clarence Tatro said it appeared to be the major activity being studied by investigators.

Outer Shell Burned

Tatro said the outer shell of the engines were burned, but the "rest of the engines were in pretty good shape."

Abbott said small parts of colored plexiglass from a plane's position lights and broken branches were found in the heavily forested area three-fourth of a mile from the crash.

However, airmen from Kincheloe Air Force base near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., scoured the area Monday between the apparent initial contact with the trees and the crash site without finding any additional objects.

To Plot Projected Path

A Coast Guard helicopter will be used today to plot the projected path of the plane.

Abbott said the pilot last made radio contact with the flight service at Pellston, at 9:25 p.m., when he was given the weather report, which included light rain. It crashed seven minutes later.

The plane was circling the airport for an approach to land from the northeast when it plummeted to the ground and exploded.

Funeral Held

IONIA (AP) — Funeral services were held today for Albert E. Andrews, director of Ionia County Memorial Hospital.

Andrews died Friday night in a Grand Rapids hospital after a three-week illness. He was 61. Andrews joined the Ionia hospital in 1953 and became its director in 1961.

DNR Schedules State Hearing

LANSING (AP) — The Department of Natural Resources will conduct a public hearing Friday in Petoskey to hear testimony on its policy regarding leasing of state oil and gas rights.

The hearing will be in the junior high school auditorium, which seats about 1,000 persons.

The Legislature called on the department in March to postpone further sales of oil and gas lease rights until a public hearing could be held. The department then postponed a March 18 auction at which it had planned to sell rights on more than 79,000 acres.

Gwinn Triumphs In Track Meet

GWINN — The Gwinn Model Towners, using strong second and third place finishes, defeated the Holy Name Crusaders and the Gladstone Braves in a triangular meet here Monday afternoon.

Gwinn finished with 68 points, while Holy Name tallied 55 and Gladstone finished with 30. The first place finishes were almost even as Holy Name and Gwinn both collected firsts in six events, while Gladstone cashed in on two first places.

Jim Dubord paced the Crusaders again by posting a double victory in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, winning the 100 in :10.6 seconds and the 220 in :22.9 seconds. His 220 victory was his best time this season.

Other first place finishers for the Crusaders were Dan Young in the shot put with one of his better heaves of the year throwing the iron 50 feet 8 inches, Bob McGinn in the 880 with a time of 2:04.9, Paul Guenette in the two-mile run in a time of 10:21.9 and Noel Gannon in the mile run.

Gwinn gained most of it's first place finishes with one boy doing most of the work. Mike Hatfield captured a triple victory taking the long jump with a leap of 21' 2½", winning the pole vault and the 440 yard dash.

Gladstone had only two first place finishes in the meet with Bib Young posting a double victory for the Braves in both the high and low hurdles. Young won the highs in 16.75 seconds and the lows in 22.2 seconds.

The Braves were without some of their place winners, due to the Senior Day activities in Gladstone.

Trading Begins In NBA League

NEW YORK (AP) — The trading began in the National Basketball Association almost before the league's fourth expansion draft in five years had ended.

More deals were in the offing today as the New York Knicks, newly crowned NBA champions, still wondered how they escaped Monday's selections by Buffalo, Portland and Cleveland without losing the key players.

The runnerup Los Angeles Lakers weren't so fortunate, however. The Lakers unexpectedly left rookie guard Dick Garrett, a starter, unprotected. Buffalo quickly grabbed him.

"I was really surprised to see him available," said Eddie Donovan, Buffalo's general manager. "He's a young player and I thought he had done well for the season and in the playoffs."

Bufffaflo also selected veteran Bailey Howell from the Boston Celtics. Howell was then dealt to Philadelphia for forward Bob Kauffman and a future draft choice or a player to be named later.

Another Boston veteran, Larry Siegfried, was one of the Portland's top picks and the Trail Blazers promptly traded him to San Diego for guard Jim Barnett.

The Knicks, Lakers, Boston, Chicago and San Diego each lost three players, the other established clubs two apiece.

Buffalo appears to have the makings of a fine backcourt. In addition to Garrett, the Braves have Mike Davis, another rookie obtained earlier in a trade from Baltimore, calong with Herm Gilliam, Fred Crawford and Em Bryant.

Mountaineers Defeat Eskymos

The results were as follows:

Singles - Jere Grams (IM) defeated Bill Johnson (E) 6-1, 6-4; Brian Alquist (IM) defeated Baxter Mitchell (E) 6-3, 6-2; Tim Clement (IM) defeated Fred Mitchell (E) 6-3, and 6-0.

Doubles - Steve Henslee and Steve Vanlerberghe (E) lost to Nick Simone and Mike Laldon (IM) 2-6, 8-6, 6-0; Bob Ihlenfeldt and Bill Davis (E) lost to Dave Nelson and Mike McGuire (IM) 6-3, 6-2; Jon Krohmer and Mark Setterlind (E) lost to Brian Bongi and Bruce Dishnon (IM) 6-3 and 6-1.

McGinn Surprises Mets With Top Performance

By The Associated Press

Dan McGinn was Montreal Manager Gene Mauch's idea of a surprise but the Expos' reliever, making his annual start, astonished the New York Mets and turned out to be quite a stopper, too.

The hard-throwing southpaw, making his 100th major league appearance, but only his second start—he started once last year—tossed a brilliant three-hitter in blanking the Mets 3-0 Monday night.

In the process the 26-year-old ex-Notre Dame footballer snapped Cy Young Award winner Tom Seaver's regular-season winning streak at 16 and temporarily put the skids to the Expos' slide in which Montreal has won only three of its last nine games.

In other National League action, Atlanta nipped Chicago 7-6 in 10 innings, Pittsburgh whipped Cincinnati 4-1, St. Louis zipped Philadelphia 3-0 and in 14 innings San Francisco downed San Diego 6-5.

Psyched Up

McGinn, a 6-foot, 190-pounder, who appeared in 74 games last year with the Expos and had a 7-10 mark, made his 12th appearance this year and upped his record to 2-1 with his first major league complete game.

"All I heard all day was 'You're going against Seaver'. I guess I was psyched up. Pitching against a guy like that can do it," McGinn said.

Atlanta topped the Cubs on Hank Aaron's 10th-inning homer, helping the Braves to their 12th triumph in 13 games. It was Aaron's fifth homer in six games and his 14th of the season. The winning homer left Aaron five hits shy of the 3,000 milestone.

Rico Carty, the Braves' left fielder, extended his hitting string to 29 straight games with a run-scoring single in the seventh before Johnny Callison tied it for the Cubs at 6-6 with a two-run homer in the bottom half. The Cubs, still atop the NL East with a 2 ½ game edge, dropped their eighth game in 10 starts.

Left-hander Bob Veale scattered three hits and retired 19 consecutive Reds in one stretch, striking out nine, as the Pirates' Bill Mazeroski doubled home the decisive run in the fifth inning. Willie Stargell had a solo homer and Rich Hebner added three hits for Pittsburgh.

Allen Homers

The Cards got a three-run homer from Richie Allen in the ninth inning, backing the four-hit pitching off Steve Carlton and breaking up a pitching duel with the Phils' Jim Bunning.

First baseman Nate Colbert booted pinch hitter Bob Burda's bases-loade bouncer in the 14th inning, enabled Giants' starter Gaylord Perry, who went 13 innings to even his record at 4-4. Gary Ross, 1-3, San Diego's fifth pitcher, took the lossm

Dick Dietz had cracked a run-scoring single and Hal Lanier followed with a two-run hit, putting the Giants in front 5-2 in the ninth but the Padres came right back in the bottom half to tie it off Perry, who allowed 10 hits and struck out 12.

White Sox Run, Clobber Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — A teenage girl jumped into the Detroit Tiger dugout at Monday night's game and was promptly escorted away by an usher.

Maybe that usher shouldn't have been so efficient. Tiger manager Mayo Smith pondered the incident later and said with a laugh: "Damn it. She might have had a pitching job. I'd have sent her in there."

She couldn't have done much worse that Detroit's pitching staff, which continued to falter as the Tigers were crushed by Chicago 9-5 for their eighth loss in the last 11 games.

Detroit, which is in second place but 5½ games behind Baltimore in the American League East, was scheduled to meet the White Sox again tonight. Les Cain, 1-1, was expected to pitch against Chicago rookie Jerry Janeski, 2-2.

Pitching Collapses

Tiger pitchers have given up 50 runs in the last seven games—a seven-a-game average.

"We'll just have to weather it through," Smith said in a more serious vein. "These fellas are making bad pitches, their control is off—it's a lot of things."

He wouldn't elaborate on any plans to alleviate the situation, such as calling up someone from Detroit's Toledo farm club or trading for a top relief pitcher.

All he would say was: "We're working on a lot of things."

During the current Tiger sag the hitters have continued to clobber the ball, but to no avail. Both starting and relieving pitchers have been hit hard.

"Sure it can be discouraging (for the hitters)," Smith said, anxious to leave the dressing room. "But it's been the other way around before, with the pitchers doing well and the rest of the players not coming through. We're still a team, you know."

Niekro Beaten

Syd O'Brien and Ed Herrmann each drove in three runs for Chicago, which collected 14 hits off six pitchers. The White Sox drove starter Joe Niekro, now 3-3, from the mound with a four-run outburst in the third.

Herrmann homered in the inning, driving in two runs, then ngled home another in the fifth.

The White Sox tagged Fred Scherman for two runs in the fifth and Mike Kilkenny for three more in the seventh.

O'Brien's first RBI came on a sacrifice fly in the third, then he socked a bases-loaded single in the seventh for two more runs.

Detroit tallied three runs off starter Billy Wynne in the third, with Dalton Jones, Al Kaline and Willie Horton each knocking in a run. In the sixth, the Tigers got back-to-back homers from Jim Northrup and Bill Freehan off Jerry Crider, 1-0, who won only his second major league game.

Luis Aparicio also homered for Chicago.

"I have the same woes," said White Sox manager Don Gutteridge to a writer regarding Detroit's pitching problems. "If you find out what Mayo plans to do let me know."

It was in the eighth inning the girl, who appeared to be about 17, jumped off the deck of the dugout and went inside.

"I didn't ask her what she wanted," Mayo shurgged. "I was so mad then I didn't hear her anyway."

Brewers' Boss Foaming Over Tie With Yankees

By The Associated Press

The crevices in Milwaukee's infield have left Dave Bristol fit to be tied.

The Milwaukee ninth inning fielding lapses and a rainstorm combined to interrupt the Brewers' five-game winning streak as the New York Yankees came from behind to earn a 5-5 standoff.

In the only other game on the American League schedule, California nipped Boston 2-1 in 16 innings despite a record-tying strikeout string by Red Sox' starter Ray Culp, and Chicago defeated Detroit 9-5.

The Brewers blew a 5-2 lead in the ninth, with second baseman John Kennedy and third baseman Tommy Harper committing costly errors, before the game was halted by the rain. It will be replayed in full as part of a doubleheader.

"We made a lot of mistakes," said Brewers' pilot Bristol. "You can't give a team a fourth, fifth and sixth out in an inning and win.

"But any day that you're alive and healthy isn't wasted."

Pitcher Bob Bolin's home run helped the Brewers build their commanding lead against Mel Stottlemyre, but Kennedy's throwing error and Harper's boot handed the Yanks three unearned runs in the ninth.

The Angels snapped a 1-1 tie in the 16th when Jarvis Tatum doubled, took third on a fly out and scored on Sandy Alomar's fourth hit—a blooper over the drawn-in Boston infield.

Culp struck out the first six California batters he faced, tying the modern major league mark set by Detroit's John Hiller two years ago. The all-time record of nine straight strikeouts at the start of a game was established in 1884 by the New York Giants' Michael Welch.

The Red Sox led 1-0 and Culp was working on a three-hitter in the eighth, when Tom Egan's single, a sacrifice and infield hits by Alomar and pinch hitter Billy Cowan knotted it.

Eskymos Post 18 Hole Win

The Escanaba Eskymos playing in their first 18 hole golf match of the season defeated the Marinette Marines 953-984 Monday afternoon at the Escanaba Country Club.

Randy Eis of Escanaba and Dale Pogrant of Marinette were the medalists for the match with 82's.

Marinette - Rettke 94, Landenberger 100, Pogrant 82, Shepro 102, Johnson 87, Miller 106, Fronsee 96, Christian 103, Pedersen 106 and Bannow 108.

Softball Game

The Michigan Hotel and Flat Rock softball teams will play a practice game tonight at 6:30 p.m. at the Webster diamond.

West Iron Tops HN Net Squad

West Iron County handed Escanaba Holy Name a 5-3 defeat on the Escanaba tennis courts Monday in a dual match.

Joe Joran and Dennis Ryan copped wins for the Crusaders in the singles while Brian Larche teamed up with Mike Daily to win the final test in the doubles.

The summary:

Gwinn Triumphs In Track Meet

GWINN — The Gwinn Model Towners, using strong second and third place finishes, defeated the Holy Name Crusaders and the Gladstone Braves in a triangular meet here Monday afternoon.

Gwinn finished with 68 points, while Holy Name tallied 55 and Gladstone finished with 30. The first place finishes were almost even as Holy Name and Gwinn both collected firsts in six events, while Gladstone cashed in on two first places.

Jim Dubord paced the Crusaders again by posting a double victory in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, winning the 100 in :10.6 seconds and the 220 in :22.9 seconds. His 220 victory was his best time this season.

Other first place finishers for the Crusaders were Dan Young in the shot put with one of his better heaves of the year throwing the iron 50 feet 8 inches, Bob McGinn in the 880 with a time of 2:04.9, Paul Guenette in the two-mile run in a time of 10:21.9 and Noel Gannon in the mile run.

Gwinn gained most of it's first place finishes with one boy doing most of the work. Mike Hatfield captured a triple victory taking the long jump with a leap of 21' 2½", winning the pole vault and the 440 yard dash.

Gladstone had only two first place finishes in the meet with Bib Young posting a double victory for the Braves in both the high and low hurdles. Young won the highs in 16.75 seconds and the lows in 22.2 seconds.

The Braves were without some of their place winners, due to the Senior Day activities in Gladstone.

Trading Begins In NBA League

NEW YORK (AP) — The trading began in the National Basketball Association almost before the league's fourth expansion draft in five years had ended.

More deals were in the offing today as the New York Knicks, newly crowned NBA champions, still wondered how they escaped Monday's selections by Buffalo, Portland and Cleveland without losing the key players.

The runnerup Los Angeles Lakers weren't so fortunate, however. The Lakers unexpectedly left rookie guard Dick Garrett, a starter, unprotected. Buffalo quickly grabbed him.

"I was really surprised to see him available," said Eddie Donovan, Buffalo's general manager. "He's a young player and I thought he had done well for the season and in the playoffs."

Bufffaflo also selected veteran Bailey Howell from the Boston Celtics. Howell was then dealt to Philadelphia for forward Bob Kauffman and a future draft choice or a player to be named later.

Another Boston veteran, Larry Siegfried, was one of the Portland's top picks and the Trail Blazers promptly traded him to San Diego for guard Jim Barnett.

The Knicks, Lakers, Boston, Chicago and San Diego each lost three players, the other established clubs two apiece.

Buffalo appears to have the makings of a fine backcourt. In addition to Garrett, the Braves have Mike Davis, another rookie obtained earlier in a trade from Baltimore, calong with Herm Gilliam, Fred Crawford and Em Bryant.

Mountaineers Defeat Eskymos

The results were as follows:

Singles - Jere Grams (IM) defeated Bill Johnson (E) 6-1, 6-4; Brian Alquist (IM) defeated Baxter Mitchell (E) 6-3, 6-2; Tim Clement (IM) defeated Fred Mitchell (E) 6-3, and 6-0.

Doubles - Steve Henslee and Steve Vanlerberghe (E) lost to Nick Simone and Mike Laldon (IM) 2-6, 8-6, 6-0; Bob Ihlenfeldt and Bill Davis (E) lost to Dave Nelson and Mike McGuire (IM) 6-3, 6-2; Jon Krohmer and Mark Setterlind (E) lost to Brian Bongi and Bruce Dishnon (IM) 6-3 and 6-1.

McGinn Surprises Mets With Top Performance

By The Associated Press

Dan McGinn was Montreal Manager Gene Mauch's idea of a surprise but the Expos' reliever, making his annual start, astonished the New York Mets and turned out to be quite a stopper, too.

The hard-throwing southpaw, making his 100th major league appearance, but only his second start—he started once last year—tossed a brilliant three-hitter in blanking the Mets 3-0 Monday night.

In the process the 26-year-old ex-Notre Dame footballer snapped Cy Young Award winner Tom Seaver's regular-season winning streak at 16 and temporarily put the skids to the Expos' slide in which Montreal has won only three of its last nine games.

In other National League action, Atlanta nipped Chicago 7-6 in 10 innings, Pittsburgh whipped Cincinnati 4-1, St. Louis zipped Philadelphia 3-0 and in 14 innings San Francisco downed San Diego 6-5.

Psyched Up

McGinn, a 6-foot, 190-pounder, who appeared in 74 games last year with the Expos and had a 7-10 mark, made his 12th appearance this year and upped his record to 2-1 with his first major league complete game.

"All I heard all day was 'You're going against Seaver'. I guess I was psyched up. Pitching against a guy like that can do it," McGinn said.

Atlanta topped the Cubs on Hank Aaron's 10th-inning homer, helping the Braves to their 12th triumph in 13 games. It was Aaron's fifth homer in six games and his 14th of the season. The winning homer left Aaron five hits shy of the 3,000 milestone.

Rico Carty, the Braves' left fielder, extended his hitting string to 29 straight games with a run-scoring single in the seventh before Johnny Callison tied it for the Cubs at 6-6 with a two-run homer in the bottom half. The Cubs, still atop the NL East with a 2 ½ game edge, dropped their eighth game in 10 starts.

Left-hander Bob Veale scattered three hits and retired 19 consecutive Reds in one stretch, striking out nine, as the Pirates' Bill Mazeroski doubled home the decisive run in the fifth inning. Willie Stargell had a solo homer and Rich Hebner added three hits for Pittsburgh.

Allen Homers

The Cards got a three-run homer from Richie Allen in the ninth inning, backing the four-hit pitching off Steve Carlton and breaking up a pitching duel with the Phils' Jim Bunning.

First baseman Nate Colbert booted pinch hitter Bob Burda's bases-loade bouncer in the 14th inning, enabled Giants' starter Gaylord Perry, who went 13 innings to even his record at 4-4. Gary Ross, 1-3, San Diego's fifth pitcher, took the lossm

Dick Dietz had cracked a run-scoring single and Hal Lanier followed with a two-run hit, putting the Giants in front 5-2 in the ninth but the Padres came right back in the bottom half to tie it off Perry, who allowed 10 hits and struck out 12.

White Sox Run, Clobber Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — A teenage girl jumped into the Detroit Tiger dugout at Monday night's game and was promptly escorted away by an usher.

Maybe that usher shouldn't have been so efficient. Tiger manager Mayo Smith pondered the incident later and said with a laugh: "Damn it. She might have had a pitching job. I'd have sent her in there."

She couldn't have done much worse that Detroit's pitching staff, which continued to falter as the Tigers were crushed by Chicago 9-5 for their eighth loss in the last 11 games.

Detroit, which is in second place but 5½ games behind Baltimore in the American League East, was scheduled to meet the White Sox again tonight. Les Cain, 1-1, was expected to pitch against Chicago rookie Jerry Janeski, 2-2.

Pitching Collapses

Tiger pitchers have given up 50 runs in the last seven games—a seven-a-game average.

"We'll just have to weather it through," Smith said in a more serious vein. "These fellas are making bad pitches, their control is off—it's a lot of things."

He wouldn't elaborate on any plans to alleviate the situation, such as calling up someone from Detroit's Toledo farm club or trading for a top relief pitcher.

All he would say was: "We're working on a lot of things."

During the current Tiger sag the hitters have continued to clobber the ball, but to no avail. Both starting and relieving pitchers have been hit hard.

"Sure it can be discouraging (for the hitters)," Smith said, anxious to leave the dressing room. "But it's been the other way around before, with the pitchers doing well and the rest of the players not coming through. We're still a team, you know."

Niekro Beaten

Syd O'Brien and Ed Herrmann each drove in three runs for Chicago, which collected 14 hits off six pitchers. The White Sox drove starter Joe Niekro, now 3-3, from the mound with a four-run outburst in the third.

Herrmann homered in the inning, driving in two runs, then ngled home another in the fifth.

The White Sox tagged Fred Scherman for two runs in the fifth and Mike Kilkenny for three more in the seventh.

O'Brien's first RBI came on a sacrifice fly in the third, then he socked a bases-loaded single in the seventh for two more runs.

Detroit tallied three runs off starter Billy Wynne in the third, with Dalton Jones, Al Kaline and Willie Horton each knocking in a run. In the sixth, the Tigers got back-to-back homers from Jim Northrup and Bill Freehan off Jerry Crider, 1-0, who won only his second major league game.

Luis Aparicio also homered for Chicago.

"I have the same woes," said White Sox manager Don Gutteridge to a writer regarding Detroit's pitching problems. "If you find out what Mayo plans to do let me know."

It was in the eighth inning the girl, who appeared to be about 17, jumped off the deck of the dugout and went inside.

"I didn't ask her what she wanted," Mayo shurgged. "I was so mad then I didn't hear her anyway."

Brewers' Boss Foaming Over Tie With Yankees

By The Associated Press

The crevices in Milwaukee's infield have left Dave Bristol fit to be tied.

The Milwaukee ninth inning fielding lapses and a rainstorm combined to interrupt the Brewers' five-game winning streak as the New York Yankees came from behind to earn a 5-5 standoff.

In the only other game on the American League schedule, California nipped Boston 2-1 in 16 innings despite a record-tying strikeout string by Red Sox' starter Ray Culp, and Chicago defeated Detroit 9-5.

The Brewers blew a 5-2 lead in the ninth, with second baseman John Kennedy and third baseman Tommy Harper committing costly errors, before the game was halted by the rain. It will be replayed in full as part of a doubleheader.

"We made a lot of mistakes," said Brewers' pilot Bristol. "You can't give a team a fourth, fifth and sixth out in an inning and win.

"But any day that you're alive and healthy isn't wasted."

Pitcher Bob Bolin's home run helped the Brewers build their commanding lead against Mel Stottlemyre, but Kennedy's throwing error and Harper's boot handed the Yanks three unearned runs in the ninth.

The Angels snapped a 1-1 tie in the 16th when Jarvis Tatum doubled, took third on a fly out and scored on Sandy Alomar's fourth hit—a blooper over the drawn-in Boston infield.

Culp struck out the first six California batters he faced, tying the modern major league mark set by Detroit's John Hiller two years ago. The all-time record of nine straight strikeouts at the start of a game was established in 1884 by the New York Giants' Michael Welch.

The Red Sox led 1-0 and Culp was working on a three-hitter in the eighth, when Tom Egan's single, a sacrifice and infield hits by Alomar and pinch hitter Billy Cowan knotted it.

Eskymos Post 18 Hole Win

The Escanaba Eskymos playing in their first 18 hole golf match of the season defeated the Marinette Marines 953-984 Monday afternoon at the Escanaba Country Club.

Randy Eis of Escanaba and Dale Pogrant of Marinette were the medalists for the match with 82's.

The Results:

Man, 48, Hospitalized After Gun Accident

Karl Krumrey, 48, Rte. 1, was admitted to the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Sunday night for treatment of an accidental gunshot wound, state police report.

Krumrey was cleaning a small automatic pistol at his home and reloaded the gun, troopers said, when a malfunction caused the weapon to fire. The accident happened about 7:45 p.m. He sustained minor injuries.

Jerry Kokesh, 21, Winnebago, Wis., was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law after his auto went out of control and rolled over on U.S. 2, Doyle Township, at 12:50 Saturday morning. Kokesh was not injured, state police said.

Leonard Gould, 36, Rte. 1, suffered minor injuries but sought his own treatment after his automobile ran off the road and struck a tree at 8:25 Saturday night. The mishap occurred at the M-94 and an unnamed county road junction in Hiawatha Township. Gould was cited for careless driving by troopers who investigated the accident.

Frank Hentschell, 18, 321 Lake St., lost control of his motorcycle and struck a tree at the intersection of County Roads 440-441 Saturday night at 11:55, state police said. Hentschell received emergency treatment at the hospital for minor cuts and bruises.

Two More File For Seats On School Board

Two more candidates have declared for the two open seats on the Manistique Area board of education — thus giving voters a choice of five candidates in the June 8 school election.

Nominating petitions have been filed by David M. Kelly and Ronald Morton who join previously announced candidates Mrs. Margaret Waters, Denton Nelson and Boyd Briggs. Mrs. Waters and Nelson are incumbent candidates for the four year terms on the board.

Kelly, a native of Allen Park, is owner-manager of Radio Station WTIQ. He has been a Manistique resident since 1964 when he and the late Edmund Selleck began the broadcasting service. Kelly purchased his partner's interest last October, shortly after returning to Manistique from Eau Claire, Wis. where he spent six months with Post Corporation's WEAU-TV and WAXX radio.

Prior to coming to Manistique he was part owner and manager of WLIN radio in Detroit.

Kelly served two terms as president of the Manistique Area Chamber of Commerce, is a former member of the Community School Advisory Board and a Rotarian. He and his wife, Sharon, and two daughters, Kerry and Kristine, live on Glenwood Dr. in Manistique Township.

Morton, who lives with his wife and two children at 212 N. First St., is a papermaker at the Manistique Pulp and Paper Company. He came to Manistique in 1937, graduated from Manistique High School in 1950 and attended Central Michigan University.

He is past president of the Lincoln School PTA, former member of the Community School Advisory Board, and has been active as a Little League manager. He is also a U.S. Army veteran.

Monday at 4 p.m. was the deadline for filing nominating petitions.

Hospital

Ex-Manistique Resident Wins $10,000 Bond

A former resident, Gerald B. Guertin, has been awarded $10,000 in U.S. Savings Bonds by General Motors Corporation for his idea of eliminating a die trim operation on automobile hood panels at the Chevrolet Metal Fabricating Plant in Flint. Guertin received the maximum amount under the GM Suggestion Plan.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Guertin of Garden is a die maker apprentice at the Flint plant. He graduated from the Cooks High School and attended Northern Michigan University. He was employed by the Inland Lime and Stone Company and the Schoolcraft County Road Commission before moving to Flint.

Guertin's suggestion was to eliminate the second trim stage on a die trimming operation on a hood panel. The trimming is now accomplished by a modification in the first trim stage and has resulted in increased production.

He is married to the former Myrna Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schneider, 104 S. Fourth St., and they are the parents of six children.

Births

ROCHEFORT — Mr. and Mrs. Brent Rochefort, Garden, are the parents of a daughter born Saturday, May 9, at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. The infant weighed six pounds. Mrs. Rochefort is the former Yvonne Gouin.

LAVERTY — A daughter, weighing eight pounds and fourteen ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Laverty, Curtis, on Saturday, May 9, at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. The mother is the former Patricia Chisholm.

ALLEN — Mr. and Mrs. Morrie Allen, Engadine, are the parents of a daughter, weighing seven pounds and three ounces, born Saturday, May 9, at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Allen is the former Phyllis Traver.

JENSEN — A daughter, weighing seven pounds and eleven and three quarter ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jensen, 511 Arbutus Ave., Sunday, May 10, at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Jensen is the former Arleen Kennedy.

Briefly Told

Wednesday's hot lunch menu in the Manistique Area Schools will include vegetable beef soup, homemade pan rolls, fruit and beverage.

Card of Thanks

Nault

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends, neighbors and relatives who by their acts of kindness in the recent death of our father, grandfather and great-grandfather, Philip Nault, helped to lighten our burden of sorrow. A special thanks to the Doctors and Nurses of St. Joseph Lloyd Hospital, Menominee for their wonderful care, to Rev. Father Lester Bourgeois for his comforting words, to those who sent floral and spiritual bouquets, the singing of the choir, the donation of food, to the pallbearers, those who offered and drove cars, the Boyle Funeral Chapel, the ladies who served the lunch and to all who helped in any way. Your kindness will always be held in grateful remembrance.

The Family Of Philip Nault

In Memoriam

Berish

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Nick Berish, who passed away 23 years ago today, May 12, 1947.

Life does not seem the same
Since you were called away.
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
Our hearts still ache with pain.
Our eyes shed many a tear,
God only knows how we miss you
At the end of these sad years.
Time cannot heal our aching hearts,
Nor from our memory tear
The form and face we loved so well.
Will dwell forever there.
Only those who lost can tell,
Of the grief that is born in silence,
For the one we loved so well
You are not forgotten Mother dear,
Nor will you ever be
While life and memory last,
We will remember thee.
And we often speak of you,
And how happy we would be,
If you were with us too.

Sadly Missed By Husband And Children

VanHarpen

In loving memory of our beloved mother, Azma Davis VanHarpen who passed away one year ago today, May 12, 1969.

She bade no one a last farewell,
She said goodbye to none.
The heavenly gates were opened,
A loving voice said "Come".
We often sit and think of you,
The things you used to say.
We wonder why you had to die,
Without a chance to say goodbye.
More and more each day we miss you,
Some may think the wound has healed;
But little do they know the sorrow,
That is within our hearts concealed.

Sadly Missed and Forever loved by Her Family

Guertin received the maximum amount under the GM Suggestion Plan.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Guertin of Garden is a die maker apprentice at the Flint plant. He graduated from the Cooks High School and attended Northern Michigan University. He was employed by the Inland Lime and Stone Company and the Schoolcraft County Road Commission before moving to Flint.

Guertin's suggestion was to eliminate the second trim stage on a die trimming operation on a hood panel. The trimming is now accomplished by a modification in the first trim stage and has resulted in increased production.

He is married to the former Myrna Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schneider, 104 S. Fourth St., and they are the parents of six children.

Births

ROCHEFORT — Mr. and Mrs. Brent Rochefort, Garden, are the parents of a daughter born Saturday, May 9, at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. The infant weighed six pounds. Mrs. Rochefort is the former Yvonne Gouin.

LAVERTY — A daughter, weighing eight pounds and fourteen ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Laverty, Curtis, on Saturday, May 9, at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. The mother is the former Patricia Chisholm.

ALLEN — Mr. and Mrs. Morrie Allen, Engadine, are the parents of a daughter, weighing seven pounds and three ounces, born Saturday, May 9, at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Allen is the former Phyllis Traver.

JENSEN — A daughter, weighing seven pounds and eleven and three quarter ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jensen, 511 Arbutus Ave., Sunday, May 10, at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Jensen is the former Arleen Kennedy.

Briefly Told

Wednesday's hot lunch menu in the Manistique Area Schools will include vegetable beef soup, homemade pan rolls, fruit and beverage.

County treasurer William Cowman reports that 57 parcels were sold in the May Delinquent Tax Sale for a total of $1,464.31. Last year 57 parcels were also sold for a total of $1,466.87. The lands sold have been owing taxes since 1967.

Obituary

ALVIN G. ROBINSON

Complete funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday from the Messier-Broullire Funeral Home for Alvin G. Robinson, 77, 129 N. Third St., who died May 7 in the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Rev. Robert Haring, pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church, officiated at the rites with Mrs. Roy LaMarche at the organ. Burial followed in the Veteran's Section of the Fairview Cemetery.

Garden Peninsula

Mrs. Anna Casey of Fairport is a surgical patient at St. Francis Hospital, Escanaba.

Frank Thill of Fayette is a patient at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital, Manistique.

Mrs. Elsie Haas, former Garden resident, is a surgical patient at University Hospital, Station 57, Minneapolis, Minn.

Mrs. Edward LeMarbe is a patient at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital in Manistique.

Home Ec. Club

The Kates Bay Home Ec. Club met at the Gerald Willet home at Garden Corners Thursday evening, May 7. During the business meeting plans were made for the annual outing. The social portion of the evening included a welcome back for Mrs. Fred (Peggy) Sharp. Mr. and Mrs. Sharp of Rockford, Ill., have arrived to spend the summer in their summer home in Kates Bay. The next meeting will be held at the Walter DeGroot home on Thursday, May 21.

Card of Thanks

Nault

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends, neighbors and relatives who by their acts of kindness in the recent death of our father, grandfather and great-grandfather, Philip Nault, helped to lighten our burden of sorrow. A special thanks to the Doctors and Nurses of St. Joseph Lloyd Hospital, Menominee for their wonderful care, to Rev. Father Lester Bourgeois for his comforting words, to those who sent floral and spiritual bouquets, the singing of the choir, the donation of food, to the pallbearers, those who offered and drove cars, the Boyle Funeral Chapel, the ladies who served the lunch and to all who helped in any way. Your kindness will always be held in grateful remembrance.

The Family Of Philip Nault

In Memoriam

Berish

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Nick Berish, who passed away 23 years ago today, May 12, 1947.

Life does not seem the same
Since you were called away.
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
Our hearts still ache with pain.
Our eyes shed many a tear,
God only knows how we miss you
At the end of these sad years.
Time cannot heal our aching hearts,
Nor from our memory tear
The form and face we loved so well.
Will dwell forever there.
Only those who lost can etll,
Of the grief that is born in silence,
For the one we loved so well
You are not forgotten Mother dear,
Nor will you ever be
While life and memory last,
We will remember thee.
And we often speak of you,
And how happy we would be,
If you were with us too.

Sadly Missed By Husband And Children

VanHarpen

In loving memory of our beloved mother, Azma Davis VanHarpen who passed away one year ago today, May 12, 1969.

She bade no one a last farewell,
She said goodbye to none.
The heavenly gates were opened,
A loving voice said "Come".
We often sit and think of you,
The things you used to say,
We wonder why you had to die.
Without a chance to say goodbye.
More and more each day we miss you,
Some may think the wound has healed;
But little do they know the sorrow,
That is within our hearts concealed.

Sadly Missed and Forever loved by Her Family

Off-Road Racing

OWOSSO (AP)— Off-road racing, which has become a growing popular sport on the West Coast, comes to the Midwest for the first time with the announcement this week of three race dates this month for Owosso Speedway.

The speedway has reached agreement with two off-road racing associations to hold races May 9, 16 and 20. The organizations are the Midwest Off-Road Enthusiasts and the American Rough Terrain Racing Association.

Dune buggies and mini-stockers will race on a rough terrain course developed within the boundaries of Owosso Speedway. The course will include jumps, water holes and other man-made obstacles.

Entrants are expected from Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

Withdrawal Plans Started: Sec. Laird

Field Leaders May Ask More Cleanup Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today "several thousand" U.S. troops have already been withdrawn from Cambodia, more would come out by the end of the week and major operations against Communist sanctuaries would be completed by June 15.

The secretary told the Senate Armed Sevices Committee that while the operations "have exceeded our expectations" and all U.S. forces will be out of Cambodia by June 30, the Nixon administraion remains opposed to a proposed limit on U.S. forces in Cambodia approved Monday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Interference Seen

Such a limit, Laird said, might interfere with President Nixon's ability to protect American troops.

The secretary also held out the possibility that future drives will be needed into Cambodia but said that the South Vietnamese would be able to handle these.

"The South Vietnamese will be in a position by the time the rain season ends to handle any such operations should they be necessary in the future, Laird said, adding that such renewed efforts would likely not be needed until next November at the earliest.

Praises South Vietnamese

He said that "The South Vietnamese have performed very well in this entire operation."

Laird said the Nixon administration has "lived up to the limits of Congress" which barred U.S. combat ground forces in Laos and Thailand. But he noted that the proposed restrictions for Cambodia would go beyond those.

President Nixon is now so firmly committed to a June 30 deadline for withdrawal of American forces from Cambodia officials doubt he could prolong the operation even if he found it militarily advisable to do so.

Despite this commitment, Nixon may yet be faced with pressure from field commanders for more time to complete the destruction of North Vietnam's Cambodian bases.

More Time Needed?

Some already are reported to believe they cannot do the whole job within the two months Nixon has specified.

The June 30 deadline applies to all support units and advisers attached to the South Vietnamese as well as to strictly American outfits engaged in the Cambodian operation, Nixon said at his news conference.

He stated the deadline without qualification as to any unforeseen development, officials say, because he wanted to stress that

Milliken Proclaims Walter Ruether Day

By The Associated Press

Expressions of regret in the death of Walter P. Reuther and praise of his accomplishments as president of the United Auto Workers Union continued to pour in during this week of mourning proclaimed by the UAW leadership.

In addition, Gov. William Milliken proclaimed Friday as Walter P. Reuther Day. Funeral services for Reuther and his wife, May, will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at Ford Auditorium in downtown Detroit.

Reuther and his wife were among six persons killed in a plane crash Saturday.

The auto companies will shut down their operations for three minutes at that hour as the auto workers observe a period of silence.

The Michigan House voted to fly its flag at half-staff until midnight Friday.

"Few men in this country have left such a legacy of accomplishment and service," Milliken said.

"Walter P. Reuther, a man whose death Michigan now mourns, was a man of awareness, concern and movement," the governor said in a proclamation. "His life and the way he lived it affected for better the lives of countless thousands."

Joseph A. Bierne, president of the Communications Workers of America, said "At various times we nad disagreements with Walter Reuther on specific issues.

"But on the great objectives which he articulated so well and acted upon so brilliantly, We in CWA have only admiration, and a continuing sense of loss at his death.

"American democracy can well be proud that in the years of crisis, it produced a great spokesman and a man of action and idealism for the workers of our nation," he said.

The Rev. Malcolm Carron, president of the University of Detroit, sent a telegram to the Reuther's daughters, Linda and Lisa, saying "your father's life gave clear example to all young men and women that dramatic improvement of institutions and social conditions is possible in our society if men of integrity and vision are willing to dedicate their lives to those ends."

The Catholic Bishops of Michigan said in a joint statement that Reuther "set an example of dedication to a moral cause, social justice, that would be rare in any period of history."

Expressions of sorrow at Reuther's death were not limited to the United States or even the West.

The Central Council of Soviet Trade Unions issued a statement Monday extending "deep condolences" to the Reuther family, friends and the UAW.

Soviet radio and television broadcasts announced the death to the Soviet people, calling it "a great loss to the U.S. labor movement."

DETROIT (AP) — Federal investigators planned tests today to find out if the two engines were running before a private jet plane crashed in northern Lower Michigan, killing United Auto Workers Union President Walter P. Reuther, his wife and four other persons.

The 300-lb engines were taken Monday from the crash site 1½ miles southwest of the airport at Pellston, Mich., to an airport building, reported Russell J. Abbott, air safety investigator with the National Transportation Safety Board.

Cause Unknown

No cause for the crash has has been found.

Abbott said evidence indicated the plane first brushed tall trees three-fourths of a mile west of where it crashed and exploded Saturday night.

Funeral services have been scheduled for Reuther, 62; his wife, May, 59, at 10 a.m. Friday at Ford Auditorium in downtown Detroit. Invitations were being sent out for the funeral.

The Reuthers' bodies will lie in state at the Veterans Memorial Building in Detroit from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. on both Wednesday and Thursday. After the services, the bodies will be cremated.

Production Halted

The auto, agricultural implements and aerospace plants throughout the United States and Canada will halt production for three minutes of silence Friday morning in honor of Reuther.

Gov. William Milliken proclaimed Friday "Walter Reuther Day" in Michigan in honor of the leader of the 1.6 million-member union. Flags flew at half-mast at Detroit and at auto plants.

Doctors at the University of Michigan Medical Center Monday used dental records to complete the positive identification of the victims.

Other Victims

The others included Oscar Stomorov, 64, a Philadelphia architect; William Wolfman, 29, who was Mrs. Reuther's nephew and a Reuther security guard; the pilot, George Evans, 48, and

Senate Group Approves War Fund Cutoff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, reacting swiftly to last week's widespread antiwar sentiment, has approved legislation to cut off funds for all American action in Cambodia.

The bill also would prohibit the Pentagon from authorizing military construction for Cambodia or conducting any air combat activity in support of Cambodian ground troops.

"The way out of Vietnam does not lead through Cambodia," said Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine. "The time has come to substitute new policies for old policies in Southeast Asia."

The amendment, sponsored by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., also bars the use in Cambodia of South Vietnamese troops that are supported by U.S. funds.

The committee approved the measure 9 to 4 Monday as Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., said he had received pledges of support from 31 senators for an amendment to cut off all funds for U.S. operations in Southeast Asia except for what is needed to bring home the troops.

And President Nixon repeated his pledge to 43 of the nation's governors that U.S. troops would be withdrawn from Cambodia by June 30.

The Foreign Relations Committee also approved an amendment to repeal the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution used by former President Lyndon B. Johnson as the legal basis for sending a massive troop increase to Vietnam.

Chairman William J. Fulbright, D-Ark., said the vote on the latter was unanimous.

Israeli Tanks Enter Lebanon

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli tanks supported by war planes swept into southeast Lebanon and attacked Arab guerrilla positions today, the military command in Tel Aviv reported. A spokesman said it was the biggest Israeli attack ever on Lebanon.

A military communique in Beirut said the Lebanese army was fighting the Israelis.

An Israeli spokesman gave the location of the battle only as east of the Hasbani River on the southwestern slopes of Mt. Hermon. But Lebanese military reports indicated the Israelis crossed the border from the occupied Golan Heights of Syria and drove through rugged mountain terrain in an attack on the Arkoub region.

A military spokesman said the raid was the deepest penetration so far into Lebanon.

The Lebanese army reported its positions throughout the region were being pounded by heavy artillery and Israeli jets.

Romney Asking Overall Support

NEW YORK (AP) —George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, has urged Americans to support President Nixon's Cambodia policy.

Speaking to a luncheon meeting of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks Monday, Romney called the introduction of troops into Cambodia "simply a tactical aspect of Vietnamizing the conflict to provide for the eventual withdrawal of American troops."

He added, "It would be the worst mistake, in terms of national conscience, just to pull out without preparing them (the South Vietnamese) to take over."

Colleges Open But Very Few In Classrooms

By The Associated Press

A student strike against the Indochina war continues to have widespread impact despite the official reopening of many colleges. However, student efforts to build a general workers strike have had little effect.

A survey showed 129 colleges and universities in 43 states and the District of Columbia officially reopened Monday, some with classes virtually empty due to continuing boycotts.

Meanwhile, strikes of indefinite duration were still in effect at 192 educational institutions, according to a partially complete survey by the student strike information center at Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass.

Although most of the nation's 1,500 campuses were calm, Gov. Robert McNair declared a state of emergency at the University of South Carolina in Columbia after rampaging students ransacked the first floor of the administration building and clashed with state troopers and National Guardsmen.

The troopers and guardsmen used nightsticks and tear gas to clear the campus of a rock-throwing crowd of 1,000 to 3,000 students who were protesting the arrest off 41 persons last Thursday during a campus demonstration against the war.

In Denver, about 1,000 National Guardsmen were placed on alert as authorities prepared a second attempt to dismantle "Woodstock Nation," a commune on the University of Denver campus which the university chancellor, Maurice Mitchell, described as a "doggy bag, didy-wash, squatters' camp."

Police battled some 1,000 young people and arrested 30 Monday when they moved in to dismantle the commune. However, the shantytown of tents and shacks was rebuilt larger than before after police withdrew.

The response to student calls for a general workers strike has been small and scattered.

Favor Frazier For UAW Post

DETROIT (AP) — "That tells quite a story," says Emil Mazey, pointing to a picture of a turtle on his office wall. "The point is, you never make any progress unless, like a turtle, you're willing to stick your neck out."

Mazey has made a career of sticking his neck out and it has led him at 57 to temporary leadership of 1.6 million United Auto Workers.

Walter P. Reuther, his wife and four others died Saturday night in a plane crash near Pellston, Mich. As UAW secretary-treasurer, Mazey temporarily succeeded him.

The union's constitution provides that 26-member international executive board eventually shall select a president to serve until the next union convention which will be 1972.

Mazey may bid for the job when he and the other executive board members gather to name the new president, but most speculation now centers on selection of one of the seven vice presidents, with Douglas Frazer, 54, the favorite.

Racial Violence Leaves Five Dead

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — An outbreak of racial violence triggered by the beating to death of a teen-age Negro jail inmate has left five persons dead, more than 60 injured and widespread property damage in this east Georgia city.

Firemen, escorted by National Guardsmen and state troopers ordered into the city by Gov. Lester Maddox, gradually brought under control more than 50 fires set Monday night by roving bands of Negroes.

Authorities said the situation was calming early today and that sporadic sniper fire was dying out.

Maddox, at the request of Mayor Millard Beckum, ordered more than 200 guardsmen and 40 state troopers into the city after the violence broke out Monday afternoon. Beckum also ordered a citywide curfew into effect from midnight until 8 a.m.

The troopers and guardsmen sealed off a mainly Negro area covering about 130 square blocks on the fringe of the downtown business section. They set up barricades on major thoroughfares into the area and stopped autos to search for firearms, arresting anyone who possessed a weapon.

Authorities declined to speculate on whether the five persons killed, all Negro males, were hit by police or sniper fire.

The two hospitals in the city, Talmadge Memorial and University, said they had treated more than 63 persons for various wounds, including gunshots, cuts and bruises.

Officers said the number of arrests could easily go into the hundreds. "We've got 'em stacked up all over the place," a jailer said.

Weather

ESCANABA AND VICINITY—Cloudy and cool with chance of rain or drizzle at times with thundershowers possible by tonight. High in the lower 50s, low tonight around 40. Wednesday's outlook: Cloudy and a little warmer with occasional thundershowers, high near 60. East to northeast winds 10 to 15 mph tonight becoming southeast to south 10 to 20 mph late Wednesday. Probabilities of precipitation: 50% today, 60% tonight and Wednesday. Sun sets today at 8:09 and rises Wednesday at 5:20.

AN AMERICAN GI who collapsed from exhaustion and was swept away by a stream's current, was dragged ashore by a buddy at Khe Go Bridge, South Vietnam. They were part of a U. S. Infantry company who broke out of a 43-day seige of Base Fuller—a mountain-top they call "hell." The company was abandoning the base and turning it over to South Vietnamese troops when they were greeted with a 40-round mortar barrage from the enemy. The base is four miles south of the demilitarized zone. (AP Wirephoto)

Blame Lieutenant In Kent U. Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the wave of an arm, an Ohio National Guard lieutenant gave the order to fire that resulted in the deaths of four Kent State University students last week, Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, said Monday.

Young declined to identify the lieutenant, but said he should be charged with second degree murder.

"The lieutenant in charge of that platoon held his arm aloft and pulled it down and immediately a volley was fired from the guardsmen," Young told the Senate.

"The officer who ordered the guardsmen to fire point blank into the students was guilty of murder in the second degree," he added.

Young said he received his information during interviews with Kent State students. He added that he was sending an affidavit from one witness to the U.S. attorney.

Young made his statement as Life magazine published a copyrighted photograph showing one guardsman, apparently an officer, aiming a pistol toward a group of students.

An Ohio National Guard official in Columbus said there was no indication that any .45 caliber pistols were fired during the incident. The spokesman added that only officers carried .45 caliber pistols at Kent State.

Two Associated Press reporters examining the scene of the shooting shortly after the incident reported finding a spent bullet that appeared to be larger than the .30 caliber slugs fired from M1 rifles.

Its exact diameter could not immediately be determined, partly because the bullet had mushroomed on impact. The slug was turned over to a guard officer who pocketed it without comment.

Meanwhile, Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard, the government's chief civil rights enforcer, assumed command of an expanded investigation into the fatal shootings.

Leonard sent two civil rights division lawyers to Ohio to talk with FBI agents and U.S. Atty. Robert B. Krupansky of Cleveland.

Leonard added that no decision had yet been made on whether to convene a federal grand jury to seek indictments in connection with the incident.

Rock-Throwing Disorder Noted

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Scattered incidents of rock throwing have occurred for the third consecutive night in a predominantly Negro section of Grand Rapids.

Police arrested three persons Monday night after about six scattered incidents of rock throwing. No injuries were reported.

Firemen said three fires in the same general area were caused by arson. The blazes in a garage, a vacant house, and a vacnt building did a total of $14,000 damage, firemen reported.

200 Attend Rites For Tennis Coach

TROY, Mich. (AP) — Some two hundred mourners, representing the business elite, tennis champions and young tennis students, turned out Monday to pay last respects to internationally known tennis coach Jean Hoxie.

The six members of her Northwood Institute tennis team served as pallbearers at the services at White Chapel Cemetery in the Detroit suburb of Troy.

Mrs. Hoxie died last Wednesday in a freak accident. Doctors said she suffered a circulatory spell, fell from her car and was run over. Mrs. Hoxie was 71.

Born in Gladwin, Mrs. Hoxie was the surviving member of the famed tennis teaching team of Jean and Gerry Hoxie. Her husband, a former amateur champion, died in 1967.

Six Seek Two Seats On Holy Name Board

Two seats on the Holy Name High School Board of Education are to be filled by elections which will be held May 16-17.

One of the vacancies must be filled by a member from one of the four Escanaba Catholic parishes; the other must be filled by a member from one of the six Catholic parishes outside the city. The ballots will be mailed to eligible registered parishioners, or made available to them in their churches next weekend. All ballots must be returned to the Office of the Superintendent, Holy Name High School, by 4 p.m. Monday, May 18.

Candidates for the three-year term from the Escanaba parishes are: Incumbent President Earl G. Delforge, Fred Juetten, and Mrs. Stanley (Elaine) Peterson. The candidates for the three-year term from the parishes outside the city are: Incumbent Secretary Kenneth Gartland, of Rte. 1, Gladstone, Henry C. Hughes of Flatrock, and Mrs. Phillip (Delores) Viau of Schaffer.

Earl G. Delforge, 1714 Grand Ave., Escanaba, a native of Green Bay, graduated from St. Francis Xavier elementary school and attended Catholic high school for two years. He graduated from Green Bay East High School.

He is a plumber, completed apprenticeship courses at the Wisconsin Industrial Commission and Vocational School at Green Bay, has been employed the last 23 years by Morley-Murphy, and is presently manager of the Plumbing and Heating Department in Escanaba.

Delforge and his wife, Florence, have six children. Richard and David are graduates of Holy Name and Nancy will graduate this year, and Gus is a sophomore.

Delforge is a member of the Kiwanis Club, the United Commercial Travelers, the Knights of Columbus, the St. Anne Parish Choir and is president of the Holy Name Society at St. Anne Parish. He has served three years on the Holy Name High School Board of Education, and is presently its president.

Fred Juetten, 2108 S. 21st St., Escanaba, is a salesman for the Universal Paper Co., Appleton. He received a diploma from the Escanaba Senior High School, and studied law through LaSalle. He has been manager of the National Tea Stores in DePere and Rhinelander, Wis., and was a salesman for General Foods before taking his present position.

Juetten is a member of St. Joseph Parish, the Holy Name Booster Club and Parents Club and is a member of and has held office in the Escanaba Elk's Club.

He is married and has five children, Joseph, Mary Jean, Susan, James and Stephen. Three are graduates of Holy Name, Jim will graduate this year, and Stephen is presently a junior.

Mrs. Stanley (Elaine) Peterson, 331 N. 16th St., Escanaba, is a member of St. Patrick Parish, who has had a long acquaintance with Holy Name. Three of her children are graduates, and she has a son as a freshman now. Mrs. Peterson has had a child as a student at Holy Name its first 10 years of existence.

She has graduated from high school herself, and has had courses in religious education, aimed at teaching high school religion. She is a member of the Holy Name Booster Club, the Parents Club, the Better Speech and Hearing Society, the Recreational Association for Handicapped Children, and the St. Patrick Parish Guild.

Her husband, Stanley, works at Eaton, Yale and Towne in Gladstone. They have five children, four of whom are married, and nine grandchildren.

Candidates from outside the city of Escanaba are:

Kenneth Gartland, Rte. 1, Gladstone, is a partner in Delta Home Improvement Lumber Co. He is an adviser for Junior Achievement of Escanaba and a member of the Elks. He is a member of St. Anthony Parish, Wells, and is finishing his first term as a member of the Holy Name Board of Education of which he is at present also secretary.

Gartland graduated from Holy Name High School in 1958. He is married to the former Patricia Grenier, and they have five sons. He is a life-long resident of the Escanaba area.

Henry C. Hughes, Rte. 1, Gladstone, is a member of Holy Family Parish, Flat Rock. He graduated from St. Joseph High School of Escanaba in 1941. He has been associated with and dealer for the Surge Dairy Equipment and Water Conditioners Co. for 19 years, and is employed by the Flat Rock Public Schols as transportation supervisor and garage mechanic.

Hughes was supervisor for Escanaba Township for six years, president of the Delta County Farm Bureau for two terms, and president of the Holy Family Parish Holy, Name Society.

He is married to the former Ileen Neuens, and they have 10 children, three of which are attending college after graduating from Holy Name, and two attending Holy Name at the present.

Mrs. Phillip (Dolores) Viau lives in Schaffer. She graduated from Niagara, Wis., High School in 1949 after having spent most of her early life in Schaffer.

Her husband, Phillip, in his work as construction superintendent, travelled with the family throughout many states. They have lived in Schaffer the past five years and because the oldest three of their seven childrn are in Holy Name, her interest in the school has caused her to seek a seat on the Board of Education.

Mrs. Viau is an active member of Sacred Heart Parish, Schaffer, in the Sacred Heart Altar Society, and was Treasurer of the St. Anne Society for three years. She has been active in the Bark River Parents-Teachers Association as her other four children attend the Bark River-Harris Elementary School, and she has worked as a 4-H leader for two years.

All registered members of the ten parishes which participate in Holy Name High School over 18 years of age are eligible to vote in the election. All may vote for one candidate from the Escanaba parishes and one candidate from the parishes outside the city.

Services Held Today For Leisner Infant

Gregory James Leisner, one-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Leisner, 501 S. 13th St., died Monday morning at St. Francis Hospital. The infant was born May 3.

He is survived by his parents; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Leisner of Rte. 2, Escanaba and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Berntsen of Escanaba.

Funeral services were conducted at 1:30 p.m. today with the Rev. Philip Kuckhahn of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Hyde officiating and burial was in the Babyland section of Lakeview Cemetery.

Show Closes

NEW YORK (AP) — The John Fernald Company's production of "The Cherry Orchard," weak at the box office after generally adverse reviews, closed over the weekend at New York's ANTA Theater after five performances.

The company, based at Oakland University in Rochester, Mich., had trouble from the outset. It was forced to open last Wednesday without scenery, shelved after two craft unions complained that the sets were not union made and thus violated industry regulations.

Highway Program:

Ruppe Questions Interstate Plan

Northern Michigan citizens may have to decide if improvement of existing roads and highways should have priority over recommended interstate highways through the Upper Peninsula.

In a letter to Upper Peninsula State legislators, Congressman Philip E. Ruppe expressed deep concern over a provision in the Michigan Public Acts which expresses the intent of the legislature to match federal funds for an interstate through the Upper Peninsula.

Ruppe sounded his warning after receiving a recent letter from State Senator Joseph Mack and several State Representatives which said in part, "It is the intent of the Michigan Legislature to act upon this project as soon as it is approved by the Federal Bureau of Roads."

"In the first place," Ruppe responded, "the Federal Government does not dictate specific interstate expansions. Rather, the State Government makes a formal request to the Federal Highway Administration for a specific extension of the interstate system. I am not aware of a specific route request from the Michigan Department of State Highways. Ruppe pointed out that an interstate highway weuld cost a minimum of $350 million and could not be completed before 1985.

"The alternative to an interstate highway," Ruppe continued, "is improvement of our present road system and converting such highways as U.S. 2, M-28, and U.S. 41 into major truck lines.

"In these times of tight budgeting, there is not sufficient money at either the state or federal level to build a high-speed limited-access interstate highway and simultaneously upgrade our existing network of roads and highways. Thus we have a clear choice of whether we wish to put 'our eggs in the interstate basket' or whether we wish to use all available resources to improve present roads and develop existing highways into non-interstate multi-lane highways that run through the population centers of the Upper Peninsula."

"I hope," Ruppe concluded his letter, "that the action of the state legislature expressing intent to extend funds for an east-west interstate highway does not commit the State of Michigan to a position that in the long run may not be in the best interests of the Upper Peninsula."

Death Claims J. Landwehr

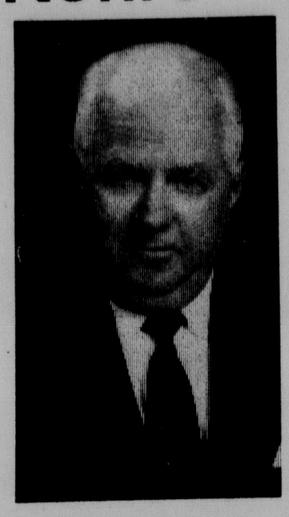
MANISTIQUE — Joseph Landwehr, 75, of Rte. 1, Manistique, died at 4:15 a. m., at Leila Hospital in Battle Creek.

He was born June 4, 1885 in Manistique and had spent most of his life there. Mr. Landwehr was a member of St. Francis de Sales Church.

He is survived by one brother, Louis of Manistique; one sister, Mrs. Nick (Anna) Robinich of Manitowoc, Wis., and several nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the Messier-Broullire Funeral Home after 4 p. m., Thursday and liturgical prayers will be recited at 8 p. m., Thursday. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m., Friday at St. Francis de Sales Church with burial in Fairview Cemetery.

U-M Extension Asst. Director Follo To Retire



Charles Follo

Charles Follo, assistant director of the U-M Extension Service for the Upper Peninsula will begin retirement furlough as of July 1.

His eligibility for retirement at age 65 coincides with the phasing out of the U-M's office in Escanaba. He will have completed 23 years of service as the representative of The University of Michigan in the Upper Peninsula.

As an extension supervisor, Follo opened the office in Escanaba in 1947, its purpose being to serve as a center for University programs and services for the entire Peninsula.

In pursuing his duties, he annually drove thousands of miles, covering the educational needs of the area and to devise ways in which the U-M could help in meeting them.

Non-credit courses and lecture series were developed in such varied fields as creative writing, world affairs, real estate, parent education, nature study, and music appreciation. Concert series were presented by members of the School of Music faculty.

Follo, who was appointed assistant director of the Extension Service for the Upper Peninsula in 1957, has been active in so many educational, cultural, and civic organizations at the local, state, and national level that it would be impossible to name them all.

He served on the Escanaba Library Board of Trustees (president in 1952-53), the Civil Service Commission of Escanaba, the Escanaba Board of Education, and the Bay De Noc Community College Board of Trustees, being elected president of that board in 1969.

He helped organize the Upper Peninsula Crafts Council and has served as its chairman, vice-president, and president. He has been an active member of the Upper Peninsula Educational Planning Council, the U. P. Child Guidance Center Committee, and more recently, has served as chairman of the Human Resources Committee of the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress (UPCAP).

Follo has long been a leader in the development of plans for institutional collaboration among the colleges and universities of the Upper Peninsula.

Always interested in Michigan history, Follo has been a member of the Delta County Historical Society, serving as its president for two terms; of the Historical Society of Michigan, serving on its Board of Trustees and as its president; and of the American Association for State and National History, from which he received a citation in 1962 for unusual contributions to state and local history.

As the Delegate from Delta County, Follo served in the Michigan Constitutional Convention from October 3, 1961, to May 22, 1962.

He is a member of the Escanaba Rotary Club. As a member of St. Stephens Episcopal Church (Escanaba), he has served as a member of its vestry at various times, and in 1969 was elected to the Diocesan Council of the Upper Peninsula Diocese of the Episcopal Church.

A gradute of Western Michigan University, Follo also holds an M. A. degree from the University of Chicago, and is an honorary alumnus of The University of Michigan.

He is listed in Who's Who in the Midwest and in Who's Who in American Education.

Briefly Told

Soo Hilltoppers 4-H Club will meet Wednesday at the school at 7 p.m. Persons wishing to join the club should attend this meeting.

2 From Michigan Killed In Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Michigan men were among the latest 76 American servicemen killed in action at the war in Southeast Asia, the Defense Department reported.

They were Army S. Sgt. Everett L. Brocks, husband of Mrs. Barbara J. Brocks of Detroit, and Army Sgt. Charles R. West, husband of Mrs. Linda L. West of Detroit.

April Wholesale Prices Hold Firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices did not decline in April as indicated in a preliminary report, but the final figures issued today nevertheless cheered the administration: they failed to rise for the first time in 18 months.

Only farm and food prices declined in the wholesale index, however.

Industrial raw materials rose three-tenths of one per cent, but this too was a hopeful indicator, because it represented a 3.6 per cent annual rise instead of the 4 per cent rate of increase at the start of the year.

The index stood at 116.6 per cent of the 1957-59 average in April. That compared with 111.9 per cent a year earlier.

This meant that it cost $116.60 in March and April, on the average, to buy the same assortment of wholesale goods which would have cost $100 in 1957-59.

For all commodities represented in the index, the price average was 4.2 per cent above a year ago, down from a 4.8 per cent rate of annual rise in January.

An even better showing had been hoped for when the tentative index figures were released on April 29. They showed a decline of one-tenth of one per cent in the wholesale index, the first drop in 20 months.

However, the final figures showed that farm products, despite a 2.4 per cent dip in the month, did not decline quite as far as had been estimated in the earlier report.

The farm and food sector of the wholesale index is less valuable than the industrial commodities sector because it is more susceptible to wide fluctuations owing to market conditions and weather.

The increase in industrial raw materials was broad; there were increases for almost all the commodities except rubber and plastic products, textiles and apparel, and transportation equipment.

Milliken Says Sensible Units Greatest Hope

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken says a "militarily optimistic" President Nixon told the nation's governor's repeatedly Monday that he expected U. S. troops would be out of Cambodia by the end of June.

An aide said Milliken reported also that the President "sought no support" for the Cambodian action at the session with governors in Washington. "This was an informational meeting," the aide said, and the President apparently "didn't want to put anyone in a position where he would be compelled to make a comment one way or another."

Milliken has said he holds "very deep reservations" about U.S. involvement in Cambodia.

The aide reported, however, that other governors' reports of campus violence had a "very sobering" effect on Milliken.

A number of governors reported that if campuses in some states had been untouched by violence, it may be because "organized groups just haven't gotten around to them," the president said.

Milliken, he added, "came back convinced more than ever that the greatest hope for peaceful dissent is the sensible majority, those who disavow violence."

Nixon called the session with governors to discuss the war and campus violence after the deaths last week of four Kent State University students in an antiwar demonstration.

Republican governors cancelled a planned weekend conference because of outbreaks of violence on campuses.

United Approach

State Rep. George F. Montgomery, a 36-year-old Detroiter who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, made a suggestion when in Escanaba the other day.

Montgomery proposed that the State of Michigan coordinate its environmental control efforts in a single agency — an Environmental Safety agency — to eliminate the present situation where seven or eight state organizations are involved in one way or another.

The Department of Natural Resources, which was reorganized on Jan. 1, 1966, and given its present name on Nov. 15, 1968, is charged with protecting and conserving the natural resources of the state. The Water Resources Commission, a part of the DNR, among its responsibilities is concerned with abatement and prevention of pollution of surface, underground and Great Lakes waters; establishing water quality standards for lakes and streams, and carrying on comprehensive water resource planning, including pollution control.

The Water Resources Commission also is working to control and prevent damage from floods and erosion, or natural resource conservation effort which overlaps the prevention of soil erosion responsibilities of the State Soil Conservation Committee under the Dept. of Agriculture. The Dept. of Agriculture also has responsibilities in areas of pesticides, which contribute to the pollution problem.

Then, there is the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission, another anti-pollution agency. The commission is part of the Michigan Department of Public Health, an agency which works in other areas of pollution control and abatement, like municipal wastewater systems and solid waste disposal.

Montgomery's idea is to combine all the environmental units in the state into a single, coordinated agency working under one of the major departments. It makes sense.

Take the recent application by Mead Corp. to the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission for a permit to build a $63.9 million kraft pulp mill at the Escanaba Paper Co., for example. The company had to go to the Water Resources Commission for approval of its program to abate water pollution from the expanded paper and pulp mill facilities. Then when it came to air pollution, the Air Pollution Control Commission took over.

Similarly, the City of Escanaba was cited by the Air Pollution Control Commission for its asphalt plant, yet is working with the State Health Dept. on improving wastewater treatment.

Protecting the environment involves more than just air pollution or water pollution or waste disposal or preservation of natural resources. There are suspicions that the world isn't aware of how complex the problem may be, despite all of the current emphasis.

Combining all of the individuals and agencies now working on the problems and dealing in the scientific minds at work at colleges and universities in the state, however, could give Michigan the resources to make the best possible effort at defining and solving the problems.

Peninsula Potpourri

Police work can often be fraught with frustrations, as Bessemer Police Chief Clayton Rund and Gogebic County Sheriff Chester Prebish found out. Investigating a report on what appeared to be a fresh grave in the Memory Lane Park north of U. S. 2 on Bessemer's east side. Rund found a neat mound of fresh dirt with a rock placed at one end uncomfortably resembling a headstone. The dirt mound was outlined by sticks. Rund rolled up his sleeves, spit on his hands and began the grisly task of uncovering the plot of ground. Prebish, noticing the squad car and stopping to see if his assistance was needed, was quickly drafted to help in the dirty work. Two hours later and four feet deeper, the law enforcement duo struck something solid and, digging further, found only a large rock which had been buried there by the park's caretaker last year. A thorough search of the pit revealed no trace of wrong-doing, so the chagrined officers reburied the rock and left the park. The identity of the perpetrator of the macabre joke is unknown, but police would prefer to drop the matter.

VERY TOUCHING

TAKING ISSUE

In times of increasing social turbulence such as ours, when reports of violent battles, riots and assassinations assault our ears with nerve-deadening regularity; in times when the frequency of man's brutality to man tends to condone its occurrence; in times when force becomes, even for a peace-loving people, the accepted panacea for most social ills: a cry of alarm against mounting hysteria — a call for rationality in the midst of a hurricane of ill will — strikes one as being, paradoxically, both redundant and irrelevant, inasmuch as the voice of the peacemaker (shouted, it seems, from every pulpit, campus center, and urban streetcorner) appears to be finding fewer listeners.

Yet we the undersigned, believing that silence connotes consent, feel impelled to take issue with the remarks of Mr. Richard Ketcik, which appeared in the "Letters to the Press" of Saturday, May 9, because we believe that his attitude is typical of the growing majority backlash that portends danger for the United States.

Mr. Ketcik's letter, written specifically to vindicate the National Guard in its responsibility for the deaths of four students during the recent disturbances at Kent State University, contained a number of fallacies indicative of the repressive attitudes which are daily growing more common among those who have lost touch with our youth, particularly our students.

First, he asserts that the Guard was justified in gunning down the students, notwithstanding the fact that the troops, who have never fired openly on an American crowd before, are specifically instructed not to aim to kill (Daily Press, May 5, page 1), and that the fatal shots appear, to witnesses, to have been deliberate and unprovoked (Daily Press, May 5, page 5). Even Vice President Agnew, certainly no bleeding-heart liberal, feels that the killing of the four students (characterized by their acquaintances as clean-cut, studious types) may constitute murder (Daily Press, May 8, page 1). In fact, no responsible authority is now condoning these senseless deaths.

Yet Mr. Ketcik justifies them by rationalizing that "the fact that the students were there (at the scene of the demonstration, presumably) shows they were in support of unlawful demonstrations and destruction which had been taking place, and wouldn't have been shot if they hadn't taken such action." This statement is false. Almost everyone from an urban area has witnessed demonstrations without becoming involved in them. To say that every hanger-on and gawker in the vicinity of a riot is, ipso facto, a rioter worthy to be shot, is tantamout to saying that everyone who follows a fire truck to a burning building is an arsonist.

Such a position, it is evident, is dangerous. We, as members of the faculty of Bay de Noc Community College (we are writing as individuals, not as college representatives), reject as abhorrent such indiscriminate military maneuvers on our campuses. The notion of an "open season" on college students is anathema to us.

Second, and even more indictative of backlash mentality, is Mr. Ketcik's assertion that student desecraters of the American flag ". . . most assuredly should be shot." This statement is not only inflammatory and irresponsible, but it betrays an appalling lack of knowledge concerning American justice. For those who would allow their patriotic zeal to bind their vision of legality, let us posit a gentle reminder that we are a government of laws, not of men; that flag burning, while insulting to most of us, is not a capital crime; and that the act of shooting these demonstrators would violate the letter and spirit of a quaint old American document, the Constitution, which guarantees to us (and even to student lawbreakers) the right of due process (Article VI) and the right of protection against "cruel and unusual punishments." (Article VIII). It seems strange that you, Mr. Ketcik, would villify students because they ". . . don't know how to behave as law-abiding citizens."

Last, Mr. Ketcik proceeds to point the finger of blame — at college presidents (who, we would imagine, should "get tough"), "students who think it is fun to destroy" (a majority, no doubt), and other violent persons. The purport of this mandate is clear — order, above all, must come first. If handled expediently, Mr. Ketcik's dreams of order could be easily realized. Hitler achieved order among his ranks. Russia recently re-established order in Czechoslovakia. Order is necessary, of course, but without justice it spells repression and despotism.

The way out of our national dilemma will not be easy, but it will certainly not be accomplished by taking potshots at rock - throwing demonstrators and other young people unfortunate enough to be on a college campus at the wrong moment. We will be more likely to find our solution through cooperation and understanding, as President Nixon stated in his Inaugural Address: "America has suffered from a rhetoric . . . that fans discontents into hatreds . . . We cannot learn from one another until we stop shouting at one another . . . For its part, government will listen." Such an idealistic request is not as elusive a dream as it sounds. Last weekend the President did listen to the students at the Lincoln Memorial, and they responded politely and nonviolently — simply because he listened.

Finally, regarding understanding, we must remember — if we ever knew — that students are unique individuals. When we put aside our stereotypes we realize that Latin's aren't always lovers, that the Irish aren't always policemen, that women aren't always fickle. Yet when our students (some of whom are violent, some of whom aren't) are shot at before they are talked to, when they are fired upon en masse — the guilty and innocent alike — the ultimate act of dehumanization has occurred.

To some this may mean little, but the implications are clear — we cannot destroy, or ignore, our student population and still expect America to survive. We have the power to shoot flag-burners and rock throwers, but do we have the depth and maturity to ask them why they burn flags and throw rocks? Granted, it's easier to mouth slogans like "America: Love It or Leave It;" on the other hand, to expect adults to not only endure but to listen to the criticism of our young is to ask all that we have. But realistically we have no choice. It has been said that a nation that hates its youth has no future. The handwriting is on the wall, and our task is obvious — not to scribble the wall with insults, but to read, and read carefully.

RATIONAL PROCESSES

I regret that I did not follow my first impulse last Wednesday and commend you immediately for your editorial analysis of the death by shooting of the four Kent State students.

I was impressed by the evidence in that editorial of a rationality, sanity, tolerance and compassion that epitomizes the qualities in my country and my countrymen upon which are based my deep feelings of patriotism and love of my country, but which seem increasingly to be giving way to violent dissent on the one hand and hysterical over-reactions on the other.

Saturday's paper carried a letter condemning you for that editorial so I am writing belatedly to let you know that at least one person is grateful for your advocacy of an adherence to rational processes as a means of resolving the very grave problems that are dividing the people of our country today. Thank you and "may your tribe increase."

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
3 ♠	4 ♥	4 ♠	Dble

Opening lead—king of hearts.

The bidding will often tell declarer a great deal about the distribution of the unseen cards.

Here is a typical case where declarer gauged the situation perfectly and brought home a contract that would have failed had he taken a less perspicacious view of the matter at hand.

West led the king of hearts and South quickly realized that for East to have a sound double of four spades he practically had to have all four of the missing trumps.

To avoid a trump loser seemed next to impossible—since South could take only one finesse through East's queen — but he nevertheless found a way of bringing the hand to a happy conclusion.

He won the heart lead with the ace and promptly made the key play of ruffing a heart. He then finessed dummy's queen of clubs and ruffed another heart, after which he crossed to the ace of clubs and ruffed dummy's last heart.

By this time South was down to the K-J-10-7 of spades and J-10-3 of diamonds, and all that there remained for him to do was to score four trump tricks.

This task did not prove too formidable when he led a spade to the ace, continued with a spade to the ten, and next exited with the jack of diamonds.

The best the defenders could now do was to cash their three diamond tricks, but South was then bound to win the last two tricks with his K-J of trumps sitting over East's Q-9.

Declarer would have found himself unable to make the contract had he not deliberately ruffed three times in his hand for the purpose of cutting his trump length down to the same size as East's. It took some doing, but South dood it!

Ann Landers

Long-Haired Kids Clogging Up Sink

Dear Ann Landers: I agree with the mother who wishes you would quit saying "hair is not important." Hair is very important at our house. We have three long-haired sons and a daughter whose hair is down to her waist.

The boys wash their hair four times a week. With the girl, it's a daily ritual. This means 19 towels in the wash every Monday morning. We buy shampoo by the case. And now they are asking for creme rinse which costs nearly as much as shampoo. We have two hair dryers in the house which are in constant use. The electricity bill is out of this world.

Nothing clogs up the sink like hair. It's easier to get a doctor to come out than a plumber. (And cheaper, too.) The last time a plumber came he greeted me with, "More hair, huh." So please, Ann Landers, don't tell me hair is not important because I know better. — Mrs. G. W. W. of Chattanooga

Dear Ann Landers: This will probably come as a shock to you, but I am in love with my husband. Don't ask me why. He snores, looks at too much TV, rubbernecks when a cute dish struts by in a mini-skirt, forgets to throw his shorts and sox in the hamper and he leaves wet towels on the bathroom floor. I could go on and on — but aren't these things that make a man a man?

My husband has provided me with everything a woman could ask for — plus love. I sometimes wonder if I have done as much for him. Please print my letter, Ann. It might be a welcome relief from the daily recital of wifely complaints. Sign me — No Newlywed

Dear N.N.: Here's your letter and my thanks for writing it. It is indeed a welcome relief. I don't agree, however, that the faults you listed "make a man a man." A woman might love a man in spite of them, but not because of them.

Dear Ann Landers: Sometimes grandma's home remedies are better than all the scientific discoveries put together. The letter from the sleepwalker who was reluctant to take a trip for fear she'd show up in hotel lobby at 3:00 a.m. wearing her nightgown (or less) reminded me of a problem in our own family.

Uncle Earle used to walk in his sleep. It worried Grandma to death the way Uncle Earle unbolted the door, let himself out of his room and walked all over the neighborhood — sound asleep.

One day Grandma hit on a bright idea. She had Grandpa build a small trough — like they used for slopping the hogs, only lower. She filled the trough with cold water and put it alongside Uncle Earle's bed. He had to step in it to stand up. The cold water awakened him at once and that put an end to his sleepwalking. Please print this if you think it will help somebody. — A Friend

Dear Friend: Grandma's solution makes sense. Other readers suggested cornflakes or popcorn strewn beside the bed where the sleepwalker would step on it. Any of the suggestions are worth a try.

Admiral, 104, Says Sailing, Girls Both Good Health Aids

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — "You've just got to get to sea once in awhile, keep up with what's going on and maybe chase a few girls to keep healthy these days," says the nation's oldest admiral, Richard H. Jackson, offering advice on his 104th birthday.

More than 200 persons visited him recently at his home.

Wearing a bright red sport coat and black bow tie, Jackson told Miss Alabama, Ann Fowler, "Ill have none of that dang ritual," when she wished him a happy birthday and bent over to kiss him.

Then he pulled the brunette into his lap and planted two busses on her cheek before going off to cut his birthday cake, swap some sea stories with old shipmates and plans for celebrating his 105th birthday with a visit to Las Vegas, Nev.

Nation Has Returned To Problems Of '30s

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

I grew up, sociologically speaking, in the New York City of the 1930s.

It was a yeasty time, and the blandishments of the Left were compelling up to a point. As a daily book columnist for the New York Times I knew numerous radicals in the publishing business, many of whom had gone all the way into the Communist Party. Some of them were cynics in addition to being revolutionaries. They talked quite openly about "innocent fronts" and "transmission belts," meaning, of course, the liberal organizations that could be counted on to spread the Communist line without knowing what they were doing.

Later, as a member of the Newspaper Guild at Time, Inc., I learned a good deal more from Whittaker Chambers about the operations of the Left.

As a veteran who has lived through one period of the innocent front and transmission belt sort of thing I hoped I would never have to do it again. Alas! The history of the Thirties is being repeated. When 37 college presidents can come up on the same page in the newspapers with a statement about the foreign policy of their country that is practically indistinguishable in tone from a speech in an adjoining column by Premier Kosygin of the Soviet Union, I know we are in the presence of one of the most influential innocent fronts of them all.

Well, I, for one, object to being subjected to the indignity of having to live in a nation of patsies.

We have only one President, and he will be in office, Heaven protect him, until 1973. Despite the collective opinion of those 37 college presidents, the fact is incontestable that you cannot fight a war, even a war of successful extrication, if you are to deny your self the right to flank your enemy when he is successfully preparing to outflank you.

The situation in Southeast Asia was drastically changed when the new Cambodian government of Premier Lon Nol was endangered by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops who were threatening to surround the capital of Phnom Penh. A Cambodia controlled by the Communists would complete the investment of South Vietnam on the north and on the west, making it impossible for any process of "Vietnamization" of the war to succeed.

If 37 college presidents are unable to grasp such an elementary point of strategic thinking, it speaks volumes. How, with such innocents running our educational system, is it possible for anyone to teach the inexorable facts of war?

It won't do for the college presidents to say that we should not be in a war in Vietnam. The fact is that we are. Nixon is doing his best to get us out of it without provoking a tragedy that will only lead to further conflict under more disadvantageous situations. He deserves a fighting chance to carry through with his policies, which have been supported by a majority of the people.

The poor fellow may not get away with it after the weakening processes that have been at work in America for the last five years. Last week, at Yale, I talked with students on the right and in the center and even left of center who kept saying, "Don't bring my name into it." They knew they couldn't afford themselves the luxury of free speech or attempted argument. Some of them said they had been threatened.

At one university in central Massachusetts a conservative group had to cancel an invitation to hear a prominent authority on the state of affairs in Castro's Cuba. My colleague Bill Buckley was supposed to be a temporary fellow-in-residence at one of the Yale colleges during the week that would have culminated in Law Day if the Law Day observances had not been canceled. But the college master who had invited Bill decided that it would be safer if his distinguished guest postponed his visit until next fall.

This is America in 1970. Young Americans for Freedom can't attempt to raise an American flag without being subjected to threats of bodily injury. The 1930s were bad enough. But the Seventies promise to be infinitely worse.

Why are we reduced to such a state? It is because the Left understands the principles of social jujitsu. It knows the dynamics of trapping our innocents into motions that end with the innocents knocking themselves out.

Mich-Con Cites Losses Because Of Rate Ruling

The Michigan Public Service Commission opened hearings in the Delta County courthouse today on complaints seeking to force Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. to extend service to four Michigan communities.

The complaints were filed by the City of Manistique, Newberry State Hospital, and the townships of Watersmeet and Marenisco.

Alfred R. Glancy III, treasurer of the company, said plans to serve 12 communities in the Upper and Northern Lower Peninsula had to be abandoned when rising costs and an inadequate rate order from the Michigan Public Service Commission rendered the projects uneconomic. The Commission last year granted the company a rate increase of only 1½ per cent. The company contended its costs had gone up 10 per cent.

Glancy said the company does not agree that the MPSC has power, under Michigan law, to force the utility to invest in expansions which it considers would result in losses.

"We were forced to cancel plans to serve these communities," Glancy said, "because of skyrocketing costs which the Public Service Commission failed to consider in setting our rates. Our interest costs have roughly doubled, and construction costs have gone up about 50 per cent.

"The total investment required would be about $2.7 million, of which $1.6 million would have to be borrowed, and the balance of $1.1 million would be put up by stockholders.

"Our surveys indicate our revenues in the first five years would fall more than $200,000 short of meeting interest costs on borrowed money, and stockholders would get nothing.

"After the fifth year when the market would presumably be fully developed, the Company would continue to lose money.

"Obviously no business can stay in business if it builds new facilities on which it is going to lose money. We do not believe the Commission has the power to force us to do so.

"Indeed, the Commission has always required us, in the past, to show that proposed expansions are economic, before granting us authority to lay new lines. This is for the protection of existing customers, who otherwise would be subsidizing, in their rates, uneconomic expansion projects."

Glancy said the company will show, during the hearing, that the Newberry, Marenisco, Watersmeet and Manistique projects would not pay their way, under existing economic conditions and the company's existing rate structure.

Hearings are being conducted before Alfred Sullivan, hearing examiner for the MPSC.

TAKING THE SPAWN is the work of these DNR fish biologists Dick Schorfhaar, Crystal Falls, Hugh Brady of Thompson, and Jerry Peterson of Newberry. The commercial fishermen who take the suckers in pound nets at the mouths of sucker run streams in Delta and Menominee counties sell the fish for 2 cents a pound after the spawn is removed. The eggs are used in propagating suckers that feed muskies, walleyes and northerns in state hatcheries. (Cliff Long Photo)

Cleary, Defense Chief, Visits Delta County

Warren P. Cleary, regional director, Department of Army, Office of the Secretary of Army and Office of Civil Defense, Region IV of Battle Creek which is headquarters for five states, visited the Civil Defense Office of Delta County on April 22, 23 and 24.

Cleary is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cleary of Escanaba. Mason E. Johnson, Delta County Civil Defense director, said this was Cleary's first visit home in six years.

Huge Numbers Ring Raided

DETROIT (AP)— A five-hour sweep by over 200 FBI agents Monday evening resulted in what Atty. Gen. John Mitchell called the biggest gambling raid by federal agents in the nation's history.

Agents raided 58 locations in Detroit and its suburbs and in Flint, Mich., and arrested 58 persons. Nine others were being sought. Federal officials said the raid broke up a numbers ring which had been grossing a quarter of a million dollars daily.

All those arrested made appearances Monday night before U.S. Commissioner Warren Kraypohl. All were released on $1,000 bond on charges of conspiracy to violate provisions of the Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering Law.

The charge carries a maximum sentence of five years in prison, a $10,000 fine or both.

An FBI spokesman said that in addition to making the arrests, agents seized cash, numbers slips, tally sheets, files, adding machines and firearms.

Few details of the raid were immediately released. U.S. Atty. James Brickley brushed aside newspen's questions, saying no information would be released until a news conference at 9 a. m., today.

Lesser Bills In Legislature On Action List

LANSING (AP) — Postponing action on major controversial issues, the Michigan Legislature plunged Monday into a mass of lesser bills and problems reflecting a wide range of personal and political interests.

Abortion reform, a $1-billion school aid and tax conundrum, major appropriations bills and education reform gave way to talk of legalizing bingo and church raffles, licensing campgrounds, "taxing" doctors and putting rear - view mirrors on motorcyclists' helmets.

There was a bill to limit bills —10 to a legislator, under a proposal being pushed by Rep. Aldred Sheridan, D-Taylor. It was advanced to a final vote without comment Monday, but a similar measure was defeated in the House last June.

In the Senate, where two bills won final passage, the issue of the day was the summer deadline schedule. Majority Republicans have proposed numerous versions of meeting dates that attempt to finish legislative chores while leaving time for re-election campaigning.

But opposition Democrats, who control the House, have refused to go along with any definite timetable. The House has far more bills to deal with and a deadline represents a threat to many of them.

"You can't bargain with the speaker," one senator said of Rep. William A. Ryan, the Detroit Democrat who presides over the House. "Ryan believes in a 50-50 compromise—50 peanuts for you, 50 elephants for him."

In action on bills, the Senate gave final approval to a bill raising the State Housing Development Authority's bonding power from $50 million to $300 million. The measure, requested by Gov. William G. Milliken, is intended to allow development of up to $1 billion worth of middle- and low-income housing units within the decade.

The Senate also agreed to join with the House in setting an Aug. 1 effective date for a bill that would fine or jail persons who refuse to leave a college campus when ordered off.

Bay de Noc Encampment, 174, will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Odd Fellows Hall.

The Golden Age Club will meet at the Bonifas Civic Center Wednesday at 7 p.m. Cards and dancing will be part of the program. All members are asked to be present.

The Escanaba Board of Appeals will meet Wednesday at 4:45 p.m. to consider requests for exceptions to the city zoning regulations. Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., planning the construction of a service center addition at 330 N. 10th St., wants to line up the front of the addition with the existing structure. The area is zoned heavy manufacturing and requires a front lawn setback. James P. Stasewich also seeks an exception to the yard requirements under the heavy manufacturing district regulation.

Foreign Bank Accounts New Tax Return Item

MIAMI (AP) — Americans will be required to report their foreign bank accounts on their tax returns for 1970, the director of the Internal Revenue Service announced today.

Randolph W. Thrower, the IRS head, told the University of Miami Tax Conference: "Taxpayers will be required to disclose the existence of foreign bank accounts on 1970 tax returns."

Thrower said the IRS now is considering the manner in which the bank accounts will be reported.

"The law does not provide our agents with all of the tools they need to cope with the illegal use of foreign banks," Thrower said. He said a Treasury Department task force is working on the problem and will develop recommendations.

Describing secret foreign bank accounts as a "matter of growing concern," the IRS chief said the anonymity they offer has been used to conceal income from such things as narcotics smuggling, black market currency operations in Southeast Asia and illegal trading in gold.

"There are a significant number of foreign accounts opened primarily to facilitate tax evasion by people who otherwise appear respectable and law abiding," Thrower said.

Safer Car Interiors Aim Of Safety Group

MILFORD, Mich. (AP)—Auto makers and government officials from many parts of the Free World Monday tackled the problem of making car interiors safer.

The unique two-day conference, sponsored by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, marked the first full scale international sharing of auto safety techniques.

John A. Volpe, U.S. secretary of transportation, told the meeting "The dissemination of life-saving techniques should not be restricted to national boundaries.

"By sharing with the world's automobile industry the latest technology in occupant restrain systems, we bring closer the day when American motorists will have the most complete crash protection possible."

The conference centered on passive restrains, primarily the air bag safety device which is under study by U.S. and foreign auto firms. They differ from active restraints, such as seat belts and shoulder harness which requires cooperation from the car occupants in putting them on.

In contrast, the air safety bag —once installed—works without any help from the driver or passengers, inflating itself in crash situations.

Volpe told the conferees meeting at General Motors' proving grounds here, "Passive restraints are systems whose time has come. I know they work; I have seen them work. Our motto should be to get the bugs out of the bags or whatever device works best and get our citizens protected at the earliest possible moment."

The U.S. highway safety head continued, "Our goal is to transform the auto from a vehicle causing injury and death in the event of a crash into a protective shield which guards against injury and death when crashes occur."

Volpe added, "We are pushing with the utmost feasible speed the installation of passive restraining devices in all motor vehicles. We are prepared to turn over our passive restraint technology to all participants in this conference."

Edward N. Cole, General Motors president, cautioned that there "still are some serious technical problems to be resolved" before air bags can be ready for mass transportation.

He said it would "unrealistic to assume the air cushion restraint system is now ready for mass production" and added that at GM "we cannot say when our air cushion restraint system will be ready for volume production."

Cole sai d the air restraint bag system, which would replace seat belts and harnesses involved almost innumerable problems ranging from the different sizes of autos to the variance in severity of impact in collisions.

The air bag systems devised thus far pop open in a split second in the event of a collision and form a protective covering around the car occupants to minimize the impact.

Volpe said, "These air bag passive restraint systems have shown a potential for saving thousands of lives." He pointed out that his department is pushing to make the bags mandatory in 1973 cars sold in the United States.

Representatives of 11 foreign countries attended the conference along with officials of auto companies including Ford, General Motors, Chrysler, American Motors, Volkswagen, Fiat, Toyota, British Leland Motors Corp., Peugeot, Rolls Royce, Mercedes-Benz, Saab and other auto firms.

GM, American Motors, Ford, Chrysler and Fiat presented the opening day's program before more than 150 delegates including Gunnar Randers, Assistant Secretary General for Scientific Affairs of NATO.

Several of the speakers cautioned that the air bag would not be a cureall for auto injuries. David Martin of GM's research laboratories said, "Any notion that air cushions in passenger cars will protect occupants so completely they will walk away from every crash, no matter how severe, is untrue."

Brazil's Money System Baffling

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil is organizing its disorganized currency system, which has infuriated and bewildered Brazilians and foreign visitors.

The government Friday will abolish the new cruzeiro and resurrect the cruzeiro, which used to be its currency unit. But this cruzeiro will not be the same as cruzeiro, which is still in circulation along with the new cruzeiro. This is why Brazil's monetary system needs the change.

Tourists, who presently gaze uncomprehendingly at bills worth anywhere from "10" to "10,000" will know how much they're spending. And Brazilians, who carefully paste and glue tattered bills together, should be pleased with the crisp new bills.

The innovation does not mean a change in Brazil's chronically unstable exchange rate. One new cruzeiro, today worth 22 cents, will become one cruzeiro, worth the same.

Brazil adopted the cruzeiro which means "cross" in Portuguese— in the mid-1940s, abandoning the mil reis, which had become almost valueless because of inflation.

But the cruzeiro plummeted in value too—by 1967 it took 2,700 cruzeiros to make a dollar.

Then came the new cruzeiro, worth 1,000 cruzeiros, but instead of calling in the crueiros in circulation, the Central Bank simply stamped them with their new worth. But not all the bills were stamped, opening foreigners to the depredations of hucksters.

Hence today's confusion, which will end when the old bills will be replaced.

Character Told By Handwriting

Learning character through handwriting was the topic of a talk by Sister Mary Vianney Elmer, of the Franciscan Order of the Sisters of Charity, to the Escanaba Kiwanis Club on Monday.

Sister Vianney is a teacher at Holy Name High School in the business administration department, and she comes by her information on handwriting, having received a certificate as a graphic analyst.

There is a total person to be found in a graphic analysis, Sister Vianney stated, as handwriting is a reflection as to what is in the mind. There is nothing mysterious about it, and it is sexless, Sister Vianney explained. You cannot tell whether the writer is male or female, because a person of one sex may have characteristics of the other, and this can appear in the handwriting.

Even persons who have had a hand cut off, and have become proficient with an artifical device can be analyzed. A graphic analyst does not judge people, but rather studies the traits and comes up with the total picture of a person's character.

The slants and strokes of a person's writing are the basis of grapho analysis. Sister Vianney than asked all the Kiwanians to write two sentences on a card, and with the aid of an opaque projecter helped the men to analyze their own handwriting.

Sister Vianney also stated that grapho analysis is now being used by some psychiatrists. It is also useful in selecting from job applicants, as well as in credit work, counseling and guidance.

City Charter

ST. CLAIR (AP)—A proposed new city charter for St. Clair has lost for the second time in six months on a tie vote.

The proposal — which would have instituted the city manager form of government for the town of 4,500—lost in December on a vote of 322 - 322. On Monday, 1,000 voters turned out and split 500-500. A simple majority was needed for passage.

Collecting DDT Seen Harming Youngsters

By JACQUELINE KORONA

LANSING (AP) — Grade schoolers who collect DDT may think they're helping fight pollution.

But they could be putting themselves in deadly danger.

With more and more being said and written about pollution, the public is mobilizing against dangers to the environment. And many people think of DDT, the persistent pesticide in effect banned in Michigan last year by the State Agriculture Department.

People figure: why not collect all the DDT in neighbors' closets and dispose of it?

The Agriculture Department and other agencies reply: "Because such a collection could be dangerous."

"While I sympathize with the organizers of pesticide collection drives," says Agriculture Director B. Dale Ball, "I have a deep concern that serious accidents may result through mass collection."

"We're talking about a lot of little cans and bottles that would be collected," explains Deputy Director John Calkins. "People don't read the fine print on the labels. Many just think in terms of pesticides or chemicals and would reach into their closets and pull out the bottle.

"Where DDT is a pretty harmless substance around human beings, it's possible to have a much more potent poison in a similar bottle — items that could be deadly.

"With school children — or adults — collecting the pesticides, there could be spillage of unknown materials, like Parathion and Guthion," he says.

If those pesticides are used "carefully and judiciously on plants or roses or whatever they're recommended for, there's very little chance for them to persist in the environment. But if you are not very careful, you could make yourself seriously ill and possibly even kill yourself."

Calkins says there are some cases on record in which those pesticides were used to murder.

So, instead of encouraging the mass collecting of DDT for disposal, the department and officials from public health, natural resources and Michigan State University have put together a list of suggestions on how individuals should dispose of DDT.

The guidelines tell homeowners that in most cases DDT products such as aerosol bombs, liquid sprays, powders and dusts should be buried away from trees and shrubs, and at least 50 feet from any well or surface water.

Holes should be deep enough so that at least three feet of dirt would cover the DDT products.

Aerosol cans should not be punctured, nor should bags and boxes be opened. Glass and metal containers, however, should be opened and put in the hole tilted down to allow drainage.

Those who had used DDT for agricultural or commercial purposes and have a larger supply on hand also should bury it.

Extra large lots, such as 30- and 55-gallon drums, should be disposed of through the State Natural Resources Department.

Zanzibar recently levied a $7,200 tax on anyone who marries an island woman and tries to take her away. The measure is designed to prevent women from leaving, as the island's last census showed more men than women.

Snoring Riddle Still Baffling

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Marcus H. Boulware of Florida State University spent more than 1,000 hours on research for a book "The Riddle of Snoring." His conclusion: about one person in eight snores, and not much can be done about it.

Boulware said 186 antisnoring devices have been registered with the U.S. Patent Office. They include a chin strap to prevent mouth breathing and ball sewn into a nightshirt to keep the subject from sleeping on his back.

But snoring still goes on. Boulware said more men tend to snore than women.

Mercury Contamination Not Restricted, Expert Claims

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. (AP)—A federal expert reported he is certain mercury contamination will be found in waters other than those of the Great Lakes basin.

Francis Mayo, midwest regional director of the Federal Water Quality Administration, told a U.S. Senate subcommittee on Effcts of Mercury on Man and the Environment that "such contamination already has been found in one feeder river of the Mississippi."

Suspect Wisconsin River

He named the Wisconsin River in central Wisconsin as the stream involved where mercury has been found.

Grat Lakes mercury contamnation has resulted in a U.S and Canadian ban on commercial fishing in lakes Erie and St. Clair and on the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers, the committee was told at its one-day hearing.

The ban resulted from mercury levels higher than .5 per million parts being found in fish caught in these waters.

Not Restricted

Mayo told the subcommittee headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., the FWQA now is testing streams and lakes nationwide for mercury and "other toxic materials from industries that could be just as dangerous as mercury."

It was in answer to a question by Hart regarding the agency's study that Mayo said: "We'll find. I'm certain, the probem is not to be restricted to the Great Lakes basin."

He told newsmen the Wisconsin River was the only one he knows of so far which had shown mercury contamination and that was downriver from a chemical plant but added he was certain it would be found elsewhere.

Chemical plants have been blamd primarily for the lake pollution but spokesmen for Dow Chemical Co. of Canada and Wyandotte Chemical Co. of Detroit testified that such pollution had been cut off from thir plants.

Pesticides Investigated

Pesticides are being investigated as a possible contributor to mercury pollution, Mayo said.

Frank Ditri, who identified himself as an assistant chemistry professor at Michigan State University, suggested there was a danger of mercury contamination in grains and vegetables as well as water. Ditri said that in some foreign countries mercury had been found in such crops as tomatos and cereal grains. His theory is that seed sterlized with mercury transfer mercury up the plant to its fruit.

Asks Pre-Marketing Test

R. W. Purdy, deputy director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, suggested pre-marketing testing of all new products—whether for use in industry or the home.

Purdy said he viewed this as an urgent need and also urged the committee to stablish a national clearing house for information, coordination of activities and alerting pollution control officials to potential problems.

Mayo said the Federal Water Quality Administration currently is taking samples for possible mercury contamination in the central basins of Lake Erie, southern Lake Huron and Saginaw Bay and from the southeastern section of Green Bay.

Mayo also told the subcommittee the highest conentration of mercury found on stream bottoms thus far had been 170 parts per million in a disharge ditch leading to Lake Erie from the Detrex Chemial plant in Ashtabula, Ohio, and 430 parts per million below the Tittabawassee outfall of the General Electric Co. plant at Edmore, Mich.

While he said chemical plants apparently were the worst offenders, he listed these as other potential soures of mercury contamination: vinyl chloride manufacturers, paper mills using mercury slimicides, felt manufacturers and mercury producers.

Other Runoffs Noted

Also implicated in merury contamination, he said, is the runoff of agricultural merury-based pesticides, antifouling paint formulations, and mercury-containing products for home use.

J.J. Lankhorst, assistant general counsel for the Army Chief of Engineers, told the committee the so-called "refuse act" of 1899 contained a section under which the Corps of Engineers could regulate not only discharges into navigable waters but the placing of material on the banks where it would be subject to washing into the water.

The Dow Chemical Co. has offered to pay for the dredging of the St. Clair River if it would help eliminate the mercury that has made fish caught in the lake unfit to eat.

Tech Planning 'Protest' Park

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — The college antiwar movement has taken what its backers feel is a responsive, constructive turn at Michigan Tech University. The protesters are building a park.

The park is shaping up adjacent to the Catholic chapel on the edge of the campus and is planned as a symbolic protest by some Tech students to the expanded American role in the war in Indochina and the killing of four Kent State students last week.

University President Raymond L. Smith and 300 cadets in the Reserve Officer Training Corp. (ROTC) program were to turn out today to continue clearing the one - acre wooded site. Some 1,000 students began the work Monday.

"We'd rather have them (ROTC cadets) working with us instead of a few of us marching on ROTC headquarters to protest," said Neil Kaiser, president of the student government.

"We wanted to do something constructive," said Kaiser, a senior from Melvindale. "All the publicity in the last few weeks has been negative."

The desire to be constructive led to the park idea. It will be dedicated later this spring after picnic tables and grills are installed. A plaque explaining the students' work will be installed.

"We wanted to impress on the public that there are young people who are against the war, but not burning down buildings," said Jerry Blackburn, a junior from Dearborn.

Birthday

Mrs. Henry Seymour will celebrate her 79th birthday on Wednesday, May 13. Her hobby is cutting rags for making carpets.

In Service

John Edward Lark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lark, 1310 12th Ave. S. has been promoted to sergeant and is serving with the Hawk Guide Missile Program in Germany. He will leave May 15 for the Island of Crete in Greece where he will undergo extensive training.

Abortion Reform Backers Foresee Possible Victory

LANSING (AP) — Backers of abortion reform legislation, defeated last week in the Michigan Senate, made a last - ditch attempt today to round up the needed votes to pass the bill.

After huddling late Monday night with a representative of Gov. William Milliken, who endorsed the bill, major proponents remained undecided about when to try for the reconsideration that had been slated for today.

"There are some votes we're not sure of," explained Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, sponsor of the bill that would allow any woman resident to obtain a legal abortion during the first 90 days of pregnancy.

The measure was defeated last Wednesday by a 17-19 vote, three short of the 20 votes needed for passage.

Briefly Told

A Science and Hobby Fair will be presented and a brief discussion will be held on the school picnic, which will be held June 7 at Pioneer Trail Park. Lunch will be served by the kindergarten room mothers, Mrs. Ed Terras and Mrs. Kenneth Couchene.

Guests in attendance at the Bay de Noc Toastmaster Club Monday evening at the Sherman Hotel were Dr. N. J. Theisen of Escanaba and Bernard Grenier, Garden. Both participated in Table Topics directed by Richard Barron. Fred Fisher gave invocation and served as master evaluator for the formal speaking program. Speeches were given by Jim Jahnke, who was evaluated by Walt Peterson. Arthur Brien was evaluated by William L. Miller and Tom DcDermott by Al Piquette. The grammarian was Ray Chase. Dick Powell served as toastmaster.

Ted Broeders, 209 N. 5th St., Wells, reported that sometime during the past three days a dark green, two man pup tent, valued at $30, was taken from his unlocked garage, according to State Police. Officers are investigating.

The Gladstone Golf Club, women's league, will play open golf Thursday, followed by dinner at the clubhouse. Reservations should be made at the club by Wednesday. The committee in charge includes: Grace Vanderhoff, Millie Stenlund and Florence Burke.

Canada Is Having Inflation Problems

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Canada, too, is having its problems with inflation, which suggests that the persistence of this malady in the United States Economy may not be solely the result of an improper approach to the problem.

Canada, however, is attacking the problem a bit more directly. Unlike the United states, where the defeat of inflation is expected to be a natural result of an economic slowdown, Canada is considering direct credit controls.

Voluntary Restraints

Moreover, the Canadian government already has developed a program of voluntary restraints on prices and wages that has met with some success during the past few months, although the exact amount cannot be measured.

Unemployment: In Canada, slightly more than 5 per cent on an annual basis. In the United States, 4.8 per cent in April and rising swiftly.

Output Advances

Industrial Output: In Canada, continuing at a slow pace but showing signs of perking up. In the United States, at a standstill or even falling back some.

Budget: Canada's is in surplus, meaning that the government is restricting economic activity. The U.S. budget also calls for a surplus, but many doubts are arising about the feasbility of this in either fiscal 1970 or 1971.

Perhaps the biggest difference is in the interpretation of economists. Many economists believe the United States is in the midst of a mild recession, based on declines in production. Canada's economy is still expanding.

Similar Problems

The two economies are suffering from such similar problems, however, that the approach to the future in one country may have lessons for the other.

In Canada, the government is considering measures that would restrain the economy even more. Higher taxes are an outside possibility for later this year if prices and wages continue to rise.

That possibility becomes less remote when the wage situation is reviewed. New wage contracts have averaged 9 per cent higher this year, threatening to put inflationary pressures beneath prices. Contract negotiations involve twice as many workers this year as last.

The biggest difference between the United States and Canadian approaches is in the attitude toward credit. The government of Prime Minister Trudeau has proposed consumer credit controls and legislation is planned for June.

Industry Did 'Its Thing' In Political Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industry has been allowed to veto prospective members of at least two major government scientific advisory committees in the past five years, Secretary Robert H. Finch of Health, Education and Welfare has acknowledged.

Involved were vetoes over positions the surgeon general's committee on smoking and health and the surgeon general's committee on behavioral effects of television violence, Finch said.

"In each case, members of the affected industries were given a long list of potential candidates for the committee and were invited to indicate any doubts they might have concerning the scientific impartiality of any of the individuals on that list," Finch said in a letter to Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont.

"When the surgeon general selected members for service on these advisory committees, he did not select individuals to whom there were objections raised by members of the industry," he wrote. "The government was looking for individuals without a previous commitment to one side of the controversy or another."

Finch said the broadcasting industry objected to seven of 40 candidates for the television-violence committee. No indication was given of the number of smoking and health panelists vetoed by cigarette manufacturers.

Antismoking forces and critics of television violence were not given similar veto powers, HEW sources said. Furthermore, Finch's April 22 letter was the first public acknowledgement of the veto practice.

"As a general rule, HEW does not provide industry with an opportunity to review nominations for membership to an advisory committee affecting that industry," Finch wrote. "Nevertheless, there have been exceptions to the general policy when it is in the public interest."

The secretary said vetoes were provided "to protect the government from the charge of establishing a biased committee."

"It was probable in each case that the report of the advisory committee would contain substantial criticism of the industry," he said.

"In addition, since protection of the First Amendment rights of the television industry is so important, it was considered essential that the government be protected from any possible charge that it was intimidating the broadcasting industry," Finch wrote.

The smoking panel reviewed some 11,000 research reports and concluded in 1964 there was a causal link between cigarettes and lung cancer. The violence committee has yet to report.

Members of the 12-man television panel include Thomas Coffin, a vice president of the National Broadcasting Co., and Joseph Klapper, a special research director for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Voters To Make Senator Choice In Two States

By The Associated Press

Voters in Nebraska and West Virginia ballot today to choose candidates for the U.S. Senate. In Newark, N.J., six candidates vie in a mayoral election that appears headed for a runoff.

Incumbent Sens. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, a Democrat, and Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, a Republican, were considered strong favorites for renominations.

Byrd, seeking a third term, was opposed by John J. McOwen, a Huntington lawyer whose only previous political try was an unsuccessful campaign in the 1950s.

There was no GOP candidate for Byrd's post. But the vacancy can be filled by action of the Republican executive committee in time for the general election.

West Virginia's five incumbent representatives—all Democrats—were seeking renomination. All but Rep. Harley O. Staggers, chairman of the House Commerce Committee, faced opposition.

In Nebraska, Hruska faced only token opposition in the GOP primary. In the Democratic race, former Gov. Frank B. Morrison faced lively competition from Wallace C. Peterson, University of Nebraska Economics Department chairman.

DOWN 320 POUNDS — Donald Kornblith, 40, Chicago, shows how his bathrobe fit him before he reduced his weight from 560 to 240 pounds. It involved a risky intestinal bypass operation plus surgical removal of 40 pounds of fat. Food now passes by only a few inches of intestinal wall so he receives little caloric effect from eating.

Mills Sticking With Liberal Trade Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A long-time supporter of the U.S. policy of seeking freer trade says mounting imports have put Congress in a mood to drastically revise that approach.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said the feeling is growing that U.S. trading partners are dragging their heels on voluntary negotiations and will be moved only by passage of quota legislation.

He spoke out as the committee opened hearings Monday on foreign trade.

Chief trade negotiator Carl J. Gilbert said the Nixon administration prefers voluntary solutions and "we believe we are making headway."

But Mills asked him if he were aware that 299 of the 430 House members have introduced quota bills of one kind or another, including 20 of the 25 Ways and Means members. Cosponsors of one textile and footwear quota bill introduced by Mills himself number 184, he said.

"I haven't changed my mind one iota about the desirability of retaining a liberal trade policy, but there is a growing feeling that our present system is not working," Mills said.

Disagreeing with Gilbert's estimate that additional relief provisions for import-harmed industries sought by the administration would calm the situation, Mills said:

"The irritations are driving us in a direction I don't like to see us go—toward protectionism, nationalism in trade."

He asked Gilbert whether there was enough in the administration measure—which would ease the standards for affording special tariff relief to hard-hit industries—to check the growth of protectionist feeling.

"I think there is enough in the bill if it is aggressively enough pursued by the administration," Gilbert said. "I think this gives the administration all the power it needs to do a good job."

Veteran Dies

LANSING (AP) — Phoebe Electa Hamilton, one of Michigan's few remaining Civil War Widows, died Monday at a nursing home in the Clare County community of Farwell. She was 94.

She was once married to William Lawrence, a Union soldier who fought in the battle of Shiloh. He died in 1920.

Women Seek Charter To Operate Bank

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Nine women who say their sex for too long has gone untrained in matters of finance are seeking a state charter to establish and operate a bank.

The First Women's Bank of Florida would be near the retirment center on the southern end of Miami Beach.

"We hope our bank would be used as a proving ground to train women to take care of their financial matters," says Mrs. Mal Englander, a 45-year-old grandmother and chairman of the board for the proposed facility.

"We realize that all women would like to predecease their husbands but the facts of life are that we don't. And whether women handle any of the financial matters or not, we would like for them to be able to face it calmly and with knowledge.

"Many women fear just the word 'bank.' We would like to make bank a household word."

In Tallahassee, state Banking Commissioner Fred O. Dickinson Jr. said the application for a charter listed capitalization of $1 million. He said the women's request would be handled routinely, with a decision later this year.

"If this application is approved," Dickinson said, "it would be to my knowledge the first such bank in the country."

Mrs. Englander, wife of a former Miami Beach city councilman, and eight other women were listed as directors.

"We've had limited banking experience," Mrs. Englander said, "but I believe you will find that most men who establish banks also did not have prior banking experience."

The directors range in age from the late 20s to the early 50s.

"We have lined up women with intensive backgrounds who will be in charge of the bank itself. All the top officers will be women," she said.

Men also will be employed by the bank, and their accounts would be welcomed, Mrs. Englander said.

Director Phyllis Cole, 32 and a divorcee, is vice president of the Florida Consumers Association, Inc.

Mrs. Cole noted that much of the wealth in the Miami Beach area is controlled by widows but she added: "Men build it up and a lot of women are bilked out of it because they find themselves in a muddle."

Mrs. Paul M. Woolford (Paul Blewett Photo)

Sandra Smith Bride Of Paul M. Woolford

Officiating at the nuptials was the Rev. Norbert Freiburger. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of 914 Sheridan Road and Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Woolford, 210 N. 13th St.

Honor attendants for the couple were Sharon Smith and Tom Woolford, both of Escanaba. Miss Smith was attired in an empire styled mint green chiffon over taffeta gown with a matching veil and she carried a bouquet of daisies and baby mums with green trim.

Lace, Sheer

A Chantilly lace petal headpiece centered with rosettes held her nylon illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of daisies, baby green mums and baby's breath. During the ceremony, the bride placed a single red rose at the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Mother's Attire

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Smith selected a mint green dress with white accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a three piece dark camel and natural knit suit with matching accessories. Both mothers were presented corsages to complete their attire.

The reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents. After a wedding trip to Wisconsin, the couple will reside at 118 S. 5th St., Wells.

The bride is a graduate of Escanaba Area High School and is presently employed at Town and Country Motors. Mr. Woolford is a graduate of Holy Name High School and is employed by the Harnischfeger Corp.

A "beau" like Brummell, in the first stare of Regency England fashion, eagerly replaced his low tricorne with the completely new, top hat. It was called sugar loaf, not in any connection with sweet taste, but because it was tall and flat-topped like the sugar of the nineteenth century. Comparison however, stopped with price. The hat was high, but in this so-called "Age of Elegance" the cost of sugar was a low 5 to 5½ pence per pound.

Fisherman Goes On Trial; Many Witnesses Called

Jury trial continued today in District Court before Judge Dean Shipman in the case of Emil D. Vetter, 35, Fairport commercial fisherman charged with operating without a proper license.

As of 11:30 this morning, Delta County Prosecuting Attorney John Beauchamp had brought five witnesses to the stand for testimony, including Leland Anderson, fish biologist at Newberry for the Department of Natural Resources; Thomas Peterson of Fayette, a fisherman; Royal Tallman of Munising, a fisherman; Jason Groll of Fayette, a logger; and Roger Tallman of Munising, a fisherman, who was excused as a witness because of a pending case in which he is charged with failing to exhibit a commercial fishing license on demand of officers and violation of commercial fishing license provisions.

Seven other witnesses were also excused by Judge Shipman when court convened this morning.

The trial stems from an incident which occurred on Tuesday, March 31, when Department of Natural Resources officers allegedly were obstructed in the performance of their duties at the commercial fish dock in Fairport.

Vetter pleaded innocent to the charge in District Court on Friday, April 3, and was released on $100 personal recognizance bond to appear for trial.

Beauchamp had 11 witnesses testify on behalf of the prosecution Monday after a jury of four women and two men had been selected in the morning session.

Beauchamp called Ned Vogel, who is from the commercial fish division of the Department of Natural Resources, and John Snyder, the piolt of the plane that surveyed the area on the day of the incident, in the morning.

After the trial reconvened Monday afternoon, Beauchamp brought to the stand Albert Livington, the regional firs chief for the Department of Natural Resources who was a passenger in the plan flown by Snyder, Michael DeVet, Hector Peterson, Wayne Season, Roland Gauthier, William Ward, Pat Casey, Norman Casey and Leslie DeVet, all commercial fisherman from Fairport.

John Berish, Jack Beecher, Evelyn Savard, Elaine Pepin, Lois Berg and Agnes Baribeau were selected to the jury for the trial.

Fishermen Pay For Violations

Officers of the Department of Natural Resources report the arrest of seven persons for violation of Michigan fish laws and one person for a boating violation.

Robert W. Merhalski and Phillip R. Gehlhoff, both of Florence Wis., were arrested in Delta County on April 24 for taking of fish without a license, Both plead guilty at their arraignment on May 5 in District Court, and were each ordered by Judge Dean Shipman, to pay fines of $5 and $9 court costs.

Phillip I Hiney, 307 1st Ave. S., Escanaba, Thomas C. Blesch, Sturgis, Mich., and Albert Laaksonen Kalamazoo, Mich., were arrested in Alger County on May 1 for taking, or aiding and abetting in the taking, of rainbow trout by use of a hand landing net, from the Mosquito River.

They were arraigned before Magistrate Cliff Liberty in Munising, and each paid fines of $25, court costs of $16, and $15 for liquidating damages.

David J. Brock, and Richard R. Burke, both of Munising, were arrested in Alger County on May 9 for attempting to take fish by use of a spear, from waters closed to spearing.

They were arraigned before Magistrate Cliff Liberty in Munising and both paid fines of $25 and court costs of $13.

George A. Johnson, 820½ Delta Ave., Gladstone, was arrested in Delta County on April 28, for operating an unregistered motor boat.

He was arraigned before Judge Dean Shipman on May 1 and ordered to pay $6 court costs.

Alf Johnson Taken By Death

Alf Johnson, 48, of 15558 Dixie, Detroit died May 9 at the Veteran's Hospital in Allen Park.

He was born Nov. 25, 1921 in Ogama, Wis., and was employed as a machine operator for the Ford Motor Co. He was a member of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church of Detroit and was a veteran of World War II..

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. John V. Johnson; two sisters, Mrs. Leander (Ingrid) Johnson of Livonia and Mrs. Arvid (Mildred) Johnson; two nieces, four nephews and two grandnephews.

Friends may call at the Anderson-Johns Funeral Home from 4 to 9 p.m. Friday and funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the funeral home chapel with the Rev. Reuben Carlson officiating. Burial will be in Fernwood Cemetery.

MSEA Dinner Well Attended

Approximately 70 persons turned out to hear John Visser, state president of the Michigan State Employes Association, speak at the MSEA's Chapter 58 dinner held Monday evening at the Dells Supper Club.

Other honored guests at the dinner were John Doyle, executive secretary of MSEA; Richard Maki, regional director and Keith White, regional director Richard Harris is the Chapter 58 president.

Visser began the annual presidential tour of the Upper Peninsula with his visit to Escanaba Monday night. He spoke on the growing restlessness on the part of public employes and that all problems can be solved by "bzrain power" instead of "brute power."

Visser defined "brain power" as "where one can, through sheer intellectual compelence, move strategically to remove the inequities in civil service to affect the changes needed and wanted."

He also told those attending that they must always act responsibily. "Strong and vigorous, yes, but always responsibly."

Doyle brought out that when MSEA started approximately 20 years ago it had nothing, but now it is the prodominant force among the employes of the State of Michigan.

Hospital Clinic Program Set For Escanaba May 19

Upper Peninsula physicians with patients facing special problems in obstetrics, gynecology, internal medicine, and surgery will have the advice of four medical school professors at six hospital clinic programs May 18-19-20.

The clinics, arranged by the Michigan State Medical Society and the component medical societies in the Upper Peninsula, will be held at Escanaba, Houghton, Iron Mountain, Ironwood, Menominee and Sault Ste. Marie. Discussions are underway already for a possible series of fall clinics to include Marquette adn other possible communities.

"Two teams of medical school professors will crisscross the Upper Peninsula to help physicians to better serve their patients," reports Harry A. Towsley, M.D., chairman of the medical society continuing medical education committee. Sault Ste. Marie, Escanaba and Menominee will have one set of clinics; and Houghton, Ironwood, and Iron Mountain will have another.

Coming to Sault St. Marie May 18, Escanaba May 19 and Menominee May 20 will be physicians specializing in obstetrics and gynecology and in drug abuse. The professors — Edwin P. Peterson, M.D., and Henry H. Swain, M.D., both of the University of Michigan — will confer in the afternoon at hospital clinics with physicians on their specialties.

Local physicians will prepare special reports about problem cases they have, will show X-rays and lab reports, and likely will introduce their patients with the patients' permission. The symptoms and treatment will be discussed and advice given by the visiting experts.

In the six Upper Peninsula communities, the visiting medical school professors will stay on after the afternoon hospital clinics to present short lectures at the evening meetings of the six county and district medical societies.

Coordinating this continuing medical education program for the Michigan State Medical Society are J. Robert Franck, M.D., Wakefield; William A. LeMire, M.D., Escanaba, and John R. Heidenreich, M.D., Daggett.

Attain $15,000 For Rest Center

The $15,000 goal set by the City of Escanaba for the downtown rest facility has been reached, Manager Walter Lewke told members of the Board of Directors of the Escanaba Area Chamber of Commerce Monday at the Chamber building.

The City is asking those merchants who have not contributed to do so because of unforeseen expenses which have arisen and the cost estimates will exceed the $15,000 projected, Lewke added.

The Board recommended that the Chamber follow up on the suspected pollution of Little Bay de Noc by cargo vessels and pleasure craft. The Board further recommended that contacts be made with shippers to see what precautions are being used to prevent water pollution.

The Board of Directors approved memberships in the Chamber for American Cyanamid Company, assigned to Charles Burke, manager; Delona Restaurant, assigned to Frank Muse; and Dr. N. J. Theisen.

The Board heard a report of promotions scheduled by the Retail Division of the Chamber, Mrs. Angeline Hakes, chairman. A Lucky Number promotion is being advertised today for Wednesday shoppers; a Flea Circus chairmaned by Robert Shrader and Nicky Traverse for June and the annual Sidewalk Day scheduled for July.

The Tourism Committee, Fred Sayklly, chairman, will meet Tuesday, May 19 at the Chamber building to discuss the program of park activities such as log rolling, an archery tournament, etc.

The Board commended the committee in charge of Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up activities May 3—9 and for its diligence in calling the attention of the public to the desirability of cleaning up premises prior to the tourist season. They also expressed their appreciation to Boy Scouts who distributed plastic garbage bags to households in Escanaba. Gordon Anderson is chairman of the committee.

Co-Chairmen Dick Marenger and George Bathke reported that there would be a Garden Peninsula tour of a cattle operation and a new type bean growing process on Saturday, August 1, and extended an invitation to Board members as well as all members of the Chamber to join the tour. A dutch treat luncheon will be served by the Fayette 4-H group at noon, and if time permits, a tour will be conducted of the newest renovations at the Fayette State Park.

Bathke and Marenger also reported that the businessmen-farmers picnic will be held Sunday, August 9 from 1-4 p.m. at the youth building in the U. P. State Fair Grounds. President Thomas Straebel recommended that Board members and their wives, and the general membership of the Chamber attend the picnic with their wives, citing this as an excellent opportunity to become better acquainted with the rural community.

The Delta County Agricultural Booster Association has awarded two full scholarships to Christine Lancour, R. 1, Gladstone, graduating from Holy Name High School, and to Richard Lester, Garden, graduating from Big Bay de Noc High School, Bathke and Marenger, co-chairmen, also reported.

Schedule Armory Groundbreaking

Ground breaking ceremony for a new National Guard armory building at Gladstone is scheduled to be held 2 p.m. Thursday at the site south of the Athletic Field overlooking the bay.

Capt. Stephen Fraddo, commanding officer of Company C, 107th Engineers, today announced plans for the event that will mark start of construction of the armory.

Present for the ceremony will be Gen. Carson Niefert, Lansing, head of the Department of Military Affairs, and Col. Arthur Phillips of the engineering department of the Department of Military Affairs. Members of the Board of Military Affairs are also to be in attendance.

Representatives of Battalion Headquarters, 107th Engineers, Ishpeming, will be present, as will members of the Gladstone Armory Committee and members of the Gladstone City Commission.

The public is invited to join in the ceremonies that will mark culmination of years of planning and effort to bring the armory project to realization.

Field Leaders May Ask More Cleanup Time

Counter Action Feared

What worries some authorities here, however, is the possibility that North Vietnam may yet undertake some kind of counter action such as a political-military offensive against the present Cambodian government or a counterattack on allied forces.

This would confront Nixon and his military chiefs with a new situation—for which he already has closed his apparent options.

But officials also say the storm of opposition stirred up by his decision to send troops into Cambodia in the first place made it impossible for him to speak ambiguously about the limit of the assault.

Limitation Noted

Officials say that distance from the South Vietnamese border was picked because intelligence reports showed no important enemy bases beyond that line.

But one significant target is now said to be beyond the 21.7-mile limit, according to reports reaching Washington—the mobile command headquarters for the enemy military forces in South Vietnam.

Known as the Central Office for South Vietnam, or COSVN, this command unit is said by Washington authorities to consist of a fleet of radio communication trucks and jeeps, and command and staff transport rather than a fixed installation with buildings and bunkers.

Headquarters Target

When President Nixon announced April 30 that U.S. and South Vietnam forces were going after the sanctuaries, he said they "will attack the headquarters for the entire Communist military operation in South Vietnam"—wording suggesting a strongly held strategic center of critical importance.

Now, however, informants report that COSVN with its high level offices and communications equipment fled before the advancing allies. Furthermore, according to the best information available here, its transmitters have not been heard by U.S. monitoring stations since May 1.

Plan Downgraded

One assumption is the enemy command went into radio silence to prevent the allies from getting a position fix.

At the same time, its importance as a target for attack has been downgraded privately by officials.

Probe Continues In Reuther Crash

copilot, Joseph Karaffa, 41, both of Columbua, Ohio.

The UAW chartered the Lear Jet to fly from Detroit to Pellston, near where the union is constructing a family education center.

Contacted at Pellston, Abbott said the tests on the engines were being made as part of standard procedures. However, airport manager Clarence Tatro said it appeared to be the major activity being studied by investigators.

Outer Shell Burned

Tatro said the outer shell of the engines were burned, but the "rest of the engines were in pretty good shape."

Abbott said small parts of colored plexiglass from a plane's position lights and broken branches were found in the heavily forested area three-fourth of a mile from the crash.

However, airmen from Kincheloe Air Force base near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., scoured the area Monday between the apparent initial contact with the trees and the crash site without finding any additional objects.

To Plot Projected Path

A Coast Guard helicopter will be used today to plot the projected path of the plane.

Abbott said the pilot last made radio contact with the flight service at Pellston, at 9:25 p.m., when he was given the weather report, which included light rain. It crashed seven minutes later.

The plane was circling the airport for an approach to land from the northeast when it plummeted to the ground and exploded.

Funeral Held

Pioneers 4-H Plans Meeting

The Gladstone Pioneer 4-H Club will hold its first business meeting for the summer work on Thursday at 7:00 p.m. at the city hall.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Howard Sigan, the Community Beautification group plans to undertake painting more refuse barrels to be placed around the schools. The group will again maintain a flower bed on the Island in Van Cleve Park.

Mrs. Don DeKeyser, Mrs. Edward Thompson, Mrs. Duane Christiansen and Mrs. Art Meyer have planned several field trips for bird, forest, wildflower and outdoor meals members.

Lynne Madden, Colleen Closs, Jane Van Horn and Sharon Christiansen will lead the photography, crafts and recreation projects with the assistance of apprentice leaders.

The club held a bake sale at Butch's Hardware and the proceeds, $28.00 were donated to the community pram project.

All members are asked to attend this meeting. Election of officers will be held and the treasurer will collect the enrollment fee from the members at this time. Kathy Madden and Mary Jo DeKeyser will speak and show slides on their recent award trips to Washington, D.C.

DNR Schedules State Hearing

LANSING (AP) — The Department of Natural Resources will conduct a public hearing Friday in Petoskey to hear testimony on its policy regarding leasing of state oil and gas rights.

The hearing will be in the junior high school auditorium, which seats about 1,000 persons.

The Legislature called on the department in March to postpone further sales of oil and gas lease rights until a public hearing could be held. The department then postponed a March 18 auction at which it had planned to sell rights on more than 79,000 acres.

Gwinn Triumphs In Track Meet

GWINN — The Gwinn Model Towners, using strong second and third place finishes, defeated the Holy Name Crusaders and the Gladstone Braves in a triangular meet here Monday afternoon.

Gwinn finished with 68 points, while Holy Name tallied 55 and Gladstone finished with 30. The first place finishes were almost even as Holy Name and Gwinn both collected firsts in six events, while Gladstone cashed in on two first places.

Jim Dubord paced the Crusaders again by posting a double victory in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, winning the 100 in :10.6 seconds and the 220 in :22.9 seconds. His 220 victory was his best time this season.

Other first place finishers for the Crusaders were Dan Young in the shot put with one of his better heaves of the year throwing the iron 50 feet 8 inches, Bob McGinn in the 880 with a time of 2:04.9, Paul Guenette in the two-mile run in a time of 10:21.9 and Noel Gannon in the mile run.

Gwinn gained most of it's first place finishes with one boy doing most of the work. Mike Hatfield captured a triple victory taking the long jump with a leap of 21' 2½", winning the pole vault and the 440 yard dash.

Gladstone had only two first place finishes in the meet with Bib Young posting a double victory for the Braves in both the high and low hurdles. Young won the highs in 16.75 seconds and the lows in 22.2 seconds.

The Braves were without some of their place winners, due to the Senior Day activities in Gladstone.

Trading Begins In NBA League

NEW YORK (AP) — The trading began in the National Basketball Association almost before the league's fourth expansion draft in five years had ended.

More deals were in the offing today as the New York Knicks, newly crowned NBA champions, still wondered how they escaped Monday's selections by Buffalo, Portland and Cleveland without losing the key players.

The runnerup Los Angeles Lakers weren't so fortunate, however. The Lakers unexpectedly left rookie guard Dick Garrett, a starter, unprotected. Buffalo quickly grabbed him.

"I was really surprised to see him available," said Eddie Donovan, Buffalo's general manager. "He's a young player and I thought he had done well for the season and in the playoffs."

Bufffaflo also selected veteran Bailey Howell from the Boston Celtics. Howell was then dealt to Philadelphia for forward Bob Kauffman and a future draft choice or a player to be named later.

Another Boston veteran, Larry Siegfried, was one of the Portland's top picks and the Trail Blazers promptly traded him to San Diego for guard Jim Barnett.

The Knicks, Lakers, Boston, Chicago and San Diego each lost three players, the other established clubs two apiece.

Buffalo appears to have the makings of a fine backcourt. In addition to Garrett, the Braves have Mike Davis, another rookie obtained earlier in a trade from Baltimore, calong with Herm Gilliam, Fred Crawford and Em Bryant.

Mountaineers Defeat Eskymos

The results were as follows:

Singles - Jere Grams (IM) defeated Bill Johnson (E) 6-1, 6-4; Brian Alquist (IM) defeated Baxter Mitchell (E) 6-3, 6-2; Tim Clement (IM) defeated Fred Mitchell (E) 6-3, and 6-0.

Doubles - Steve Henslee and Steve Vanlerberghe (E) lost to Nick Simone and Mike Laldon (IM) 2-6, 8-6, 6-0; Bob Ihlenfeldt and Bill Davis (E) lost to Dave Nelson and Mike McGuire (IM) 6-3, 6-2; Jon Krohmer and Mark Setterlind (E) lost to Brian Bongi and Bruce Dishnon (IM) 6-3 and 6-1.

McGinn Surprises Mets With Top Performance

By The Associated Press

Dan McGinn was Montreal Manager Gene Mauch's idea of a surprise but the Expos' reliever, making his annual start, astonished the New York Mets and turned out to be quite a stopper, too.

The hard-throwing southpaw, making his 100th major league appearance, but only his second start—he started once last year—tossed a brilliant three-hitter in blanking the Mets 3-0 Monday night.

In the process the 26-year-old ex-Notre Dame footballer snapped Cy Young Award winner Tom Seaver's regular-season winning streak at 16 and temporarily put the skids to the Expos' slide in which Montreal has won only three of its last nine games.

In other National League action, Atlanta nipped Chicago 7-6 in 10 innings, Pittsburgh whipped Cincinnati 4-1, St. Louis zipped Philadelphia 3-0 and in 14 innings San Francisco downed San Diego 6-5.

Psyched Up

McGinn, a 6-foot, 190-pounder, who appeared in 74 games last year with the Expos and had a 7-10 mark, made his 12th appearance this year and upped his record to 2-1 with his first major league complete game.

"All I heard all day was 'You're going against Seaver'. I guess I was psyched up. Pitching against a guy like that can do it," McGinn said.

Atlanta topped the Cubs on Hank Aaron's 10th-inning homer, helping the Braves to their 12th triumph in 13 games. It was Aaron's fifth homer in six games and his 14th of the season. The winning homer left Aaron five hits shy of the 3,000 milestone.

Rico Carty, the Braves' left fielder, extended his hitting string to 29 straight games with a run-scoring single in the seventh before Johnny Callison tied it for the Cubs at 6-6 with a two-run homer in the bottom half. The Cubs, still atop the NL East with a 2½ game edge, dropped their eighth game in 10 starts.

Left-hander Bob Veale scattered three hits and retired 19 consecutive Reds in one stretch, striking out nine, as the Pirates' Bill Mazeroski doubled home the decisive run in the fifth inning. Willie Stargell had a solo homer and Rich Hebner added three hits for Pittsburgh.

Allen Homers

The Cards got a three-run homer from Richie Allen in the ninth inning, backing the four-hit pitching off Steve Carlton and breaking up a pitching duel with the Phils' Jim Bunning.

First baseman Nate Colbert booted pinch hitter Bob Burda's bases-loade bouncer in the 14th inning, enabled Giants' starter Gaylord Perry, who went 13 innings to even his record at 4-4. Gary Ross, 1-3, San Diego's fifth pitcher, took the lossm

Dick Dietz had cracked a run-scoring single and Hal Lanier followed with a two-run hit, putting the Giants in front 5-2 in the ninth but the Padres came right back in the bottom half to tie it off Perry, who allowed 10 hits and struck out 12.

White Sox Run, Clobber Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — A teenage girl jumped into the Detroit Tiger dugout at Monday night's game and was promptly escorted away by an usher.

Maybe that usher shouldn't have been so efficient. Tiger manager Mayo Smith pondered the incident later and said with a laugh: "Damn it. She might have had a pitching job. I'd have sent her in there."

She couldn't have done much worse that Detroit's pitching staff, which continued to falter as the Tigers were crushed by Chicago 9-5 for their eighth loss in the last 11 games.

Detroit, which is in second place but 5½ games behind Baltimore in the American League East, was scheduled to meet the White Sox again tonight. Les Cain, 1-1, was expected to pitch against Chicago rookie Jerry Janeski, 2-2.

Pitching Collapses

Tiger pitchers have given up 50 runs in the last seven games—a seven-a-game average.

"We'll just have to weather it through," Smith said in a more serious vein. "These fellas are making bad pitches, their control is off—it's a lot of things."

He wouldn't elaborate on any plans to alleviate the situation, such as calling up someone from Detroit's Toledo farm club or trading for a top relief pitcher.

All he would say was: "We're working on a lot of things."

During the current Tiger sag the hitters have continued to clobber the ball, but to no avail. Both starting and relieving pitchers have been hit hard.

"Sure it can be discouraging (for the hitters)," Smith said, anxious to leave the dressing room. "But it's been the other way around before, with the pitchers doing well and the rest of the players not coming through. We're still a team, you know."

Niekro Beaten

Syd O'Brien and Ed Herrmann each drove in three runs for Chicago, which collected 14 hits off six pitchers. The White Sox drove starter Joe Niekro, now 3-3, from the mound with a four-run outburst in the third.

Herrmann homered in the inning, driving in two runs, then ngled home another in the fifth.

The White Sox tagged Fred Scherman for two runs in the fifth and Mike Kilkenny for three more in the seventh.

O'Brien's first RBI came on a sacrifice fly in the third, then he socked a bases-loaded single in the seventh for two more runs.

Detroit tallied three runs off starter Billy Wynne in the third, with Dalton Jones, Al Kaline and Willie Horton each knocking in a run. In the sixth, the Tigers got back-to-back homers from Jim Northrup and Bill Freehan off Jerry Crider, 1-0, who won only his second major league game.

Luis Aparicio also homered for Chicago.

"I have the same woes," said White Sox manager Don Gutteridge to a writer regarding Detroit's pitching problems. "If you find out what Mayo plans to do let me know."

It was in the eighth inning the girl, who appeared to be about 17, jumped off the deck of the dugout and went inside.

"I didn't ask her what she wanted," Mayo shurgged. "I was so mad then I didn't hear her anyway."

Brewers' Boss Foaming Over Tie With Yankees

By The Associated Press

The crevices in Milwaukee's infield have left Dave Bristol fit to be tied.

The Milwaukee ninth inning fielding lapses and a rainstorm combined to interrupt the Brewers' five-game winning streak as the New York Yankees came from behind to earn a 5-5 standoff.

In the only other game on the American League schedule, California nipped Boston 2-1 in 16 innings despite a record-tying strikeout string by Red Sox' starter Ray Culp, and Chicago defeated Detroit 9-5.

The Brewers blew a 5-2 lead in the ninth, with second baseman John Kennedy and third baseman Tommy Harper committing costly errors, before the game was halted by the rain. It will be replayed in full as part of a doubleheader.

"We made a lot of mistakes," said Brewers' pilot Bristol. "You can't give a team a fourth, fifth and sixth out in an inning and win.

"But any day that you're alive and healthy isn't wasted."

Pitcher Bob Bolin's home run helped the Brewers build their commanding lead against Mel Stottlemyre, but Kennedy's throwing error and Harper's boot handed the Yanks three unearned runs in the ninth.

The Angels snapped a 1-1 tie in the 16th when Jarvis Tatum doubled, took third on a fly out and scored on Sandy Alomar's fourth hit—a blooper over the drawn-in Boston infield.

Culp struck out the first six California batters he faced, tying the modern major league mark set by Detroit's John Hiller two years ago. The all-time record of nine straight strikeouts at the start of a game was established in 1884 by the New York Giants' Michael Welch.

The Red Sox led 1-0 and Culp was working on a three-hitter in the eighth, when Tom Egan's single, a sacrifice and infield hits by Alomar and pinch hitter Billy Cowan knotted it.

Eskymos Post 18 Hole Win

The Escanaba Eskymos playing in their first 18 hole golf match of the season defeated the Marinette Marines 953-984 Monday afternoon at the Escanaba Country Club.

Randy Eis of Escanaba and Dale Pogrant of Marinette were the medalists for the match with 82's.

The Results:

Escanaba - Steve Ohman 89, Randy Eis 82, Tom Shaw 104, Ken Peterson 91, Terry Mulvaney 92, Allen Hendrickson 108, Jerry Erickson 95, Gene Olsen 92, Steve Cerasoli 102 and Steve Van Effen 98.

Marinette - Rettke 94, Landenberger 100, Pogrant 82, Shepro 102, Johnson 87, Miller 106, Fronsee 96, Christian 103, Pedersen 106 and Bannow 108.

Softball Game

The Michigan Hotel and Flat Rock softball teams will play a practice game tonight at 6:30 p.m. at the Webster diamond.

West Iron Tops HN Net Squad

West Iron County handed Escanaba Holy Name a 5-3 defeat on the Escanaba tennis courts Monday in a dual match.

Joe Joran and Dennis Ryan copped wins for the Crusaders in the singles while Brian Larche teamed up with Mike Daily to win the final test in the doubles.

The summary:

Brian Larche-Mike Dailey (HN) defeated Peter Gasperini-Rick Scalcucci (WI) 6-3, 6-4.

HN Golfers Cop 8th Win

Escanaba Holy Name's golf squad kept its record unblemished for the season Monday as they measured Gladstone High, 376 to 411 on the Gladstone Golf Club course.

Mike Douglas and Brian Douglas tied for medalist honors, both shooting 42s to lead the Crusaders to their eighth straight win on the greens this spring.

John Krout was low for Gladstone with a respectable 43.

Other scores:

Holy Name - Bob Kleiman 44; Pat Manning 45; Don LeMire 45; Steve Kleiman 49; Dave Fassbender 53 and Ron DeGrand 56.

Man, 48, Hospitalized After Gun Accident

Karl Krumrey, 48, Rte. 1, was admitted to the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Sunday night for treatment of an accidental gunshot wound, state police report.

Krumrey was cleaning a small automatic pistol at his home and reloaded the gun, troopers said, when a malfunction caused the weapon to fire. The accident happened about 7:45 p.m. He sustained minor injuries.

Jerry Kokesh, 21, Winnebago, Wis., was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law after his auto went out of control and rolled over on U.S. 2, Doyle Township, at 12:50 Saturday morning. Kokesh was not injured, state police said.

Leonard Gould, 36, Rte. 1, suffered minor injuries but sought his own treatment after his automobile ran off the road and struck a tree at 8:25 Saturday night. The mishap occurred at the M-94 and an unnamed county road junction in Hiawatha Township. Gould was cited for careless driving by troopers who investigated the accident.

Frank Hentschell, 18, 321 Lake St., lost control of his motorcycle and struck a tree at the intersection of County Roads 440-441 Saturday night at 11:55, state police said. Hentschell received emergency treatment at the hospital for minor cuts and bruises.

Two More File For Seats On School Board

Two more candidates have declared for the two open seats on the Manistique Area board of education — thus giving voters a choice of five candidates in the June 8 school election.

Nominating petitions have been filed by David M. Kelly and Ronald Morton who join previously announced candidates Mrs. Margaret Waters, Denton Nelson and Boyd Briggs. Mrs. Waters and Nelson are incumbent candidates for the four year terms on the board.

Kelly, a native of Allen Park, is owner-manager of Radio Station WTIQ. He has been a Manistique resident since 1964 when he and the late Edmund Selleck began the broadcasting service. Kelly purchased his partner's interest last October, shortly after returning to Manistique from Eau Claire, Wis. where he spent six months with Post Corporation's WEAU-TV and WAXX radio.

Prior to coming to Manistique he was part owner and manager of WLIN radio in Detroit.

Kelly served two terms as president of the Manistique Area Chamber of Commerce, is a former member of the Community School Advisory Board and a Rotarian. He and his wife, Sharon, and two daughters, Kerry and Kristine, live on Glenwood Dr. in Manistique Township.

Morton, who lives with his wife and two children at 212 N. First St., is a papermaker at the Manistique Pulp and Paper Company. He came to Manistique in 1937, graduated from Manistique High School in 1950 and attended Central Michigan University.

He is past president of the Lincoln School PTA, former member of the Community School Advisory Board, and has been active as a Little League manager. He is also a U.S. Army veteran.

Hospital

Discharged were Leonine Hull, Norma Cooper, Patricia Springall and baby, Juanita Jacobs and baby, James Harvey, Karl Krepps and Elmer Hamill.

Ex-Manistique Resident Wins $10,000 Bond

A former resident, Gerald B. Guertin, has been awarded $10,000 in U.S. Savings Bonds by General Motors Corporation for his idea of eliminating a die trim operation on automobile hood panels at the Chevrolet Metal Fabricating Plant in Flint. Guertin received the maximum amount under the GM Suggestion Plan.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Guertin of Garden is a die maker apprentice at the Flint plant. He graduated from the Cooks High School and attended Northern Michigan University. He was employed by the Inland Lime and Stone Company and the Schoolcraft County Road Commission before moving to Flint.

Guertin's suggestion was to eliminate the second trim stage on a die trimming operation on a hood panel. The trimming is now accomplished by a modification in the first trim stage and has resulted in increased production.

He is married to the former Myrna Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schneider, 104 S. Fourth St., and they are the parents of six children.

Births

ROCHEFORT — Mr. and Mrs. Brent Rochefort, Garden, are the parents of a daughter born Saturday, May 9, at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. The infant weighed six pounds. Mrs. Rochefort is the former Yvonne Gouin.

LAVERTY — A daughter, weighing eight pounds and fourteen ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Laverty, Curtis, on Saturday, May 9, at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. The mother is the former Patricia Chisholm.

ALLEN — Mr. and Mrs. Morrie Allen, Engadine, are the parents of a daughter, weighing seven pounds and three ounces, born Saturday, May 9, at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Allen is the former Phyllis Traver.

JENSEN — A daughter, weighing seven pounds and eleven and three quarter ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jensen, 511 Arbutus Ave., Sunday, May 10, at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Jensen is the former Arleen Kennedy.

Briefly Told

Wednesday's hot lunch menu in the Manistique Area Schools will include vegetable beef soup, homemade pan rolls, fruit and beverage.

County treasurer William Cowman reports that 57 parcels were sold in the May Delinquent Tax Sale for a total of $1,464.31. Last year 57 parcels were also sold for a total of $1,466.87. The lands sold have been owing taxes since 1967.

Obituary

ALVIN G. ROBINSON

Complete funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday from the Messier-Broullire Funeral Home for Alvin G. Robinson, 77, 129 N. Third St., who died May 7 in the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Rev. Robert Haring, pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church, officiated at the rites with Mrs. Roy LaMarche at the organ. Burial followed in the Veteran's Section of the Fairview Cemetery.

Garden Peninsula

Mrs. Anna Casey of Fairport is a surgical patient at St. Francis Hospital, Escanaba.

Frank Thill of Fayette is a patient at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital, Manistique.

Mrs. Elsie Haas, former Garden resident, is a surgical patient at University Hospital, Station 57, Minneapolis, Minn.

Mrs. Edward LeMarbe is a patient at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital in Manistique.

Home Ec. Club

The Kates Bay Home Ec. Club met at the Gerald Willet home at Garden Corners Thursday evening, May 7. During the business meeting plans were made for the annual outing. The social portion of the evening included a welcome back for Mrs. Fred (Peggy) Sharp. Mr. and Mrs. Sharp of Rockford, Ill., have arrived to spend the summer in their summer home in Kates Bay. The next meeting will be held at the Walter DeGroot home on Thursday, May 21.

Card of Thanks

Nault

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends, neighbors and relatives who by their acts of kindness in the recent death of our father, grandfather and great-grandfather, Philip Nault, helped to lighten our burden of sorrow. A special thanks to the Doctors and Nurses of St. Joseph Lloyd Hospital, Menominee for their wonderful care, to Rev. Father Lester Bourgeois for his comforting words, to those who sent floral and spiritual bouquets, the singing of the choir, the donation of food, to the pallbearers, those who offered and drove cars, the Boyle Funeral Chapel, the ladies who served the lunch and to all who helped in any way. Your kindness will always be held in grateful remembrance.

The Family Of Philip Nault

In Memoriam

Berish

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Nick Berish, who passed away 23 years ago today, May 12, 1947.

Life does not seem the same
Since you were called away.
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
Our hearts still ache with pain.
Our eyes shed many a tear,
God only knows how we miss you
At the end of these sad years.
Time cannot heal our aching hearts,
Nor from our memory tear
The form and face we loved so well.
Will dwell forever there.
Only those who lost can etll,
Of the grief that is born in silence,
For the one we loved so well
You are not forgotten Mother dear,
Nor will you ever be
While life and memory last,
We will remember thee.
And we often speak of you.
And how happy we would be,
If you were with us too.

Sadly Missed By Husband And Children

VanHarpen

In loving memory of our beloved mother, Azma Davis VanHarpen who passed away one year ago today, May 12, 1969.

She bade no one a last farewell,
She said goodbye to none.
The heavenly gates were opened,
A loving voice said "Come".
We often sit and think of you,
The things you used to say,
We wonder why you had to die,
Without a chance to say goodbye.
More and more each day we miss you,
Some may think the wound has healed;
But little do they know the sorrow,
That is within our hearts concealed.

Sadly Missed and Forever loved by Her Family

Off-Road Racing

OWOSSO (AP)— Off-road racing, which has become a growing popular sport on the West Coast, comes to the Midwest for the first time with the announcement this week of three race dates this month for Owosso Speedway.

The speedway has reached agreement with two off-road racing associations to hold races May 9, 16 and 20. The organizations are the Midwest Off-Road Enthusiasts and the American Rough Terrain Racing Association.

Dune buggies and mini-stockers will race on a rough terrain course developed within the boundaries of Owosso Speedway. The course will include jumps, water holes and other man-made obstacles.

Entrants are expected from Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Pennsylvania.
